Annual Outing Held At Canton

30,000 At Potters Picnic

Approximately 30,000 attended the 41st annual Potters Picnic Saturday at Meyers Lake Park in Canton.

Highlighting the festivities were the annual baby contest in which more than 300 participated, the junior bathing beauty contest, with some 450 entrants, and a massive "penny scramble."

The oldest potter in attendance was Ray Robb, 97, of Sebring. He has held the title for the last five years, officials said. He was formerly with the French Saxon China Co. of Sebring, being a decorating kilnhand for 67 years.

International Brotherhood of Operative Potters officials said the winners of various prizes will be notified by mail.

In New York Primary

Lindsay Must Overcome Tough Conservative Bid

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay must overcome a stiff conservative challenge Tuesday for the Republican nomination for a second term and the right to meet the winner of a five-man Democratic race.

An expected light voter turnout, Lindsay's style and incalculable resentment of four years of inflation and racial tension may provide the keys to the primaries.

There are 628,000 registered Republicans and 2.1 million Democrats, but primaries generally attract less than 30 per cent of the eligible voters.

Lindsay must appeal in the primary to Republicans more conservative than the Liberals and Democrats he must attract to win in the general election in November. He has relied on his personal image and tried not to discuss specific issues.

His opponent, state Sen. John J. Marchi of Staten Island, has tried to capitalize on anti-Lindsay sentiment. Many voters say they like Lindsay as a person but are unhappy with his record as mayor.

Both men will appear on the November ballot, Lindsay with Liberal party backing and Marchi with the Conservative party nomination.

The two men clashed Sunday in a television debate on the state's role in city financing.

Lindsay said New York City is shortchanged by the legislature in Albany, where Marchi heads the Senate Committee on New York City.

Marchi replied, "I think that Mayor Lindsay is attacking Gov. Rockefeller through me. I don't know whether the mayor is looking to November as a springboard to Albany next year or not."

Rockefeller has contributed $18,000 to Lindsay's campaign but has promised to back in the election campaign the winner of the primary. Lindsay has the endorsement of Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Charles Goodell, while Marchi is backed by more conservative state legislators, who Lindsay has termed the 'upstate clique."

The Democratic race pits three liberals and a "law and order" candidate against former Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who retired in 1965 after three four-year terms.

City Comptroller Mario A. Procaccino has taken a strong stand for law and order. He went to court to force City College to reopen during student disorders. Wagner has relied on nostalgia, a safe streets campaign and his good relations with unions, one of Lindsay's sore spots.

The third Democratic frontrunner, Bronx Borough President Herman Badillo, has charged Procaccino and Wagner with playing on racial fears. A native of Puerto Rico, he has tried to form an alliance of blacks, Puerto Ricans and progressives.

Norman Mailer, the Pulitzer Prize-winning author, has captured peoples' fancy with his proposal for New York City to become the 51st state. But whether he can capture their votes with his unconventional approach remains unclear.

Rep. James H. Scheuer, a wealthy Bronx congressman with a liberal record, has had trouble making inroads outside his home turf.

HERSHEY, Pa. — Miss Pennsylvania 1969, chosen here over the weekend, looks and sounds as fresh and innocent as the York County countryside she calls home.

"I enjoy sewing, singing and cooking," said Miss York County, 18-year-old Trudy Lee Pedersen after winning the state crown Saturday night.

"And I collect demitasse spoons from all over the United States," she said as the tears, which began when she was named winner, continued to stream down her face.

The 5-foot-5 brown-eyed brunette with a peaches-and-cream complexion, won the pageant over 23 other contestants from all parts of the state. For her talent offering,

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A 17-year-old was arrsted by San Antonio police for seven outstanding warrants for traffic tickets.

As the father walked in the door of the Warrant Bureau and identified himself, police arrested him. He had seven outstanding traffic warrants for tickets he never paid.

Both father and son were released after posting bond.

Enlistment Bonus Eyed By Military

Ways Are Studied For Cutting Down Reliance On Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lump sum enlistment bonus, which could amount to several thousand dollars, is being studied by the Pentagon and a presidential commission searching for ways to minimize reliance on the draft and develop all-volunteer armed services.

Ohter proposals include pay boosts, broadened educational benefits, better housing, efforts to improve the status and image of servicemen in society and sharper recruiting methods.

Although most of the ideas are still tentative, the Nixon administration is committed to upgrading military salaries.

The armed services have used bonuses to lure men into re-enlisting. But a bonus to attract high-school graduates into a first enlistment would be a new approach in modern times.

Some officials feel a lump sum payment at the beginning might prove more attractive than a pay increase whose impact would be spread over many months.

Enlistment bonuses have been used in the past, most notably during the Civil War, but it very often was corrupted and unmanageable.

The Nixon administration was prepared last winter to ask for a service pay boost, but had second thoughts.

A military pay study, drafted by a group headed by Rear Adm. Lester Hubbell before the Nixon administration took office, has been submitted to a nongovernmental management institute for study.

The Hubbell plan in essence recommended placing the pay system for career servicemen on straight salary comparable to that of the federal civil service, and ending most housing and other separate allowances.

The Nixon administration has not discarded the Hubbell report but may well change its terms, particularly to put more stress on a better deal for lower-ranked servicemen.

Meanwhile, a special commission headed by former Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. is carrying on a study on means of achieving an all-volunteer armed force. The Gates study is closely meshed with the activities of Pentagon manpower officials and is due to report to Nixon in November.

Police Called To Testify In SDS Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee probing campus upheavals has called a group of big city police officials to testify on the role played by radical organizations, particularly the Students for a Democratic Society, in the wave of violence that swept the nation's colleges and universities.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, declined to release the names of the police witnesses in advance. "We want to protect their identity," a staff member said.

The Senate panel's initial move into the student disorder field came the same day as a special hearing of the House Education and Labor Committee into a bill aimed at curbing campus unrest through the threatened withdrawal of federal aid.

The measure, sponsored by Oregon Democrat Edith Green but backed by Republican committee members, would require colleges to file plans with the federal government on how they intend to deal with student unrest. Failure to file an accepta-

Though promising fidelity to the policies of De Gaulle, Pompidou has pledged to be more liberal, particularly in foreign affairs, and promised to enlarge his government to bring in new faces and ideas.

His personal style also is expected to be less grating to friends and allies than De Gaulle's often high-handed, uncompromising manner.

River-Front Museum Site Opposed By Local Society

Basing their reasoning on eight specific points, trustees of the East Liverpool Historical Society have opposed a proposal by the Ohio Historical Society to erect a new building here along the river front for an Ohio Pottery Museum rather than renovating the former post office on Broadway.

The trustees outlined their views in a letter to Daniel R. Porter, director of the state organization, at Columbus under the signature of Harold B. Barth, president of the local society.

The Ohio Society has suggested that the museum be erected at or near the site of the old Brunt Pottery at 2nd and Market Sts. in order to incorporate into the exhibits an old beehive kiln termed the last of its kind in Ohio.

Thais Suffer Only Minor Losses In Repulsing Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Thai infantrymen backed by withering fire from U.S. dive bombers, helicopters and artillery battled a 500-man Viet Cong force early today 20 miles east of Saigon. Military spokesmen said they killed 212 enemy in six hours while suffering only six Thais killed and seven wounded.

No American casualties were reported. Spokesmen said it was the biggest battle Thai troops have fought since they arrived in Vietnam in September 1967.

Associated Press correspondent Jay Sharbutt reported from the battleground the Viet Cong swarmed out of rubber plantations against the artillery base of the Black Panther Division under cover of a heavy mortar barrage shortly after midnight.

He said they launched three separate assaults with machine guns, bazooka-type rockets and hand grenades, but were beaten back each time by the 300 Thai defenders and American firepower. U.S. Air Force dive bombers and Army helicopter gunships strafed th enemy with rockets and machine guns while American artillery units raked them from nearby bases.

"That broke the ground attack," said one American officer.

But the Viet Cong—identified as troops of the 274th Regiment of the Viet Cong's 5th Division—continued to harass the base with mortar and small arms fire until daylight, spokesmen added. When they withdrew the Thais found more than 600 mortar shells, rocket-propelled grenades and hand grenades that the enemy never got a chance to use.

During the battle a $300,000 U.S. Army Cobra helicopter gunship was hit by enemy .50-caliber machine gun bullets but made it safely back to the Thai base.

The attack followed stepped up Viet Cong thrusts against U.S. and South Vietnamese bases in War Zone D, where the Viet Cong's 5th Division is based. On March 16 the enemy division lost 168 men killed trying to overrun the same Black Panther Thai unit.

Three prisoners were captured but two died of wounds. The other was being interrogated, spokesmen said.

In earlier fighting Sunday, U.S. 25th Infantry Division troops claimed they killed 40 enemy in a battle 30 miles northwest of Saigon. One American was killed and 13 wounded.

U.S. headquarters reported 32 overnight rocket and mortar attacks, but said only 11 of them caused casualties or damage.

Headquarters also reported enemy gunners shot down and destroyed an Army Cobra gunship Sunday in Long Khanh province, 50 miles east of Saigon, wounding one American. It raised to 2,750 the number of U.S. helicopters lost in the war.

In the far north along the Laotian border, North Vietnamese sappers attacked an American paratrooper artillery base in the A Shau Valley for the second day in a row Sunday. The enemy lost 51 killed while wounding only seven Americans.

The earlier attack Saturday wounded Col. Joseph B. Conmy, the U.S. brigade commander who directed last month's con-

Midcontinent Remains Cool

By The Associated Press

Turbulent spring storms eased up along the Eastern seaboard and in the Southwest early today but the midcontinent remained unseasonably cool.

Spectacular displays of lightening were seen in mountain and desert areas of Southern California Sunday night, accompanied by the crack and roll of thunder and heavy rains.

Storms lashed the Albuquerque-Belen area in northern New Mexico and struck at Las Cruces and in the Mesilla Valley, causing serious flooding.

Big nuggets of hail battered Truth or Consequences, N.M., breaking windows, windshields and headlights and damaging the lettuce crop.

In the East, nearly two inches of rain fell at both Charlottesville, Va., and almost as much in Scranton, Pa., within six hours.

WOHI Receives Four Awards At State Meeting

WOHI was honored for the best spot news radio coverage, best investigative reporting, best editorials and best special program by a station in a market under 225,000 population.

Paul Zehnder, WOHI's news director, was one of the regional directors named by the association. He also was among those who told of methods and procedures of newsroom operation which they had found best over a period of time.

Norman Wagy of WJW-TV in Cleveland was elevated to the presidency. He succeeds Ray Luther, formerly of WCLT, Newark, who was given an honorary life membership in the OAPBA.

The various awards were presented by Luther and Al Dopking, chief of bureau for The Associated Press in Ohio.

West Virginia Methodists Take Various Actions

BUCKHANNON, W. Va. (AP) —The new United Methodist Church of West Virginia approved a budget for the coming year, recognized top churches and church leaders from the past year and appointed more than 200 ministers and laymen during the annual conference Sunday.

The churchmen endorsed a budget of $2,730,852 so that the churches' program of more active participation in the social issues of the state might be expended.

The James Fork United Methodist Church, situated on the Consol No. 9 mine complex, was named church of the year for its role in the November 1968 mine disaster that claimed 78 men.

Named minister of the year was the Rev. Calvin McCutcheon of Craigsville Parish. Kermit Grogan, of Kimball was named layman of the year.

Bishop D. Frederick Wertz appointed the Rev. James H. Reed of Buckhannon treasurer of the United Methodist Church of West Virginia.

Rev. Reed formerly served as treasurer of the Evangelical United Brethren Church of West Virginia, before the two denominations merged.

Money Stolen From Homes

Thieves took a total of $56 from two East Liverpool homes Sunday, police reported.

Ralph Williamson of 1196½ Pennsylvania Ave. told officers $50 was stolen from a paper sack on the kitchen table at his home between 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. He said the loss was comprised of $10, $5 and $1 bills.

Mrs. Macil Flowers of 124 E. 4th St. said a thief took her purse containing a $5 bill, $1.25 in 25-cent pieces and a key when she went outside briefly about 11 a.m. Sunday to deposit trash in a container at the rear of her home. The thief entered through the unlocked front door and removed the wallet from her bedroom, she reported.

A hammer drill and an electrician's belt holding various tools were stolen between Friday night and Saturday morning from the high-rise apartment project site on Claiborne St., police reported. The thief pried a door hasp on the north side of the building and then broke a lock on the electrician's office to take the two items.

Two cases of vandalism also were reported over the weekend.

James Cunningham of 149 Reynolds St. said a pane of glass in a storm door at the rear of his home was broken Sunday by a stone hurled by a vandal.

Marines Pay Honor To Fallen Comrades

The Marine Corps commemorated the anniversary in special ceremonies at the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific here.

It was June 16, 1944, that the 2nd and 4th Marine Divisions hit the beaches of the South Pacific island.

The Army's 27th Division landed the next day.

The battle was costly: More than 14,200 American casualties, including 3,100 dead. The Japanese lost nearly 30,000 men.

2 From Hancock Receive Degrees

Two Hancock County residents were among those presented diplomas this month in commencement exercises at Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa.

Receiving bachelor of science degrees were Thomas S. Robison, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Robison of 507 Grant St., Newell, who was graduated magna cum laude in mathematics, and John S. Brand, son of Dr. and Mrs. John M. Brand of 253 Virginia Ave., mathematics.

Dr. Earland I. Carlson, president of the college, presented the diplomas at the 115th annual exercises.

During the first love-in, staged by Spreen a policeman was shot to death outside New Bethel Baptist Church where a militant black separatist organiation was meeting. The shooting and subsequent black militant-police confrontation stirred tensions in the city. The first 100-day love-in ended June 1.

The second love-in began with Spreen's announcement Sunday that an elite detachment of policemen had been formed to be used "in such manner and method as to keep down tensions, the heat, conflict and confrontation."

He called the detachment the "cool pool."

Hadassah, the name of the women's Zionist organization, is the Hebrew name of Quees Esther.

Rockefeller Will Return

The mission had all the earmarks of a classic diplomatic move.

President Nixon wants a new U.S.-Latin American policy. The old one is outmoded. To sort fact from fiction, he picked Gov. Rockefeller — a long-time friend of Latin America.

Low-key and exploratory — those were to be the prominent characteristics of the journey.

GOV. ROCKEFELLER was to provide a sympathetic ear for Latin American leaders who wanted to air gripes, explain specific problems and suggest methods by which the United States could lend assistance to their development plans.

To make sure everybody had time to cover all areas of concern, the Rockefeller mission was divided into three trips.

The first one was marred by student riots, stopovers cut short because of threatened violence, Venezuela called off its visit and Peru withdrew its invitation.

Despite all these disappointments, Gov Rockefeller — with White House support — says he will not cancel the other trips.

Critics have called the first phase of the mission a failure.

But was it?

Did not Gov. Rockefeller go to Latin America to measure the mood of our neighbors to the south?

Did he not get an answer? Certainly the reaction was not what the Nixon administration wanted, but it cannot be ignored.

Gov. Rockefeller attributed the violence to "elements who are able to get militant groups among the students to respond to their desire to break up the basic friendship and understanding between the United States and these countries."

Mr. Rockefeller charged that anti-American influences "inside and outside the hemisphere" were responsible for mobilizing students in the protests.

Galo Plaza, former president of Ecuador and present Secretary general of the Organization of American States, met with Mr. Rockefeller on his return to New York and warned against ascribing disruption of his trip solely to Communist agitators.

MR. PLAZA said: "Whatever interest outside groups may have, there is a genuine national resentment that doesn't need much outside influence."

This disillusionment must be probed if future relations between the United States and Latin America are to be harmonious.

Mr. Nixon still is searching for a new, workable policy and only a comprehensive look at all Latin American factors — good and bad — can provide the proper foundation for devising it.

Abolish War With Pills

Today we are concerning ourselves with the right and wrong of adding fluoride to water systems of entire communities.

Tommorrow we may be wrestling with the right and wrong of adding antihostility drugs to the nation's water purpose.

Kenneth E. Moyer, a physiological psychologist at Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh, says we are kidding ourselves if we think this can't happen.

Although it is not yet scientifically possible to sedate a community through its water supply, Mr. Moyer says it is just a matter of time until we can. In laboratory tests with animals, he has produced docile behavior for 24 hours with no adverse side effects by adding a few milligrams of tranquilizing drugs to the animal's milk.

The psychologist explains that this technique can only bring physiologically based hostility under control and not culturally induced agression. In other words, the drugs-in-the-water method of control would work as far as the "emotional side" is concerned but would not work on the "learned side."

Scientists are working on various means of reducing and controlling human hostility. Mr. Moyer says "the control of hostility is here but the absolute physiological control of hostility in masses of people is not here yet."

He believes many people should be on antihostility drugs the rest of their lives just as some people are on insulin for the rest of their lives to make up for a natural deficiency.

Could it possibly be that wars, man's maximum hostility, may ultimatly be eradicated by science — through pill - taking?

Unlocking Secrets

Most archaeological news emanates from areas of the world known to have substantial early civilizations. But recently more and more archaeological research and investigation is being done in the United States.

Relatively close at hand, in Kentucky's Mammoth Cave National Park, an expedition recently found indications that prehistoric cave men lived in the huge caverns beneath the park.

The expedition's explorers, roaming sections of this largest known cave system in the world, came upon primitive toches, dried human bones and imprints of bare feet.

The tracks were found far from the main routes used by early modern-day explorers, in a remote maze of narrow, twisting tunnels.

Scientists believe that improved techniques may enable them to learn new facts about agricultural products that were part of the diets of the primitive people who inhabited eastern North America.

Worthy Salute

Many residents of the East Liverpool area who know Dean Densmore or the contributions he has made to young men over the years echo the salutes given to him last week by the Kiwanis Club and by his baseball friends.

Densmore has devoted an incredible amount of time and all of his exceptional talents to the Pony League and the Colt League, producing many good players and several excellent teams.

He has proven that the so-called "generation gap" can be infinitesimal in a way which has been not only of benefit to both sides of the age line but to the community in general.

Letters To The Editor

(Letters to the Editor are intended to provide expressions of opinion on current issues of interest. Letters should be of brief or moderate length, and should be signed by the author with address and telephone number listed for verification. Writers may request to have their names withheld.)

I believe in the best education possible for everyone, and for this reason I ask the board of education why not attempt to elevate the level of the academic program at East Liverpool High School?

The North Central Association Visitation Committee visited the East Liverpool High School March 18, 19 and 20, 1969, and made an evaluation of the school and its overall program.

Weaknesses in the program of studies were:

1.—It is found that many textbooks are out of date.

2.—Classroom equipment is found lacking for instructional purposes (audio-visual, c h a r t s, filmstrips, language tapes, recorders, art tools, etc.).

3.—Lack of coordination of curriculum planning between junior and senior high school.

4.—Departmental coordination and organization is lacking.

7.—Lack of a special education class or classes-or remedial program.

8.—Limited parking areas for students.

WHY NEED a visitation committee to come into East Liverpool High School and tell the school: many textbooks are out of date, there is a lack of coordination of curriculum planning between junior and senior high school, there is a lack of departmental coordination and organization? Why is there not an awareness of these situations: and why are these situations permitted to exist in our school?

Why need a visitation committee to come into East Liverpool High School and state, "School-owned audio-visual materials for department (Industrial Arts) are in storage. These materials are listed in the course of study."?

Why need a visitation committee to come into East Liverpool High School and state, "The lack of audio-visual materials and equipment is of vital significance in the appraisal of instructional materials. Although additional staff is needed and the book collections require updating the library is adequate, particularly in relation to the physical facilities. The circumstances which have kept this library closed for a semester and more, make it difficult to evaluate in terms of services rendered."?

Why need a visitation committee to come into East Liverpool High School and state, "With no library facilities and insufficient audi-visual resources, the instructional materials are extremely inadequate to provide the students with an opportunity to prepare themselves in accordance with the stated philosophy of East Liverpool High School."?

WHY NEED a visitation committee come into East Liverpool High School and state, "The heart of the school is the student. Therefore, democratic procedure is a must. ALL activities should be student selected. The leaders should come from democratic action. All students should have a chance to join an activity, regardless of grades or subscription to s c h o o l paper."?

The visitation committee report covers nine areas including the program of studies of which 16 departments are listed. In most of the areas and departments, the weaknesses either equal or outnumber the commendations.

Many good, strong commendations are made; but there, also, is a number of glaring, unnecessary weaknesses pointed out.

I believe the fact that the weaknesses outweigh the commendations is a challenge to raise the level of the academic program at East Liverpool High School.

We would like very much to register a complaint about two teen-age boys who accosted our son, 11 years old, and his boyfriend, also 11, Thursday evening just before dark as they were walking down the ramp from 7th St. to the Westgate carnival.

These two boys took $2 from our son and $1 from his friend. It is not the $3 which the two boys stole, but it had a telling effect on our son. It is too bad when 11-year-olds are not safe walking the streets of East Liverpool in broad daylight.

Our son is a member of the North Side Falcons football team.

A Northwest Passage

The proposal of the Humble Oil and Refining Co. and associated companies to spend millions to create a sea route from the Alaskan and Canadian oil fields to the Atlantic Ocean should ignite the interest of every observer of foreign affairs.

For this plan, if successfully carried out, will be of incalculable advantage to the Western world. An incidental result will be to teach land-locked and isolationist Americans the vital importance of trade routes by sea in the shaping of this nation's foreign policy.

As every schoolboy knows, Columbus' purpose was to find a route westward to the orient. While his voyages opened a new continent, they did not achieve their earlier purpose.

FIVE YEARS AFTER 1492 another Italian, John Cabot, who had removed to England, received authority and means from King Henry VII to seek a sea route north of the American continent to "India and Cathay." His efforts and those of his son Sebastian ended in icy frustration.

In the next century Sir Martin Frobisher renewed the quest but he had to settle for claiming certain icy lands in the name of Queen Elizabeth and by bringing back to England certain ore which proved to be worthless.

In the years that followed there were many explorations until, in 1846, Sir John Franklin, a veteran of Trafalgar and of several land explorations, set out with two ships to find the Northwest Passage. His expedition vanished and it was 14 years later that the remains were found. All hands had perished.

In this century a great deal has been added to information about the geography of the region and new technology has added to the means of exploration and communication. In 1906 Roald Amundsen announced that he had made a passage with a small ship and six companions. The voyage consumed three years.

Subsequently exploration of water passages through the icy north of the Canadian mainland continued. Smaller Canadian vessels made a number of passages prior to 1956. But there still remaind the task of finding a route for larger ship transportation. The American Navy was interested because of its need for supply routes for our distant early warning system.

In 1956, Canadian Capt. Pullen and a drew of 240 on the Canadian ship Labrador made a passage in which a key channel was the Bellot Straight, rescuing an American icebreaker in the course of the voyage.

Meanwhile, a great deal has been learned about the depth and width of channels by nuclear submarines operating under the ice.

All this knowledge will be known to the effort announced this month by Humble president. Charles F. Jones. The first effort will be a trip from New York in July by the big tanker Manhattan, which has been reconstructed for ice-breaking.

BUT ONCE SUCH A ROUTE becomes practical for tankers, his company will build six 250,000-pound ice-breaking tankers at a cost of $300 million. And other companies, he said, with oil properties in Alaska and northern Canada will probably build 25 or 30 tankers for their purposes.

For the oil potential in that field is estimated to be equal to or more than that of the entire Middle East.

At one point in this new trade route there is a spot equidistant from New York, Tokyo and London. Thus it will affect all trade routes and calculations as far distant as the Indian Ocean and the Persian Gulf.

Odd Facts

The leading U.S. state in the number of airplane landing facilities is Texas, followed in orderby Califronia, Altska, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, New York and Florida.

Residents of the District of Columbia were given the right to vote for U.S. president and vice president for the first time when the 23rd Amendment to the U.S. Constitution was ratified in 1961.

The southernmost capital city in the world is Port Stanley, in the Falkland Islands, with a south latitude of 51 degrees, 43 minutes.

The largest city in the world which is not situated next to water — sea, lake, or river— is Mexico City, with a population of more than three million.

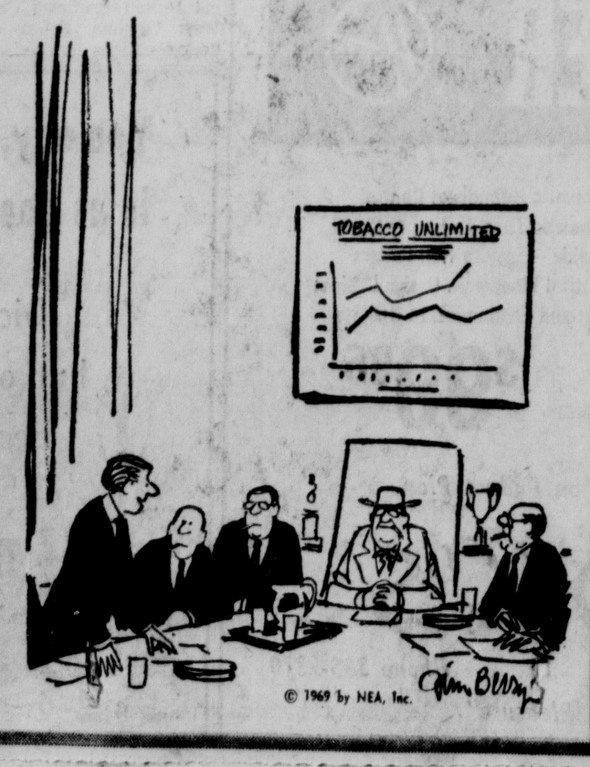

Of the more commonly used languages in the world, the one with the most letters in its alphabet is Sinhalese, spoken in Ceylon, which has 54 letters.

Some 105 million Americans last year took to the highways within their own country for at least one vacation or pleasure trip by automobile, establishing a new record. They spent $29 billion and traveled an estimated 195 billion miles.

According to certain educational statisticians, only about 2 per cent of the world's population has an IQ rating of 148 or more.

A mole six inches long has been known to dig a tunnel as long as 100 yards in a single night.

Any amount of camping experience and nature study, even a tiny amount, is of incalculable value to anybody, especially the young. States, counties, cities, villages and townships should grab all the park land they can before it is too late.

TV commercials get tiresome when they bring into the living room unattractive sights which we usually see first thing in the morning when we look in a mirror, like sleep-doped faces, ugly beards, greasy hair stuff, or upset stomachs, or tired feet, or hair curlers at breakfast, or under arm stain or dirty sinks. Ugh.

When someone criticizes someone who criticizes the military-industrial complex I am always reminded that it was President Eisenhower who first warned of this problem. It has been called his most famous quote.

Railroad tracks and their rights of way may yet be the solution to urban transportation.

Beat Your Swords Into Plowshares Dept.: Old surplus Corporal missiles that cost $- million each in 1951 are being used in Cotts Valley, Calif., as street culverts at $95 each.

When President Nixon lashes out at the "new isolationists" in his Air Force Academy speech in Colorado he sounded more like the old Nixon. His jabs hit many Republican senators, too. He was referring primarily to opponents of defense spending, but many persons believe that a carefully controlled and planned foreign aid program of grants and loans and skilled personnel would be better and cheaper than foreign military aid.

Since World War II the U.S. has helped Germany, Japan and Italy to become thriving nations and it may not be too fantastic to imagine that within a decade or two the U.S. might go to the aid of North Vietnam, or a united Vietnam if it were threatened by Red China. Some experts have conjectured that Ho Chi Minh might actually want the U.S. to maintain a "presence" in Southeast Asia for this eventuality.

The American Civil Liberties Union has often championed the rights of criminals and thus been a thorn in the side of the police so it is worth mentioning that the Civil Liberties Union has protested the suspension of eight Columbus, O., police without a hearing. The eight policemen are under federal indictments for accepting payoffs from gamblers.

Rockefeller Will Return

The mission had all the earmarks of a classic diplomatic move.

President Nixon wants a new U.S.-Latin American policy. The old one is outmoded. To sort fact from fiction, he picked Gov. Rockefeller — a long-time friend of Latin America.

Low-key and exploratory — those were to be the prominent characteristics of the journey.

GOV. ROCKEFELLER was to provide a sympathetic ear for Latin American leaders who wanted to air gripes, explain specific problems and suggest methods by which the United States could lend assistance to their development plans.

To make sure everybody had time to cover all areas of concern, the Rockefeller mission was divided into three trips.

The first one was marred by student riots, stopovers cut short because of threatened violence, Venezuela called off its visit and Peru withdrew its invitation.

Despite all these disappointments, Gov Rockefeller — with White House support — says he will not cancel the other trips.

Critics have called the first phase of the mission a failure.

But was it?

Did not Gov. Rockefeller go to Latin America to measure the mood of our neighbors to the south?

Did he not get an answer? Certainly the reaction was not what the Nixon administration wanted, but it cannot be ignored.

Gov. Rockefeller attributed the violence to "elements who are able to get militant groups among the students to respond to their desire to break up the basic friendship and understanding between the United States and these countries."

Mr. Rockefeller charged that anti-American influences "inside and outside the hemisphere" were responsible for mobilizing students in the protests.

Galo Plaza, former president of Ecuador and present Secretary general of the Organization of American States, met with Mr. Rockefeller on his return to New York and warned against ascribing disruption of his trip solely to Communist agitators.

MR. PLAZA said: "Whatever interest outside groups may have, there is a genuine national resentment that doesn't need much outside influence."

This disillusionment must be probed if future relations between the United States and Latin America are to be harmonious.

Mr. Nixon still is searching for a new, workable policy and only a comprehensive look at all Latin American factors — good and bad — can provide the proper foundation for devising it.

Abolish War With Pills

Today we are concerning ourselves with the right and wrong of adding fluoride to water systems of entire communities.

Tommorrow we may be wrestling with the right and wrong of adding antihostility drugs to the nation's water purpose.

Kenneth E. Moyer, a physiological psychologist at Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh, says we are kidding ourselves if we think this can't happen.

Although it is not yet scientifically possible to sedate a community through its water supply, Mr. Moyer says it is just a matter of time until we can. In laboratory tests with animals, he has produced docile behavior for 24 hours with no adverse side effects by adding a few milligrams of tranquilizing drugs to the animal's milk.

The psychologist explains that this technique can only bring physiologically based hostility under control and not culturally induced agression. In other words, the drugs-in-the-water method of control would work as far as the "emotional side" is concerned but would not work on the "learned side."

Scientists are working on various means of reducing and controlling human hostility. Mr. Moyer says "the control of hostility is here but the absolute physiological control of hostility in masses of people is not here yet."

He believes many people should be on antihostility drugs the rest of their lives just as some people are on insulin for the rest of their lives to make up for a natural deficiency.

Could it possibly be that wars, man's maximum hostility, may ultimatly be eradicated by science — through pill - taking?

Unlocking Secrets

Most archaeological news emanates from areas of the world known to have substantial early civilizations. But recently more and more archaeological research and investigation is being done in the United States.

Relatively close at hand, in Kentucky's Mammoth Cave National Park, an expedition recently found indications that prehistoric cave men lived in the huge caverns beneath the park.

The expedition's explorers, roaming sections of this largest known cave system in the world, came upon primitive toches, dried human bones and imprints of bare feet.

The tracks were found far from the main routes used by early modern-day explorers, in a remote maze of narrow, twisting tunnels.

Scientists believe that improved techniques may enable them to learn new facts about agricultural products that were part of the diets of the primitive people who inhabited eastern North America.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Hang, Hook Hula Hoops

DEAR HELOISE: While we were camping last summer, we discovered a wonderful use for a hula hoop.

Heloise

You can easily hang a heavy shower curtain on one of these hoops, and string it up to a nearby tree for an extra dressing room.

Just snap the metal hooks through the curtain grommets and onto the hoop. Easy as one, two, three, and it gives you all the privacy you need.

MRS. B. HEGH.

Well, raise the flag and ring the bell. If that isn't the cleverest idea I've heard in a long while!

Thanks, Mrs. Hegh, for sharing it with other camping enthusiasts.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: It has always been a problem for me to clean the openings of my sink and basin drains.

Cleaning products clean the pipes further down, but the grease that collects just inside the openings and around the dividers is so hard to remove.

I now use an old bottle brush. This slides down between the dividers easily, and the handle is long enough to clean all the way down to the bend in the pipe.

It just takes a minute and it is such a satisfaction to know that I have really cleaned the drains.

RUTH McALLISTER.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: There's an old saying that I am reminded of whenever one of your hints strikes me as being instantly applicable . . .

"I thought I was behind before, but now I'm first at last!" MRS. E. C. POOLE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a suggestion that was given to me by a fashion model.

Whenever she loses one earring, she keeps the remaining one and saves these singles in a separate bag.

When enough singles have accumulated, she buys an inexpensive, wide belt (lined), removes the clips or screw backs from the earrings and studs the belt with the unmatched earrings, sewing them on with an upholsterer's needle.

Then she covers the stitching on the underside of the belt with a continuous strip of press-on mending tape.

The effect is dazzling!

MRS. EARLE FERRIS.

DEAR HELOISE: I make miniature popsicles for the real small fry.

I pour the liquid into nut cups, inserting half a popsicle stick in the juice before freezing.

GRANDMA

DEAR HELOISE: About the niftiest thing I ever saw on a private fishing raft or dock was an idea that came from a friend of mine.

He must have gotten tired of carrying his fishing tackle from his cabin down to the shore because he bought a foot locker at a surplus store, bolted it down to his dock and padlocked it. This way he could leave his inexpensive equipment right on the dock. Not only was it good to keep from carrying all those little old fishing extras from the cabin to the dock, but when he got tired of standing up while fising, he could sit on it.

I do not suggest that anyone leave expensive fishing equipment in a footlocker on a dock but, gosh, wasn't that a wonderful idea?

B.B.

I'm with you! Why stand when we can sit. I've found it takes those fish a long time to bite somedays. In fact, some times they just don't. Do they?

HELOISE.

The DOCTOR Says

Lymph Nodes Reduced Infection Spread

I have had several letters from mothers whose children have had swollen glands. One mother says her daughter, 11, usually has these attacks in the fall and she would like to know what causes them and whether they can be prevented. Infections in any part of the body are largely prevented from spreading by being trapped in the regional lymph nodes.

This is a factor of safety but it is undoubtedly hard on the nodes themselves. Swollen nodes in the autumn are usually found in the neck and accompany a head cold or sore throat.

A doctor should determine the source of the infection and treat it. Then the swollen nodes will gradually subside but even after their soreness is gone it may be possible to feel the hard, shotlike nodes under the skin for an indefinite period.

Q — My daughter, 6, has ulcers in her mouth and on her buttocks, hands and feet. Her doctor says they are caused by a virus. Are they serious? What is the best treatment?

A — It would be helpful to know what virus is involved. For chronic skin ulcers, a combination of the antibiotic, neomycin, and the enzyme, trypsin - chymotrypsin (Biozyme), has proved very effective.

A — In recent years, there has been a growing tendency to give babies cold milk without heating it. Tests have shown that it does them no harm and they seem to like it that way. This assumes that the milk is taken in small sips rather than large gulps so that it has a chance to warm up on its way to the stomach.

Q — My 2-month - old son was born with a hematoma on his head. At first it was soft but now it is hard. The doctor says it will go away in a few weeks. Should he be getting any treatment for it?

A — A hematoma is a collection of blood under the skin. It is often seen in babies whose birth required the use of forceps. As the blood coagulates, the mass shrinks and becomes harder. It is gradually absorbed. Meanwhile, no treatment is needed.

Man Shot To Death

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland police are seeking clues to the slaying early Sunday of 42-year-old Jule Duhart of East Cleveland. Duhart around a resident of Amesbury Avenue on the East Side, asking for help. He had been shot in the stomach and was pronounced dead a short time later at Mount Sinai Hospital. His car was found near where he sought help, but there were no known witnesses to the shooting.

Projects Set For Newell's Civic Council

New representatives welcomed were: Mrs. Peg Mangano, Newell Woman's Club, and Clarence Broomhall, Lions Club.

Other organizations represented were: Newell Fire Department, American Legion, Newell Homemakers, American Legion Auxiliary, the law enforcement agency, and the Newell Junior Woman's Club.

Ann Cawthorn, Sayde Nalley and Broomhall were named to the carnival committee by Mrs. Hupp. The civic council will operate a concession stand during the event June 21 and 28.

The council voted to sponsor a supervised recreation program in Newell under the direction of the Hancock County Recreation Committee. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Keller will serve as chairmen.

It was announced that a school bus shelter in the Congo area which the council maintains has been upset. It will be righted and staked under the supervision of J. Carl Durham.

Robert Duncan, president of the fire department, invited members of all organizations to attend the films at the fire hall Thursday at 7:30 p.m. on "Child Molesting" and "Narcotics."

The next regular meeting will be Sept. 11 at the American Legion.

Plenty Of Servants

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Whites in South Africa spend more than twice as much of their family budgets on servants than families in any other country. A Witwatersrand University ssurvey reported that in no other country do servants take more than 1.5 per cent of an average family budget. South African families spend 3.2 per cent of their budgets for this country's plentiful black servants.

Most important industrial compound of nitrogen is ammonia, which is used directly and serves as a basic chemical for the production of many other compounds.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, June 16, the 167th day of 1969. There are 196 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1897, the Alaska gold rush began with news of a rich find of gold on Bonanza Creek.

On this date:

In 1774, the first settlement in Kentucky- Harrodsburg — was founded.

In 1858, Abraham Lincoln said in a speech in Springfield, Ill., "A house divided against itself cannot stand."

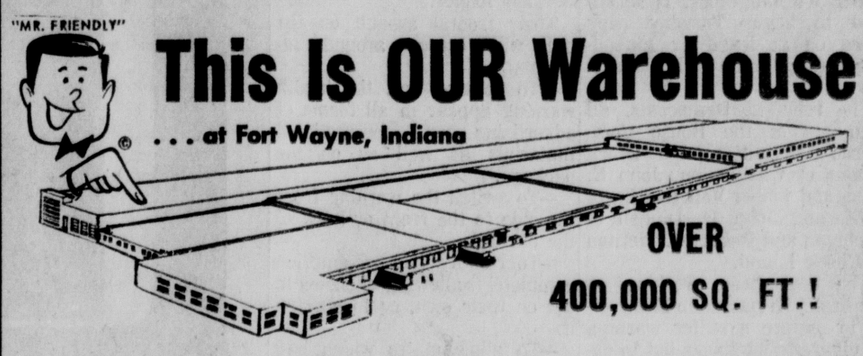

In 1920, the council of the League of Nations held its first public meeting at St. James Palace in London.

In 1940, the French Maginot Line was abandoned to the Germans in World War II.

In 1955, riots broke out in Buenos Aires, Argentina, as the Argentine navy sought, without success, to oust President Juan Peron.

In 1963, the world's first woman space traveler, Valentina Tereshkova was launched into orbit from a base in the Soviet Union.

GM

Chevrolet Pacesetter Values.

Maybe you also expected it to cost more. Most things do.

We've reduced prices on the kind of extras more and more people are ordering. Like bigger V8's. Automatic transmissions. Advanced-design power disc brakes. And head restraints (now figured into the base price of the car as standard equipment).

So for this '69 Impala—equipped with a 300-hp V8, Turbo Hydra-matic, power disc brakes, whitewalls and wheel covers—the price is actually $101.00* less than it was in 1968.

Our hidden persuaders

Some of the ways we give you more car are pretty apparent. It'll probably come as no surprise to you, for example, that this Impala is longer and wider than any comparable model in its field.

But a lot of the advantages—like Chevrolet's smooth-riding computer-selected springs—are tucked away where you can only feel what they do for you.

Others—like our rust-resisting flush-and-dry rocker panels—you'll come to appreciate more after you've driven the car for a time.

Still others show up mainly in the added sense of security they give you. The protective side guard beam we build into every big Chevrolet door, for instance.

These are the sorts of advantages that may be out of sight. But when you're buying a car they shouldn't be out of mind.

Biggest standard V8

This year's is 327.

Which means you get a bigger standard engine with more output (235 hp) than any other car in our field offers.

(Our standard six, incidentally, is also the largest and most powerful in our field.)

And when it comes to extra V8 performance, we've also got it like nobody else.

Other things the others haven't got

The DOCTOR Says

Lymph Nodes Reduced Infection Spread

I have had several letters from mothers whose children have had swollen glands. One mother says her daughter, 11, usually has these attacks in the fall and she would like to know what causes them and whether they can be prevented. Infections in any part of the body are largely prevented from spreading by being trapped in the regional lymph nodes.

This is a factor of safety but it is undoubtedly hard on the nodes themselves. Swollen nodes in the autumn are usually found in the neck and accompany a head cold or sore throat.

A doctor should determine the source of the infection and treat it. Then the swollen nodes will gradually subside but even after their soreness is gone it may be possible to feel the hard, shotlike nodes under the skin for an indefinite period.

Q — My daughter, 6, has ulcers in her mouth and on her buttocks, hands and feet. Her doctor says they are caused by a virus. Are they serious? What is the best treatment?

A — It would be helpful to know what virus is involved. For chronic skin ulcers, a combination of the antibiotic, neomycin, and the enzyme, trypsin - chymotrypsin (Biozyme), has proved very effective.

A — In recent years, there has been a growing tendency to give babies cold milk without heating it. Tests have shown that it does them no harm and they seem to like it that way. This assumes that the milk is taken in small sips rather than large gulps so that it has a chance to warm up on its way to the stomach.

Q — My 2-month - old son was born with a hematoma on his head. At first it was soft but now it is hard. The doctor says it will go away in a few weeks. Should he be getting any treatment for it?

A — A hematoma is a collection of blood under the skin. It is often seen in babies whose birth required the use of forceps. As the blood coagulates, the mass shrinks and becomes harder. It is gradually absorbed. Meanwhile, no treatment is needed.

Projects Set For Newell's Civic Council

New representatives welcomed were: Mrs. Peg Mangano, Newell Woman's Club, and Clarence Broomhall, Lions Club.

Other organizations represented were: Newell Fire Department, American Legion, Newell Homemakers, American Legion Auxiliary, the law enforcement agency, and the Newell Junior Woman's Club.

Ann Cawthorn, Sayde Nalley and Broomhall were named to the carnival committee by Mrs. Hupp. The civic council will operate a concession stand during the event June 21 and 28.

The council voted to sponsor a supervised recreation program in Newell under the direction of the Hancock County Recreation Committee. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Keller will serve as chairmen.

It was announced that a school bus shelter in the Congo area which the council maintains has been upset. It will be righted and staked under the supervision of J. Carl Durham.

Robert Duncan, president of the fire department, invited members of all organizations to attend the films at the fire hall Thursday at 7:30 p.m. on "Child Molesting" and "Narcotics."

The next regular meeting will be Sept. 11 at the American Legion.

Plenty Of Servants

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Whites in South Africa spend more than twice as much of their family budgets on servants than families in any other country. A Witwatersrand University ssurvey reported that in no other country do servants take more than 1.5 per cent of an average family budget. South African families spend 3.2 per cent of their budgets for this country's plentiful black servants.

Most important industrial compound of nitrogen is ammonia, which is used directly and serves as a basic chemical for the production of many other compounds.

Chevrolet Pacesetter Values.

$101.00 less

You expect this year's Chevrolet to be more car than last year's. That's progress.

Maybe you also expected it to cost more. Most things do.

We've reduced prices on the kind of extras more and more people are ordering. Like bigger V8's. Automatic transmissions. Advanced-design power disc brakes. And head restraints (now figured into the base price of the car as standard equipment).

So for this '69 Impala—equipped with a 300-hp V8, Turbo Hydra-matic, power disc brakes, whitewalls and wheel covers—the price is actually $101.00* less than it was in 1968.

Our hidden persuaders

Some of the ways we give you more car are pretty apparent. It'll probably come as no surprise to you, for example, that this Impala is longer and wider than any comparable model in its field.

But a lot of the advantages—like Chevrolet's smooth-riding computer-selected springs—are tucked away where you can only feel what they do for you.

Others—like our rust-resisting flush-and-dry rocker panels—you'll come to appreciate more after you've driven the car for a time.

Still others show up mainly in the added sense of security they give you. The protective side guard beam we build into every big Chevrolet door, for instance.

These are the sorts of advantages that may be out of sight. But when you're buying a car they shouldn't be out of mind.

Biggest standard V8

This year's is 327.

Which means you get a bigger standard engine with more output (235 hp) than any other car in our field offers.

(Our standard six, incidentally, is also the largest and most powerful in our field.)

And when it comes to extra V8 performance, we've also got it like nobody else.

Congressmen Plan Fight On Cigarette Advertising

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Democratic congressmen, rebuffed by their committee in an attempt to open the way for stricter federal regulation of cigarette advertising, are taking their fight to the House floor this week despite a slim chance of success.

The two-day battle, pitting impassioned believers in smoking's bad effects against tobacco interests and those who aren't at all convinced cigarettes are dangerous, is scheduled to begin Tuesday. Key votes on at least six amendments won't come until Wednesday.

The rebuffed Democrats, all members of the House Commerce Committee, are Brock Adams of Washington, John E. Moss and Lionel Van Deerlin of California, John D. Dingell of Michigan and Robert O. Tiernan of Rhode Island.

The committee, working on the basic bill passed in 1965, voted to require a stiffer warning on cigarette packages but to extend six years the current bill's provision that no agency can write any other warning rule. The 1965 bill expires at the end of this month.

Its proposed label would read: "Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health and May Cause Lung Cancer or Other Diseases."

This is stronger than the one now required—"Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health."

The five House Democrats feel the bill doesn't go far enough. They're going to try again, but face an uphill fight.

As Van Deerlin remarked to the committee, in a play on the words of one cigarette ad, "I for one would rather switch to the floor than fight in the committee any longer."

Their frontal assault on the bill will center around attempts:

—To require that the health warning appear in all forms of advertising and promotional materials as well as on the package.

—To switch the warning from the side to the front or back of the package.

—To remove the pre-emption completely, allowing agencies to act on their own, or to shorten it.

—To allow states which ban the sale of cigarettes to require that a notice to this effect be placed on advertising. All states but Louisiana and Wisconsin prohibit cigarette sales to minors but the age limit differs.

—To permit the FCC to prohibit broadcasters from advertising cigarettes at certain times and on programs considered likely to reach an audience under 18 years of age.

Mrs. Esther DeTemple 424-5965

LISBON — A tribute to Carl Sandburg wound up the year's study theme, "The Adventures Present," when the Lisbon Study Music Club met Friday night with Mrs. Karl Nicholas of Spruce St.

The article was prepared by Mrs. Kenneth Foster and read by Mrs. Vernon Duke, program chairman.

The program also included: Two selections, with Mrs. Kenneth Everett at the organ and Mrs. Duane Bricker at the piano; vocal selections, Mrs. Jackie Thompson of Salem, a guest, accompanied by Mrs. Bricker; history of the hymn of the month, "In Heavenly Love Abiding," by Mrs. Everett. She then accompanied the group in the singing of the selection.

Mrs. Donald Lewis presided for the final business meeting of the season.

Mrs. Gerald Evans thanked members for their cooperation which helped make the May program successful.

Mrs. George Nulf, scholarship chairman, reported funds raised at the May event made possible to give four high school students scholarships to the Baldwin - Wallace summer music camp being held this month at Berea.

The scholarships went to Diane Vocovich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Vocovich of Lee Ave.; Nancy Blocksom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. John Blocksom of E. Washington St.; Mark Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Gray of Hunters Camp Rd., and Bren Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oland Baker of Darner Rd.

Mrs. Lewis presented the incoming president, Mrs. Nulf, with the pin of her office. It was a gift to the club by Mrs. William Pannier when she retired as president, establishing the tradition of passing it on as the office changed.

Mrs. Nulf then announced committees for the coming year.

Mrs. Edward Nold and Mrs. Bricker of the social committee, assisted by the hostess, served dessert.

Meetings will resume in September.

Attend DAR Program

Fourteen members of the Lewis Kinney Chapter of the DAR attended the annual Flag Day luncheon at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Longs Run United Presbyterian Church, with Bethia Southwick chapter of Wellsville the hostess unit. Fifty were present.

Patriotic vocal solos were presented and the Rev. Richard L. Shipley, pastor of the church, was guest speaker.

The local group will resume regular sessions in September.

Father-Son Event Held

Fifty-six attended the father-son Communion breakfast following 8 o'clock mass at the St. George Catholic Church.

The affair was held in the Christian Development Center and was served by women of the Altar and Rosary Society. Floral arrangements decorated the tables.

The Rev. Fr. William Hohman spoke briefly to the group. Tom Mercina, chairman, discussed the importance of attending Mass.

Fr. Hohman closed with prayer.

They are: Mrs. Sarah Reed, Mrs. Myrtle Cannon and Mrs. Gertrude Wilkinson, visiting; Mrs. Nora McGraw, Mrs. Bessie Carosiello, Mrs. Betty Long, Mrs. Sara Hickman and Mrs. Reed, grievance; Mrs. Tresst Lucas, Sunshine chairman; Mrs. Sara Hickman, membership.

Mrs. Martha O'Neill, Miss Mary O'Neill, Mrs. Dorothy Brown, Mrs. Pearl Crawford and Mrs. Nora Hubbard, kitchen; Mrs. Pearl Crawford, Mrs. Mildred Wilson, and Mrs. Blanche Householder, investigation; Mrs. Long, Mrs. Joan McCauley, Mrs. McGraw and Mrs. Carosiello, entertainment; Mrs. Margaret Micucci and Mrs. Lucas, delinquent chairmen; Mrs. Lucas and Mrs. Micucci, publicity co-chairmen.

Mrs. Malone presided and gave the oath of office to Mrs. McGraw, vice president, who was absent at the earlier installation.

Mrs. Malone was assisted by Mrs. Long. She also presented a past president's pin and perfect attendance pin to Mrs. Reed, junior past president. A perfect attendance pin also was received by Mrs. Lucas.

Revised bylaws, approved by the grand aerie Auxiliary, will permit nominations for "Auxiliary Mother of the Year" at the June 24 meeting when a coverdish party for April, May and June birthdays will also be held.

The meeting has been changed from June 25 to give members an opportunity to attend the state meeting at Cleveland.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

A coverdish picnic was held by the C. and M. Combined Men and Women's Class of the First Christian Church Thursday night at Roadside Park. Devotions were led by Mrs. Alice Mackall.

She used "More to Come" as her topic.

During business conducted by Mrs. Frances McDowell, president, it was decided to dispense with the July meeting. Kenneth Winters, teacher, closed the business with prayer.

Games were arranged by Mrs.

NANCY ALTOMARE
Fiancee Of Raymond Rohm.

Nancy Altomare Will Be Wed In October Rites

Announcement has been made of the engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Nancy Louise Altomare, daughter of Mrs. Susan Altomare of Leetonia, and the late Ralph Altomare, to Raymond Rohm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rohm of Rogers RD 1.

Miss Altomare, a 1959 graduate of Leetonia High School, was graduated in 1965 from the Choffin School of Practical Nursing in Youngstown. She is employed in the surgery department at Salem City Hospital.

Her fiance was graduated in 1959 from Beaver Local High School and entered the Army in 1961. He was discharged in 1964 after three years service, including duty with the 2nd Armored Division in Germany. He is employed as a meat cutter at the A. & P. warehouse in Salem.

The wedding will take place Oct. 4 at St. Patrick's Church in Leetonia.

Prior to the Senate panel's hearing, the subcommittee's chief counsel said the organizational makeup of SDS would be exposed as well as how the group was tied to campus outbreaks.

"We will name names, show what makes it go and what they are," Jerome Adlerman said. "We've got quite a bit of police testimony, but much of it comes from our own investigations."

Other groups due for subcommittee scrutiny included the Black Panther party, the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and the Republic of New Africa.

The House bill, which is opposed by some liberal Democrats as well as administration education officials as too stringent, would also extend an existing law, which cuts off federal aid to students who help disrupt a campus, to include veterans on the GI Bill of Rights and students receiving Social Security benefits because of the death or disability of their parents.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I clean plaster-of-paris statuary?

A.—By smearing over it with a thick paste of laundry starch and water, letting this dry thoroughly, then brushing it off.

Q.—Any suggestions for making a good and inconspicuous mending job on a sheer curtain?

A.—Try applying a bit of colorless fingernail polish and pressing the torn edges together with your fingers. The tear will be almost invisible.

Q.—When boiling rather old potatoes, how can I prevent their darkening as they boil?

Q. — What can I do about some light stains on furniture?

A. — Sometimes a rubbing with your usual polish will do the trick. If this doesn't work, use rottenstone or finely powdered pumice, mixed with raw or boiled linseed oil to a thin paste. Rub in the direction of the grain, then wipe off with another cloth moistened with plain linseed oil. Repeat as often as necessary, then polish.

Q. — Is there any way I can repair the broken coil on a hot plate?

A. — Hook the two broken end together, put a pinch of borax on the joint, turn on the heat, and oftentimes the coil will weld itself together very nicely.

Or The Lack Of It About Color...

All over the world! When traffic lights turn red, drivers stop — Green, means Go! . . . If you can't tell the difference, you don't drive — You're COLOR - BLIND.

There are varying degrees of Color - Blindness. Total Achromatic Vision, is rare. This is when all colors appear gray—like watching T.V. in Black and White . . . The most common is Dichromatism—The inability to distinguish Red from Green.

There is no cure for Color-Blindness. It is hereditary . . . Transmitted from Mother to Son. The mother carries a faulty "Vision Gene" which she passes on to her sons — while she, herself, is not affected by it . . . The defect occurs mostly in males.

Officers Cite Young Driver After Mishap

A young motorist was cited by police Sunday night after a collision on a Thompson Park road that damaged two autos.

The crash involved a 1967 model sedan driven by Florence H. Farrar of 478 Orchard Grove Ave. and a 1965 sedan operated by David J. Michael, 17, of 1669 Ohio Ave.

Michael was driving south on a park road when his auto skidded sideways, hit the northbound Farrar auto and then continued 51 feet before it came to a halt in a ditch, officers said. Michael was cited to Juvenile Court on a reckless driving charge.

Two cars were damaged heavily in a mishap Saturday at 7:50 p.m. on W. 6th St. at Jackson St.

It involved a 1963 station wagon driven by James E. Martin, 53, of Stagecoach Rd. and a 1965 four - door sedan operated by Glenn Harold Dunn, 34, of Petersburg in Mahoning County. Both cars were eastbound in parallel lanes on W. 6th, officers said.

Martin told officers he was in the left-hand lane and Dunn was in the right-hand lane. As the cars approached Jackson St., Dunn made a left turn directly in front of him, he said. The mishap damaged the entire right side of Martin's auto and the entire left side of Dunn's car.

Another auto was damaged heavily, but the driver was unhurt, when it went onto a hillside on Pennsylvania Ave. at Elizabeth St. Saturday at 12:55 p.m., officers said.

The crash caused heavy damage to the left front of a 1969 model auto driven by Keith Koll, 16, of Pittsburgh. The youth told officers he was rounding a turn from Elizabeth St. onto Pennsylvania Ave. when he noted his car was too far to the right. He said he turned the wheel sharply, losing control of the car, which went upgrade onto a nearby embankment.

A 1964 sedan owned by Telma Hissam of 924 Blakeley St. was damaged on the right front door and right rear fender when struck by a hit-skip car while parked in Drury Ln. near Peach Alley between 10:50 and 11 a.m. Saturday, police said.

Nothing But Truth

LONDON (AP) — Trick television commercials that make goods seem better than they are, have been banned by Britain's Independent Television Authority.

Glass or plastic sheeting, for example, cannot now be used to give a shine to floors and furniture.

The House and Senate chambers of the U.S. Congress are limited in use to legislative business and may not be used for other purposes.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I prevent a rug from raveling at hte edges?

A.—By spreading clear plastic cement glue along the edges below the nap. When the glue dries, trim a bevel in the nap. The rug will not ravel, and you'll have a real professional-looking job.

Q. — How can I re-stiffen or re-size a small rug that has become limp and lifeless?

A. — This is not too difficult a job. Dissolve four ounces of flake glue completely in two quarts of boiling water. Then lay the rug, which has been cleaned thoroughly, face down on the floor and tack it at intervals to hold it straight. Brush your glue solution lightly and sparingly over the back of the rug, being careful not to let it soak through. Let the rug dry thoroughly for at least 24 hours before relaying it.

Q. — What is a good silver polish I can improvise at home?

A. — Old - fashioned laundry starch, made into a thick paste, does an excellent job. Rub it on the silver with a damp cloth, let stand a minute or so, then rub it dry with another soft cloth.

Trial Planned For Motorist

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today scheduled a hearing June 25 for a 26-year-old Maplewood man cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol last Wednesday on a charge of driving a truck on which no license plates were displayed.

James W. Ramsey of 407 Maplewood Ave. pleaded guilty to the charge, but told the judge he had borrowed the vehicle from a friend who is on vacation in Canada. The judge told Ramsey to bring his friend to court when the trial is held. Ramsey was cited on County Rd. 435 after a traffic mishap, the patrol said.

James L. Gooding, 19, of St. George St. was fined $15 and costs on a charge of driving 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. He was cited Sunday at 7:28 p.m. at E. 3rd St. and Broadway by Patrolman James Woods.

James N. Howarth, 21, of Beaver Falls forfeited a $27.50 bond on a charge of driving 40 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone on W. 6th St. at Jackson St. He was cited Saturday at 6:49 p.m.

Raymond Turner, 22, of 313 Union St. was ordered to pay court costs on a charge of operating an auto without a license. Cited May 24 at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts., he pleaded guilty May 29 and was granted a continuance until today to allow him time to obtain a new permit.

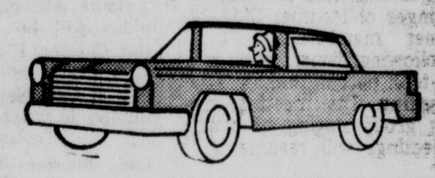

Stanley Jablonsky, 46, of Youngstown forfeited a $27.50 bond on a charge of driving 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone. He was cited June 8 on the Freeway.

Man Receives Year In Delinquency Case

LISBON — Charles R. Powell, 24, of West Point was sentenced to a year in the County Jail Friday by Judge Louis Tobin in Juvenile Court when he pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl by having sexual relations.

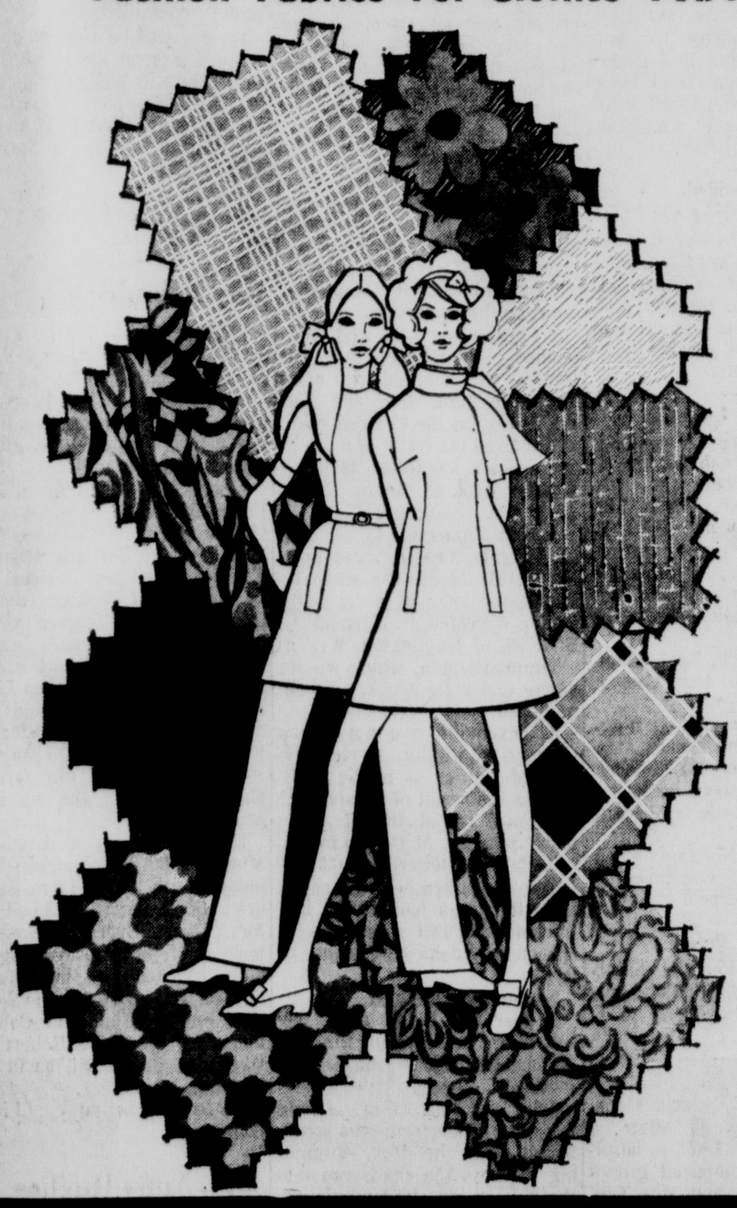

Thomas Davis of 1143 Ohio Ave., East Liverpool, pleaded not guilty to charges that he abused a 16-year-old East Liverpool girl, forced her into a car and attempted to assault her June 8. Judge Tobin set the hearing for 10 a.m. July 22.

Prior to the Senate panel's hearing, the subcommittee's chief counsel said the organizational makeup of SDS would be exposed as well as how the group was tied to campus outbreaks.

"We will name names, show what makes it go and what they are," Jerome Adlerman said. "We've got quite a bit of police testimony, but much of it comes from our own investigations."

Other groups due for subcommittee scrutiny included the Black Panther party, the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and the Republic of New Africa.

The House bill, which is opposed by some liberal Democrats as well as administration education officials as too stringent, would also extend an existing law, which cuts off federal aid to students who help disrupt a campus, to include veterans on the GI Bill of Rights and students receiving Social Security benefits because of the death or disability of their parents.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I clean plaster-of-paris statuary?

A.—By smearing over it with a thick paste of laundry starch and water, letting this dry thoroughly, then brushing it off.

Q.—Any suggestions for making a good and inconspicuous mending job on a sheer curtain?

A.—Try applying a bit of colorless fingernail polish and pressing the torn edges together with your fingers. The tear will be almost invisible.

Q.—When boiling rather old potatoes, how can I prevent their darkening as they boil?

Q. — What can I do about some light stains on furniture?

A. — Sometimes a rubbing with your usual polish will do the trick. If this doesn't work, use rottenstone or finely powdered pumice, mixed with raw or boiled linseed oil to a thin paste. Rub in the direction of the grain, then wipe off with another cloth moistened with plain linseed oil. Repeat as often as necessary, then polish.

Q. — Is there any way I can repair the broken coil on a hot plate?

A. — Hook the two broken end together, put a pinch of borax on the joint, turn on the heat, and oftentimes the coil will weld itself together very nicely.

Or The Lack Of It About Color...

All over the world! When traffic lights turn red, drivers stop — Green, means Go! . . . If you can't tell the difference, you don't drive — You're COLOR - BLIND.

There are varying degrees of Color - Blindness. Total Achromatic Vision, is rare. This is when all colors appear gray—like watching T.V. in Black and White . . . The most common is Dichromatism—The inability to distinguish Red from Green.

There is no cure for Color-Blindness. It is hereditary . . . Transmitted from Mother to Son. The mother carries a faulty "Vision Gene" which she passes on to her sons — while she, herself, is not affected by it . . . The defect occurs mostly in males.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Thelma Horner Gossett, at home, his mother, three children and three grandchildren.

Museum

mission has laid out this district for construction of small industrial plants. This plan has been accepted by city officials.

"2. — Plans are now under way for the construction of a new four-lane federal highway 30 through East Liverpool, which would pass very close to the suggested site for the museum and which would block all direct approaches to such a building.

"3. — The site is subject to floods from the Ohio River.

"4. — The tracks of the Penn Central Railroad are just to the rear of the proposed site and heavily loaded freight trains travel up and down these tracks 24 hours a day, causing much noise and vibration.

"5. — Construction of a large highway interchange to connect with the planned bridge, crossing the Ohio River, within a short distance from your suggested site would eliminate all parking in that vicinity.

"6. — The constant noise caused by the operation of river docks near by in loading and unloading freight would be a detriment.

"7. — West Second and Market Sts. are out of the way from the regular routes of travel in East Liverpool and would be difficult for tourists to find.

"8. — Many opinions have been expressed by city officials, members of the Planning Commission and local citizens in opposition to having a pottery museum erected in the city of East Liverpool in the local which you appear to favor."

The trustees, in their letter, pointed out they still favor the former post office building as the site of the museum, but did offer two other suggestions for consideration — a site at the corner of E. 4th St. and Broadway, opposite the Carnegie Public Library, or an addition to the present library building.

Using $250,000 the Ohio Society expects will be made available to it in state funds, Porter said under its proposal a tentative budget calls for $25,000 for and acquisition, $150,000 to erect a building of 3,000 square feet and renovate the old kiln, $50,000 for exhibits and $25,000 for contingencies.

He mentioned particularly the high cost of renovating the structure into a satisfactory museum.

He also said that the Ohio Society would "rule out the provision of space allocation to the East Liverpool Historical Society, which is anticipated will be requested, unless the society matches in some proportion the state allocation for the purpose of building a larger museum building with space for the local society."

He apparently meant that none of the local society's exhibits would be included in the new museum unless the society contributed toward the cost of the building.

House rules require election of a stand-in speaker when the regular speaker of the House of Representatives plans to be absent for more than three days.

Officers Are Installed By Jaycees, Auxiliary

New officers of the East Liverpool Jaycees and Jayceeettes were installed in ceremonies at the Willows Motel in Industry last week.

Mrs. Mary Ann Darrah, outgoing president of the Jayceeettes, installed Mrs. Beverly Hill as president and Mrs. Eva Woodburn as vice president.

Jack Hill was recipient of the Patrick J. O'Farrell Award given to the best committee chairman of the year. Woodburn was the winner of the "Jaycee of the Year" award; Ray Hilliard, the "Spoke" award; Dick Frankel, the "speak-up" award, and Woodburn, the "sparkplug" award.

Vince Laneve received an award for being the outstanding Jaycee over the past 15 to 20 years.

PAUL ZEHNDER
He's New President.

2 Men Are Arrested In Cherry Bomb Case

LISBON — Sheriff's deputies and local police arrested two men early Saturday and confiscated more than 1,000 "silver salutes," also known as cherry bombs or M-80's.

Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan said several firecracker complaints have been received in the last few days and every effort will be made to catch the offenders and run down the source of the bombs.

Out on $100 bonds for appearances Tuesday are Walter N. Thompson, 18, of Rogers RD 1, charged by Deputy Richard Koffel with the possession and sale of fireworks, and Wayne C. Boso, 24, charged by officer Ed Day with exploding the salutes from his second-floor apartment at 132 W. Lincoln Way between midnight and 2 a.m.

A third charge — "discharging fireworks"—will be filed today against William Degarmo, 20, of Grant St., Lisbon, according to the sheriff.

Day said state highway patrolmen also assisted in the investigation after the bombs went off. Day said they received permission to enter Boso's apartment and the suspect claimed he was "sound asleep." "Everyone else in town was awake," Day said.

Police said they received permission to search the apartment and found 23 of the bombs under a couch.

Subsequently, Deputy Koffel obtained permission to search Thompson's house near Elkton and found 20 boxes of the salutes. Each box contains 50 bombs. Officers said they learned Thompson bought the fireworks June 6 in Indiana for $2 per box and was reselling them for $6.50.

The deputy's affidavit filed in County Southwest Court here states that Thompson sold two boxes of the bombs to DeGarmo at Grant St.

Boso is scheduled for a hearing tomorrow night in mayor's court.

Pompidou

the appointment of Jacques Chaban-Delmas as premier. Chaban-Delmas has bten one of De Gaulle's most faithful supporters since World War II days and president of the National Assembly since 1952.

The victory had been widely forecast and was never in doubt from the minute the first returns came in Sunday. Fired as De Gaulle's premier a year ago, Pompidou, 57, rolled up a bigger margin in Sunday's election than the general himself gained in the 1965 presidential election.

Official returns for all of metropolitan France and part of the overseas areas gave Pompidou 57.78 per cent of the total, while his main opponent, interim President Alain Poher, got 42.2 per cent. But about 31 per cent of the 29.5 million registered voters stayed away from the polls—almost double the number who abstained three years ago.

Poher, who stepped into the Elysee Palace when De Gaulle quit in April, had campaigned to end "De Gaulle's "rule by oppression."

Congratulary messages flowed in the United States Britain, West Germany and other countries. De Gaulle, who sat out the presidential race in Ireland, cabled: "For all national and personal reasons, I send you my most cordial congratulations."

Pompidou announced: "The vote today seems to me to constitute a consolidation and even a consecration of this great reform that we owe to Gen. de Gaulle."

The Constitutional Council is scheduled to officially proclaim the results of the election Thursday night and Pompidou will assume the presidency Friday. There will be no formal swearing-in ceremony, but Poher said he would be on hand to welcome Pompidou to the Elysee Palace.

Pompidou is expected to announce his complete cabinet list Friday or Saturday.

The Communist party had called for the boycott after the first round of presidential balloting June 1 when Pompidou and Poher finished ahead of five other candidates. In that round Communist candidate Jacques Duclos got 21 per cent of the vote.

Pompidou, the grandson of farmers and the son of a school teacher, was teaching school in Paris when a friend nominated him for a job on De Gaulle's staff when the general headed the provisional government after the liberation of France.

After De Gaulle retired to his country home in eastern France in 1946, Pompidou kept in touch and was entrusted with a number of confidential missions.

Pompidou went to work at the Rothschild Bank and rose to a top administrative position. When De Gaulle returned to office in 1958, he brought back Pompidou as head of his personal staff—Chef de Cabinet—during the seven months De Gaulle served as premier while the constitution of the Fifth Republic was being prepared and approved.

When De Gaulle moved in as president in 1959, Pompidou went back to the bank, but he was still close to the president.

In 1962, Pompidou was named premier. At that time he was a political unknown, had never been elected to any public office but was pictured as a man who had De Gaulle's confidence and could be counted on for unflagging loyalty to his boss.

Pompidou emerged as the only strong hand at the helm during last year's student and labor strikes. He organized the Gaullist campaign that gave the general's men the biggest majority any party ever had in the French National Assembly.

De Gaulle praised him, then fired him last July. Some said De Gaulle feared Pompidou was getting too popular. Others said it was a wise move geared to make Pompidou his successor by giving him a freedom for political action he could never have had as premier.

Officers Cite Young Driver After Mishap

A young motorist was cited by police Sunday night after a collision on a Thompson Park road that damaged two autos.

The crash involved a 1967 model sedan driven by Florence H. Farrar of 478 Orchard Grove Ave. and a 1965 sedan operated by David J. Michael, 17, of 1669 Ohio Ave.

Michael was driving south on a park road when his auto skidded sideways, hit the northbound Farrar auto and then continued 51 feet before it came to a halt in a ditch, officers said. Michael was cited to Juvenile Court on a reckless driving charge.

Two cars were damaged heavily in a mishap Saturday at 7:50 p.m. on W. 6th St. at Jackson St.

It involved a 1963 station wagon driven by James E. Martin, 53, of Stagecoach Rd. and a 1965 four - door sedan operated by Glenn Harold Dunn, 34, of Petersburg in Mahoning County. Both cars were eastbound in parallel lanes on W. 6th, officers said.

Martin told officers he was in the left-hand lane and Dunn was in the right-hand lane. As the cars approached Jackson St., Dunn made a left turn directly in front of him, he said. The mishap damaged the entire right side of Martin's auto and the entire left side of Dunn's car.

Another auto was damaged heavily, but the driver was unhurt, when it went onto a hillside on Pennsylvania Ave. at Elizabeth St. Saturday at 12:55 p.m., officers said.

The crash caused heavy damage to the left front of a 1969 model auto driven by Keith Koll, 16, of Pittsburgh. The youth told officers he was rounding a turn from Elizabeth St. onto Pennsylvania Ave. when he noted his car was too far to the right. He said he turned the wheel sharply, losing control of the car, which went upgrade onto a nearby embankment.

A 1964 sedan owned by Telma Hissam of 924 Blakeley St. was damaged on the right front door and right rear fender when struck by a hit-skip car while parked in Drury Ln. near Peach Alley between 10:50 and 11 a.m. Saturday, police said.

Nothing But Truth

LONDON (AP) — Trick television commercials that make goods seem better than they are, have been banned by Britain's Independent Television Authority.

Glass or plastic sheeting, for example, cannot now be used to give a shine to floors and furniture.

The House and Senate chambers of the U.S. Congress are limited in use to legislative business and may not be used for other purposes.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I prevent a rug from raveling at hte edges?

A.—By spreading clear plastic cement glue along the edges below the nap. When the glue dries, trim a bevel in the nap. The rug will not ravel, and you'll have a real professional-looking job.

Q. — How can I re-stiffen or re-size a small rug that has become limp and lifeless?

A. — This is not too difficult a job. Dissolve four ounces of flake glue completely in two quarts of boiling water. Then lay the rug, which has been cleaned thoroughly, face down on the floor and tack it at intervals to hold it straight. Brush your glue solution lightly and sparingly over the back of the rug, being careful not to let it soak through. Let the rug dry thoroughly for at least 24 hours before relaying it.

Q. — What is a good silver polish I can improvise at home?

A. — Old - fashioned laundry starch, made into a thick paste, does an excellent job. Rub it on the silver with a damp cloth, let stand a minute or so, then rub it dry with another soft cloth.

Trial Planned For Motorist

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today scheduled a hearing June 25 for a 26-year-old Maplewood man cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol last Wednesday on a charge of driving a truck on which no license plates were displayed.

James W. Ramsey of 407 Maplewood Ave. pleaded guilty to the charge, but told the judge he had borrowed the vehicle from a friend who is on vacation in Canada. The judge told Ramsey to bring his friend to court when the trial is held. Ramsey was cited on County Rd. 435 after a traffic mishap, the patrol said.

James L. Gooding, 19, of St. George St. was fined $15 and costs on a charge of driving 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. He was cited Sunday at 7:28 p.m. at E. 3rd St. and Broadway by Patrolman James Woods.

James N. Howarth, 21, of Beaver Falls forfeited a $27.50 bond on a charge of driving 40 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone on W. 6th St. at Jackson St. He was cited Saturday at 6:49 p.m.

Raymond Turner, 22, of 313 Union St. was ordered to pay court costs on a charge of operating an auto without a license. Cited May 24 at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts., he pleaded guilty May 29 and was granted a continuance until today to allow him time to obtain a new permit.

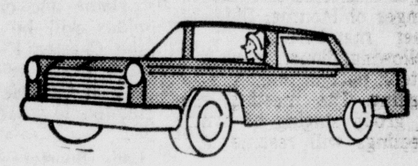

Stanley Jablonsky, 46, of Youngstown forfeited a $27.50 bond on a charge of driving 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone. He was cited June 8 on the Freeway.

Man Receives Year In Delinquency Case

LISBON — Charles R. Powell, 24, of West Point was sentenced to a year in the County Jail Friday by Judge Louis Tobin in Juvenile Court when he pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl by having sexual relations.

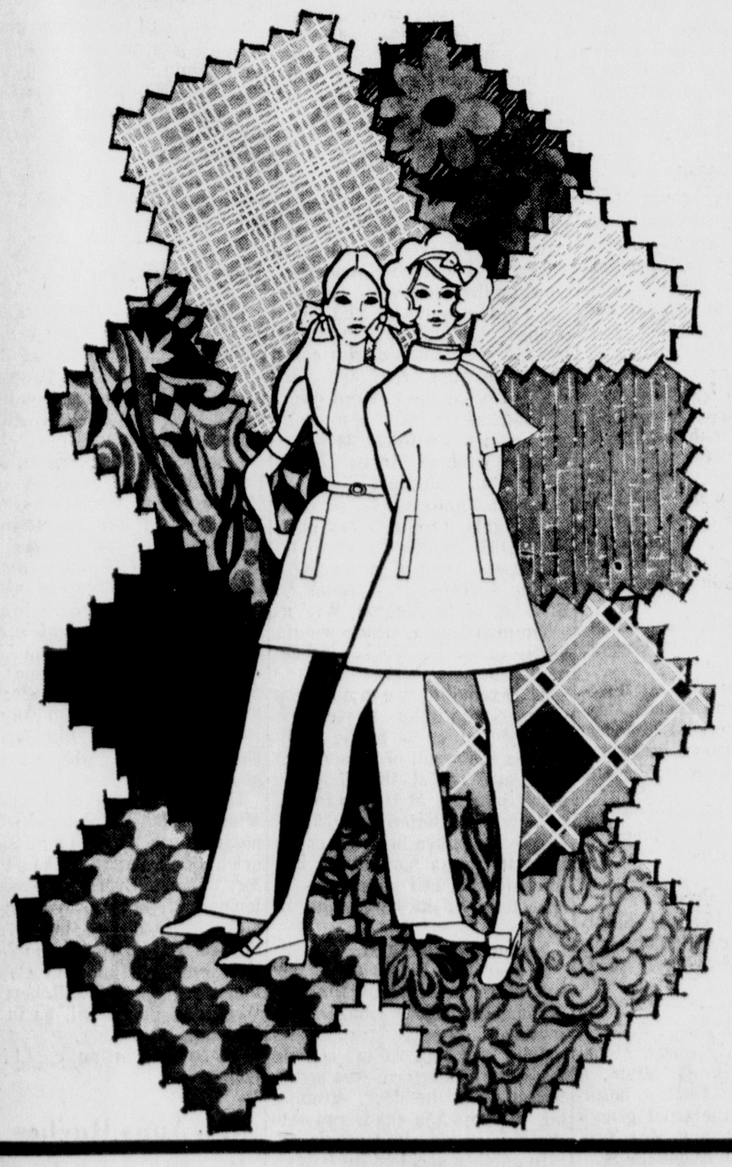

Thomas Davis of 1143 Ohio Ave., East Liverpool, pleaded not guilty to charges that he abused a 16-year-old East Liverpool girl, forced her into a car and attempted to assault her June 8. Judge Tobin set the hearing for 10 a.m. July 22.

ANN LANDERS

Capers In Cloakroom

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Mack is no kid (past 30), so keep this in mind when you answer.

We had dinner in a first class steak house Tuesday night. There was no checkroom, but the men hung their coats on hooks in the entrance way. Mac left his coat there. After dinner Mac's coat was gone.

He went to the manager and was told that the cloakroom is a convenience and the management is not responsible. Mack was furious.

Last night I was surprised when Mac suggested we go back to the steak house for dinner. He didn't wear a coat, but on the way out he helped himself to a fine-looking three-button number, which fit him perfect.

I was shocked and said so. Mack's defense was: "I'm not stealing. The owner of this coat will raise the roof, and the management will replace it. He won't be out anything. In the meantime, the joint owes me a coat."

Is Mack guilty of stealing? — CHAGRINED.

Dear Chag: When a person takes something that doesn't belong to him, it's stealing, no matter what the rationalization. Mack is as big a thief as the bum who stole HIS coat and you can tell him I said so.

Who Pays

Dear Ann: A young bride-to be just left my home. She was in tears. Her parents are divorced and it was one of the ugliest and messiest divorces that ever hit this town.

The girl's blood father insists on the right to give her away at the wedding, but he's either unable to pay for the affair or he refuses to do so. The girl's step-father has a lot of money but he refuses to pay for a wedding in which the blood father gets the honor of giving the bride away.

Dear Friend: How does the bride-to-be feel about her father? How does she feel about her stepfather? The selection should be based solely on sentiment. If she wants her blood father to give her away she should be willing to forego the lavish affair and settle for a simple ceremony — whatever he can afford. If the girl feels closer to her step-father, HE should have the honor. Her blood father should be an invited guest and he can accept or reject the invitation, as he chooses.

Watch Facts

Dear Ann: I'm bugged by something and I don't know whom to ask. So you're elected.

Dear Red: The watch is worn on the arm that is used less to diminish the chances for breakage. The doc chooses the watch arm when he gives a shot, for the same rason. Some shots produce discomfort and semi-incapacitation for a few hours and it's logical to put the less active arm out of commission.

Confidentially

To Is Silence Golden: Not always. It would have been an act of friendship if you had told the woman that her false eyelashes had fallen into the soup.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Clergyman Raps Black 'Manifesto'

POMEROY, Ohio (AP) a clergyman who has the blessing of most of his congreation plans to send letters shortly to 500 churches of every denomination in the state urging them to reject demands of the black manifesto.

One of the many frustrations for the Rev. William H. Perrin is in not knowing how his own denomination — the Church of Christ—will ultimately view the manifesto.

But he said he has practically the entire congregational support of his Trinity United Church of Christ and will resign if his church as a whole favors the controversial demands.

The black manifesto was drawn by the National Black Economic Development Conference and initially demanded $500 million in reparation for Negroes. The figure has risen to $3 billion.

"I cannot in the sight of God belong to any group that would overthrow the government," said the Rev. Mr. Perrin.

He said his own church has purchased printing equipment and other materials necessary for the statewide letter campaign.

"We're trying to urge all Christian denominations to vote no on giving funds for the black manifesto," he said.

In a letter to his congregation Sunday, the minister said: "It would not be easy for any of you, I know, to follow me out of this denomination.

"I would have to seek a new position with one of the few remaining denominations dedicated to stopping James Forman (leader of the black conference). This is the path of life I know we have to take."

He said he could be defrocked if his church accepted the manifesto.

Drunks Given Medals

By HAL BOYLE

Peter the Great once tried to cure alcoholic Russians during the 18th century by awarding them a medal. The medal weighed 18 pounds and had to be worn around the neck by prisoners sent to jail for drunkenness. Most emerged with more muscular necks — and still thirsty.

Even the pressure of sunlight must be taken into consideration by NASA scientists in plotting man's march to the moon. That pressure can alter the path of a spacecraft by several thousand miles.

One way to lower violence in our society and return it to calm may be to make our civilization quieter. Physiologists have found that men xeposed to prolonged loud noises are "more inclined to argue, fight or fly off the handle suddenly."

This is the golden anniversary of the state gasoline tax, inaugurated first in 1919 by Oregon with a one-cent a gallon levy. The tax, which has risen to 7 and 8 per cent in some states, has brought in, along with federal gasoline taxes, an estimated $120 billion during the last 50 years. Projected revenues this year: $9 billion.

Museum

mission has laid out this district for construction of small industrial plants. This plan has been accepted by city officials.

"2. — Plans are now under way for the construction of a new four-lane federal highway 30 through East Liverpool, which would pass very close to the suggested site for the museum and which would block all direct approaches to such a building.

"3. — The site is subject to floods from the Ohio River.

"4. — The tracks of the Penn Central Railroad are just to the rear of the proposed site and heavily loaded freight trains travel up and down these tracks 24 hours a day, causing much noise and vibration.

"5. — Construction of a large highway interchange to connect with the planned bridge, crossing the Ohio River, within a short distance from your suggested site would eliminate all parking in that vicinity.

"6. — The constant noise caused by the operation of river docks near by in loading and unloading freight would be a detriment.

"7. — West Second and Market Sts. are out of the way from the regular routes of travel in East Liverpool and would be difficult for tourists to find.

"8. — Many opinions have been expressed by city officials, members of the Planning Commission and local citizens in opposition to having a pottery museum erected in the city of East Liverpool in the local which you appear to favor."

The trustees, in their letter, pointed out they still favor the former post office building as the site of the museum, but did offer two other suggestions for consideration — a site at the corner of E. 4th St. and Broadway, opposite the Carnegie Public Library, or an addition to the present library building.

Using $250,000 the Ohio Society expects will be made available to it in state funds, Porter said under its proposal a tentative budget calls for $25,000 for and acquisition, $150,000 to erect a building of 3,000 square feet and renovate the old kiln, $50,000 for exhibits and $25,000 for contingencies.

He mentioned particularly the high cost of renovating the structure into a satisfactory museum.

He also said that the Ohio Society would "rule out the provision of space allocation to the East Liverpool Historical Society, which is anticipated will be requested, unless the society matches in some proportion the state allocation for the purpose of building a larger museum building with space for the local society."

He apparently meant that none of the local society's exhibits would be included in the new museum unless the society contributed toward the cost of the building.

House rules require election of a stand-in speaker when the regular speaker of the House of Representatives plans to be absent for more than three days.

Officers Are Installed By Jaycees, Auxiliary

New officers of the East Liverpool Jaycees and Jayceeettes were installed in ceremonies at the Willows Motel in Industry last week.

Mrs. Mary Ann Darrah, outgoing president of the Jayceeettes, installed Mrs. Beverly Hill as president and Mrs. Eva Woodburn as vice president.

Jack Hill was recipient of the Patrick J. O'Farrell Award given to the best committee chairman of the year. Woodburn was the winner of the "Jaycee of the Year" award; Ray Hilliard, the "Spoke" award; Dick Frankel, the "speak-up" award, and Woodburn, the "sparkplug" award.

Vince Laneve received an award for being the outstanding Jaycee over the past 15 to 26 years.

PAUL ZEHNDER
He's New President.

2 Men Are Arrested In Cherry Bomb Case

LISBON — Sheriff's deputies and local police arrested two men early Saturday and confiscated more than 1,000 "silver salutes," also known as cherry bombs or M-80's.

Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan said several firecracker complaints have been received in the last few days and every effort will be made to catch the offenders and run down the source of the bombs.

Out on $100 bonds for appearances Tuesday are Walter N. Thompson, 18, of Rogers RD 1, charged by Deputy Richard Koffel with the possession and sale of fireworks, and Wayne C. Boso, 24, charged by officer Ed Day with exploding the salutes from his second-floor apartment at 132 W. Lincoln Way between midnight and 2 a.m.

A third charge — "discharging fireworks"—will be filed today against William Degarmo, 20, of Grant St., Lisbon, according to the sheriff.

Day said state highway patrolmen also assisted in the investigation after the bombs went off. Day said they received permission to enter Boso's apartment and the suspect claimed he was "sound asleep." "Everyone else in town was awake," Day said.

Police said they received permission to search the apartment and found 23 of the bombs under a couch.

Subsequently, Deputy Koffel obtained permission to search Thompson's house near Elkton and found 20 boxes of the salutes. Each box contains 50 bombs. Officers said they learned Thompson bought the fireworks June 6 in Indiana for $2 per box and was reselling them for $6.50.

The deputy's affidavit filed in County Southwest Court here states that Thompson sold two boxes of the bombs to DeGarmo at Grant St.

Boso is scheduled for a hearing tomorrow night in mayor's court.

the appointment of Jacques Chaban-Delmas as premier. Chaban-Delmas has bten one of De Gaulle's most faithful supporters since World War II days and president of the National Assembly since 1952.

The victory had been widely forecast and was never in doubt from the minute the first returns came in Sunday. Fired as De Gaulle's premier a year ago, Pompidou, 57, rolled up a bigger margin in Sunday's election than the general himself gained in the 1965 presidential election.

Official returns for all of metropolitan France and part of the overseas areas gave Pompidou 57.78 per cent of the total, while his main opponent, interim President Alain Poher, got 42.2 per cent. But about 31 per cent of the 29.5 million registered voters stayed away from the polls—almost double the number who abstained three years ago.

Poher, who stepped into the Elysee Palace when De Gaulle quit in April, had campaigned to end "De Gaulle's "rule by oppression."

Congratulary messages flowed in the United States Britain, West Germany and other countries. De Gaulle, who sat out the presidential race in Ireland, cabled: "For all national and personal reasons, I send you my most cordial congratulations."

Pompidou announced: "The vote today seems to me to constitute a consolidation and even a consecration of this great reform that we owe to Gen. de Gaulle."

The Constitutional Council is scheduled to officially proclaim the results of the election Thursday night and Pompidou will assume the presidency Friday. There will be no formal swearing-in ceremony, but Poher said he would be on hand to welcome Pompidou to the Elysee Palace.

Pompidou is expected to announce his complete cabinet list Friday or Saturday.

The Communist party had called for the boycott after the first round of presidential balloting June 1 when Pompidou and Poher finished ahead of five other candidates. In that round Communist candidate Jacques Duclos got 21 per cent of the vote.

Pompidou, the grandson of farmers and the son of a school teacher, was teaching school in Paris when a friend nominated him for a job on De Gaulle's staff when the general headed the provisional government after the liberation of France.

After De Gaulle retired to his country home in eastern France in 1946, Pompidou kept in touch and was entrusted with a number of confidential missions.

Pompidou went to work at the Rothschild Bank and rose to a top administrative position. When De Gaulle returned to office in 1958, he brought back Pompidou as head of his personal staff—Chef de Cabinet—during the seven months De Gaulle served as premier while the constitution of the Fifth Republic was being prepared and approved.

When De Gaulle moved in as president in 1959, Pompidou went back to the bank, but he was still close to the president.

In 1962, Pompidou was named premier. At that time he was a political unknown, had never been elected to any public office but was pictured as a man who had De Gaulle's confidence and could be counted on for unflagging loyalty to his boss.

Pompidou emerged as the only strong hand at the helm during last year's student and labor strikes. He organized the Gaullist campaign that gave the general's men the biggest majority any party ever had in the French National Assembly.

De Gaulle praised him, then fired him last July. Some said De Gaulle feared Pompidou was getting too popular. Others said it was a wise move geared to make Pompidou his successor by giving him a freedom for political action he could never have had as premier.

troversial assault on Ap Bia Mountain. Conmy was hit in the face and knee by several small shell fragments. He was reported in good condition aboard a hospital ship.

Eleven paratroopers were killed and 46 wounded in the Saturday attack. Enemy losses were 32 killed.

The weekend attacks were the third and fourth by sappers in recent weeks in the A Shau Valley. Sappers, mainly volunteers, are demolition experts. Their mission is to penetrate defenses, inflict as many American casualties as possible and destroy equipment and bunkers.

Hearing Continued

NEW CUMBERLAND — Circuit Judge Ralph Pryor has granted a continuance until June 27 in a hearing for John R. Fortune, 22, of Newell, accused of burglary of Herche's Drug Store in Newell Feb. 3, and Jane E. Daggett, 22, also of Newell, accused of aiding and abetting Fortune. The two were indicted by the April Grand Jury.

With Perfect Grades

Ohio Youth To Graduate From College After Year

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Thomas H. Lagos admits he was "a bit lazy" in his final term at Wittenberg University here, but he graduates today with a straight A average — one year after his high school graduation.

Lagos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lagos, will enter the University of Michigan Law School next fall with a full tuition scholarship. He turned down similar offers at the Harvard and Chicago law schools.

Lagos was a National Merit Scholar winner. Last fall National Merit people inquired of the Wittenberg registrar why he was classified as a sophomore when he was only a first year scholarship recipient. Before the corrrespondence on the inquiry was completed, Lagos had been reclassified as a junior.

He began taking college courses after his junior year in high school. As a senior at Shawnee High School he carried a full load of high school and college courses.

By the time Lagos had graduated from high school last spring he had completed 15½ course hours of college work. Writtenberg requires only 36 hours to graduate.

Lagos received about 12 credit hours after successfully completing examinations on courses he did not attend.

This spring, when he admittted he was a bit lazy, Lagos study course in constitutional was taking one independent study course in constitutional law, studying for credit by examination in government finance and, "just to keep busy," taking a computor programming course at night. In addition he worked fulltime as a researcher for a Springfield firm.

"Tom Lagos is probably the best all-round student I have worked with in more than 20 years of teaching," said Robert P. Schultz, head of the Wittenberg University Economics Department. "He has a perfect academic average at Wittenberg and has achieved the highest advanced score on the Graduate Records Examination ever made by an economics major at Wittenberg. He has accepted his success with a sense of humility and with continued perseverance."

Lagos denies he has a photographic memory but says he has a high reading speed. He said he usually reads about 750-800 words a minute, but that if he wants to concentrate he reads only about 20 pages an hour.

He said he anticipates completing law school and four years as a Navy lawyer before returning to Springfield to practice law. He says he also wants to enter politics.

Varied Program Held By Grange At West Point

WEST POINT — "Flag Day" and "Father's Day" served as the program theme when the West Point Grange met Friday night at the hall.

Mrs. Lloyd Smith, lecturer, was in charge and reviewed the history of "Flag Day."

Readings were given by Mrs. Ralph Cusick, Mrs. Philip Carnes and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pozenel.

A series of quizzes concluded the program.

Carnes, master, presided during the business session when plans were made to exemplify degrees July 11.

The Women's Activity Committee reminded women of the group to plan for apron and cookie projects.

A donation was voted to Boy's Village at Smithville.

A card was read from Marcie Barnett relative to the County Grange youth meeting at Mile Branch Friday beginning at 6 p.m.

It was announced that Wednesday nights still will be work nights for the men at the hall. Wheelbarrows, sledgehammers and more volunteer workers are needed.

Finger foods are to be brought to the next meeting June 27.

Akron Bank Moves Money To New Home

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Several million dollars in cash and securities crossed the street at Cascade Plaza in downtown Akron Sunday under the watchful eye of 50 heavily armed policemen and Brink's Inc. guards.

A crane was used to hoist some of the larger vaults to the new home of the Akron National Bank and Trust Co. in the new Akron Center.

General Presents ROTC Rank To Son

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Emmett M. Tally Jr. of the Defense Construction Supply Center in Columbus, Ohio, Sunday awarded commissions to 84 University of Florida Reserve Officers Training Corps graduates.

Included among the 67 Army and 17 Air Force commissions was Gen. Tally's son, Lewis.

Three Are Arrested In Church Trouble

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Three persons arrested Sunday after a disturbance in the non - denomination Cathedral of Tomorrow in Cuyahoga Falls were scheduled to appear in court today on disorderly conduct charges.

North Hampton Township police said the three arrested were part of a group of eight who called themselves traveling evangelists and allegedly began giving their interpretations of the Scriptures during a service. A scuffle with some church members followed, police said.

Arrested were Daneil P. Welsh, 23, of Kansas City, Randell L. Rees, 20, of Los Angeles, and a 17-year-old.

ANN LANDERS

Capers In Cloakroom

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Mack is no kid (past 30), so keep this in mind when you answer.

We had dinner in a first class steak house Tuesday night. There was no checkroom, but the men hung their coats on hooks in the entrance way. Mac left his coat there. After dinner Mac's coat was gone.

He went to the manager and was told that the cloakroom is a convenience and the management is not responsible. Mack was furious.

Last night I was surprised when Mac suggested we go back to the steak house for dinner. He didn't wear a coat, but on the way out he helped himself to a fine-looking three-button number, which fit him perfect.

I was shocked and said so. Mack's defense was: "I'm not stealing. The owner of this coat will raise the roof, and the management will replace it. He won't be out anything. In the meantime, the joint owes me a coat."

Is Mack guilty of stealing? — CHAGRINED.

Dear Chag: When a person takes something that doesn't belong to him, it's stealing, no matter what the rationalization. Mack is as big a thief as the bum who stole HIS coat and you can tell him I said so.

Who Pays

Dear Ann: A young bride-to be just left my home. She was in tears. Her parents are divorced and it was one of the ugliest and messiest divorces that ever hit this town.

The girl's blood father insists on the right to give her away at the wedding, but he's either unable to pay for the affair or he refuses to do so. The girl's step-father has a lot of money but he refuses to pay for a wedding in which the blood father gets the honor of giving the bride away.

Dear Friend: How does the bride-to-be feel about her father? How does she feel about her stepfather? The selection should be based solely on sentiment. If she wants her blood father to give her away she should be willing to forego the lavish affair and settle for a simple ceremony — whatever he can afford. If the girl feels closer to her step-father, HE should have the honor. Her blood father should be an invited guest and he can accept or reject the invitation, as he chooses.

Watch Facts

Dear Ann: I'm bugged by something and I don't know whom to ask. So you're elected.

Dear Red: The watch is worn on the arm that is used less to diminish the chances for breakage. The doc chooses the watch arm when he gives a shot, for the same rason. Some shots produce discomfort and semi-incapacitation for a few hours and it's logical to put the less active arm out of commission.

Confidentially

To Is Silence Golden: Not always. It would have been an act of friendship if you had told the woman that her false eyelashes had fallen into the soup.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Clergyman Raps Black 'Manifesto'

POMEROY, Ohio (AP) a clergyman who has the blessing of most of his congreation plans to send letters shortly to 500 churches of every denomination in the state urging them to reject demands of the black manifesto.

One of the many frustrations for the Rev. William H. Perrin is in not knowing how his own denomination — the Church of Christ—will ultimately view the manifesto.

But he said he has practically the entire congregational support of his Trinity United Church of Christ and will resign if his church as a whole favors the controversial demands.

The black manifesto was drawn by the National Black Economic Development Conference and initially demanded $500 million in reparation for Negroes. The figure has risen to $3 billion.

"I cannot in the sight of God belong to any group that would overthrow the government," said the Rev. Mr. Perrin.

He said his own church has purchased printing equipment and other materials necessary for the statewide letter campaign.

"We're trying to urge all Christian denominations to vote no on giving funds for the black manifesto," he said.

In a letter to his congregation Sunday, the minister said: "It would not be easy for any of you, I know, to follow me out of this denomination.

"I would have to seek a new position with one of the few remaining denominations dedicated to stopping James Forman (leader of the black conference). This is the path of life I know we have to take."

He said he could be defrocked if his church accepted the manifesto.

Drunks Given Medals

By HAL BOYLE

Peter the Great once tried to cure alcoholic Russians during the 18th century by awarding them a medal. The medal weighed 18 pounds and had to be worn around the neck by prisoners sent to jail for drunkenness. Most emerged with more muscular necks — and still thirsty.

Even the pressure of sunlight must be taken into consideration by NASA scientists in plotting man's march to the moon. That pressure can alter the path of a spacecraft by several thousand miles.

One way to lower violence in our society and return it to calm may be to make our civilization quieter. Physiologists have found that men xeposed to prolonged loud noises are "more inclined to argue, fight or fly off the handle suddenly."

This is the golden anniversary of the state gasoline tax, inaugurated first in 1919 by Oregon with a one-cent a gallon levy. The tax, which has risen to 7 and 8 per cent in some states, has brought in, along with federal gasoline taxes, an estimated $120 billion during the last 50 years. Projected revenues this year: $9 billion.

Ohio Youth To Graduate From College After Year

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Thomas H. Lagos admits he was "a bit lazy" in his final term at Wittenberg University here, but he graduates today with a straight A average — one year after his high school graduation.

Lagos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lagos, will enter the University of Michigan Law School next fall with a full tuition scholarship. He turned down similar offers at the Harvard and Chicago law schools.

Lagos was a National Merit Scholar winner. Last fall National Merit people inquired of the Wittenberg registrar why he was classified as a sophomore when he was only a first year scholarship recipient. Before the corrrespondence on the inquiry was completed, Lagos had been reclassified as a junior.

He began taking college courses after his junior year in high school. As a senior at Shawnee High School he carried a full load of high school and college courses.

By the time Lagos had graduated from high school last spring he had completed 15½ course hours of college work. Writtenberg requires only 36 hours to graduate.

Lagos received about 12 credit hours after successfully completing examinations on courses he did not attend.

This spring, when he admittted he was a bit lazy, Lagos study course in constitutional was taking one independent study course in constitutional law, studying for credit by examination in government finance and, "just to keep busy," taking a computor programming course at night. In addition he worked fulltime as a researcher for a Springfield firm.

"Tom Lagos is probably the best all-round student I have worked with in more than 20 years of teaching," said Robert P. Schultz, head of the Wittenberg University Economics Department. "He has a perfect academic average at Wittenberg and has achieved the highest advanced score on the Graduate Records Examination ever made by an economics major at Wittenberg. He has accepted his success with a sense of humility and with continued perseverance."

Lagos denies he has a photographic memory but says he has a high reading speed. He said he usually reads about 750-800 words a minute, but that if he wants to concentrate he reads only about 20 pages an hour.

He said he anticipates completing law school and four years as a Navy lawyer before returning to Springfield to practice law. He says he also wants to enter politics.

Varied Program Held By Grange At West Point

WEST POINT — "Flag Day" and "Father's Day" served as the program theme when the West Point Grange met Friday night at the hall.

Mrs. Lloyd Smith, lecturer, was in charge and reviewed the history of "Flag Day."

Readings were given by Mrs. Ralph Cusick, Mrs. Philip Carnes and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pozenel.

Carnes, master, presided during the business session when plans were made to exemplify degrees July 11.

The Women's Activity Committee reminded women of the group to plan for apron and cookie projects.

A card was read from Marcie Barnett relative to the County Grange youth meeting at Mile Branch Friday beginning at 6 p.m.

It was announced that Wednesday nights still will be work nights for the men at the hall. Wheelbarrows, sledgehammers and more volunteer workers are needed.

Finger foods are to be brought to the next meeting June 27.

Akron Bank Moves Money To New Home

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Several million dollars in cash and securities crossed the street at Cascade Plaza in downtown Akron Sunday under the watchful eye of 50 heavily armed policemen and Brink's Inc. guards.

A crane was used to hoist some of the larger vaults to the new home of the Akron National Bank and Trust Co. in the new Akron Center.

General Presents ROTC Rank To Son

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Emmett M. Tally Jr. of the Defense Construction Supply Center in Columbus, Ohio, Sunday awarded commissions to 84 University of Florida Reserve Officers Training Corps graduates.

Included among the 67 Army and 17 Air Force commissions was Gen. Tally's son, Lewis.

Three Are Arrested In Church Trouble

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Three persons arrested Sunday after a disturbance in the non - denomination Cathedral of Tomorrow in Cuyahoga Falls were scheduled to appear in court today on disorderly conduct charges.

North Hampton Township police said the three arrested were part of a group of eight who called themselves traveling evangelists and allegedly began giving their interpretations of the Scriptures during a service. A scuffle with some church members followed, police said.

Busy Man Receives Degree In Law At 49

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bernard Tohl had four restaurants, real estate holdings, a wife, three sons and eight cats to look after. He wanted a law degree.

"In running a business," he reasoned, "you cannot always be calling an attorney."

He got a degree at age 49, as valedictorian at the University of San Fernando College of Law.

Degree Received By Karen Eells

Miss Karen Sue Eells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron R. Eells of Sunset Dr., Calcutta, received a Bachelor of Arts degree with honors in English during the 123rd commencement exercises of Mt. Union College Sunday in Alliance.

A 1965 graduate of Beaver Local High School, Miss Eells majored in English at Mt. Union completing work for her degree in March. She was employed as an English teacher for the last two months at Salem High School.

She has accepted a position as an 11th-grade English instructor at Glenwood High School in the Plain Local district near Canton.

Busy Man Receives Degree In Law At 49

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bernard Tohl had four restaurants, real estate holdings, a wife, three sons and eight cats to look after. He wanted a law degree.

"In running a business," he reasoned, "you cannot always be calling an attorney."

He got a degree at age 49, as valedictorian at the University of San Fernando College of Law.

Degree Received By Karen Eells

Miss Karen Sue Eells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron R. Eells of Sunset Dr., Calcutta, received a Bachelor of Arts degree with honors in English during the 123rd commencement exercises of Mt. Union College Sunday in Alliance.

A 1965 graduate of Beaver Local High School, Miss Eells majored in English at Mt. Union completing work for her degree in March. She was employed as an English teacher for the last two months at Salem High School.

She has accepted a position as an 11th-grade English instructor at Glenwood High School in the Plain Local district near Canton.

Vise Proves A Virtue If Given Proper Care

The item is seldom included on lists of basic tools, but a vise is as important a part of the basement or garage workshop as any other tool.

It can be even more important because many tools are almost useless without the aid of a vise.

FIRST OF all, play it safe. Remember that even a small vise can exert hundreds of pounds of pressure between its jaws. So keep your fingers out of the way when closing the jaws.

The amount of pressure a particular vise exerts is what it was designed for. Don't try to increase it. Do not extend the vise handle with a pipe to increase leverage. The vise you have was designed to handle only as much pressure as you can apply by hand on the handle.

Work as close to the vise jaws as you can. Allowing the material to stick out too far will cause vibration or even more extreme movement. This in turn could cause a tool to slip.

Many materials can be marred by placing them between the jaws of a vise with no protection. Both wood and metal can be damaged by the pressure, which may cause crushing or marring.

SANDWICH the material between blocks of scrap wood. Use pieces of plywood or other larger boards to distribute the pressure over a larger area. Sometimes delicate work can be protected by facing the jaws with aluminum or copper.

Most vises are equipped with pipe jaws so that pipe can be held securely and without crushing. These are half - rounded jaws that fit around the pipe.

Time Saved By 'Built-Ins'

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Several years ago, one of the leading hotel chains furnished a few rooms with built - in beds, bureaus, desks and chests of drawers. With the exception of the chairs, every piece of furniture was fixed in place.

After several weeks, during which a close check was kept of the time consumed in making up a vacated room, it was established that the built-in furniture enabled the maid to make up the room in exactly 30 per cent of the time required when the furniture was movable.

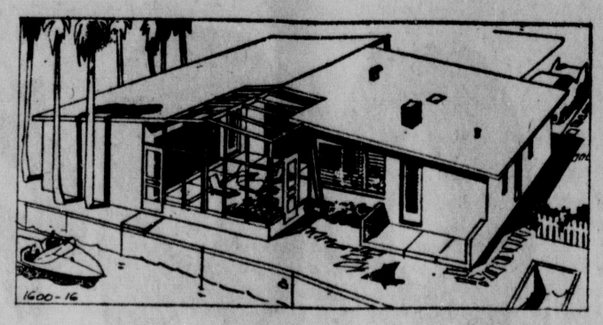

While this may seem impossible, the more one considers the matter, the more probable it seems. With fixed furniture there is no necessity of moving heavy pieces to sweep beneath them, thus reducing the floor area greatly. Occupants cannot move furniture around to suit themselves and the making - up chore is confined to a minimum.

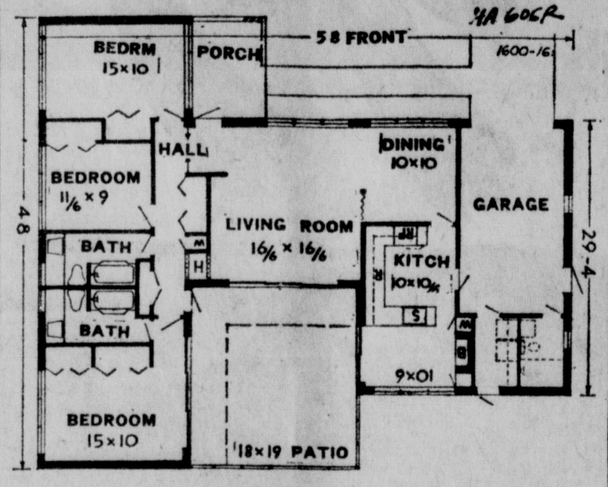

The same basic idea applies to the average house, particularly with children's room. The built - in idea will enable any housewife to make short work of the average bedroom. And one must not overlook the important point that a room furnished with built - ins is practically at 100 per cent good order at all times. There may be litter and light disorder, but there is none of the usual disarrangement of the furniture.

There is an excellent line of built - in room furnishings which can be incorporated in the average home. There is also a world of information and hints available in the better home magazines and the pages of newspapers.

For a marked decrease in the amount of work required to keep a house in order, there is nothing which contributes more than the built-in furniture. If you are limited in space, built-in furniture is ideal.

INDOOR-OUTDOOR LIVING. This all-masonry house with terrazzo or cork floors on concrete slabs, is particularly suitable for a waterfront location, and is designed for warm-climate areas. All major rooms have sliding glass doors. The extended "U" plan is centered around the living-dining area and a screened patio. The kitchen has its own informal dining area with a barbeque (B), laundry room and possible third bathroom. The one-car garage may easily be converted to house two or three autos. There's electric ceiling heat thermostatically controlled in each room, and central air conditioning with the equipment hung from the garage ceiling. Plan HA605R, with 1,600 square feet of living space, was designed by Jan Reiner, 1000 52nd St. North, St. Petersburg 10, Fla.

Solution Offered To Problem With Closet Shelves

Q. — I placed some shelves on the inside of a closet door about six months ago. Each shelf has a lip on the edge of it so bottles and other things won't slide off. Now the door has started to sag slightly and it won't close without much effort. I suspect the extra weight has caused the trouble. How can I correct it without removing the shelves?

A. — Your suspicions are probably correct. Check the screws in the hinges and see whether any are loose. If so, withdraw the screw, fill the hole with wood putty or plastic wood and, after it has hardened, reset the screw. While this is being done, place something under the door to keep it from sagging even more. You probably can prevent future trouble by installing a third hinge midway between the other two. One other thing: if there are extra - heavy items on any of the shelves, why not find another place for them?

Q. — THE paint keeps blistering and peeling at the rear of our house where the bathroom is located. The rest of the paint on that part of the house is in good condition. Is the bathroom the cause of the trouble?

A. — Yes. It is likely that the excessive moisture in the bathroom has no other place to escape except through the outside wall. It is going through the wall and then forcing its way out through the paint. Provide a way for the moisture to escape. Keep the window open whenever possible, but especially after someone has run the hot water in the sink, shower or bathtub. Better yet, get an exhaust fan for that room.

Playhouse Needs Proper Support

AP Newsfeatures

Q. — A couple of years ago, I saw a picture in a newspaper of a playhouse a man built for his children. There was a sandbox at the bottom, with posts in the four corners stretching up about 5 feet, then the playhouse. Could you tell me how big the posts would have to be to support the house, which seemed to be about a 10-foot square?

A. — Since a playhouse might be crowded with half a dozen or more children at the same time, it is best to lean to the side of extra safety. Use 4-by-4 posts, but don't rest the playhouse on them. Instead, use posts long enough so that they run right up to the roof, thus acting not only as supports but as part of the house.

The most important part of this construction is the solidity with which the posts are set into the ground. They must be at least 3 feet below the surface, completely enclosed by concrete and absolutely square and plumb. Also, after the concrete has started to set, keep it moistened periodically for several days. Then, and only then, proceed with the rest of the construction. Attach 2-by-6s to the outsides of the posts at ground level. These will also serve as the outside of the sandbox.

Program Can Cut Mishaps

By ANDY LANG
APNewsfeatures

Safety programs conducted by industry have been so successful that less than one - fifth of all accidents take place in plants.

Twice as many accidents occur in the home, or nearly 40 per cent of all accidents.

Some accidents cannot be avoided. Most can. Stairs are hazardous. Since we must have stairs, they should be well protected by railings, should avoid turns and should be well lighted or marked.

Also, don't place odds and ends on basement stairs temporarily with the intent of putting them away later. Many accidents occur during these "temporary" periods.

One of the strongest defenses against accidents in the home is neatness. Harriet Bishop Howe, who lectures on this subject to civic, fraternal, religious and social groups, places the blame for accidents primarily on parents even as is so often the case, when children's toys are responsible.

By providing hand locations ear-marked especially for toys and by insisting that children place them there parents can eliminate many such accidents. This applies to toys left around driveways, walks and garages as well as in the home.

Bathrooms and kitchens are high - incident accident areas. Proper handbars for tubs and showers; slip - proofing for tubs, shower stalls and bathroom floors, and no scatter rugs on slippery floors can keep accidents to a minimum.

Water and electricity spell trouble. Be particularly careful of electrial appliances in the bathroom. In the kitchen, the use of gloves will prevent many burns.

Industry tests have shown that the use of white or light paint in normally dark areas can reduce accidents.

Don't make an "octopus" out of an electrical outlet by plugging in several things at the same time. When a fuse blows out, try to find out what caused the trouble before putting in a new fuse. And never, never substitute a copper penny or anything else for a fuse, since it destroys the safety factor.

Saws and clippers will cut fingers as quickly as wood and hedges. Be sure there are no children playing in the area when using a power lawn mower.

Heavy lifting should be done with the legs and not the back. Don't run up and down stairs—even to answer an insistent phone. Don't walk away from running faucets or from any running equipment even for a minute. One minute can stretch to 15 or longer.

Sweeth Took Tooth

LONDON (AP) — Sweet news for Britain's ailing trade figures — the confectionery industry boosted its exports last year by a record 23 per cent to just over 30 million pounds ($72 million). Exports to dollar-area markets accounted for well over a third of sales at 11.7 million pounds ($28.1 million).

Columbus believed that his name, Christopher, "the Christ bearer," was a symbol and that he was destined to carry the Christian faith to untaught lands.

Q. — I HAVE an electric saw marked 9 amps. I want to get an extension cord for it. I know that it is important to get the proper-size wire, but I'm confused by wire sizes. Someone suggested that I use a number 14 wire. Is this correct?

A. — Wire sizes are confusing because the larger the number, the smaller the size of the wire. Thus, a number 12 wire is much larger than, say, a number 18. Which size you take depends on the amperage, whether it will be used on a 120 or 240- volt system and on the size of the extension cord. Assuming that the saw is being used on a 120-volt circuit and that the cord is 25 feet long, a number 16 wire size would be all right. If the cord is 50 feet long, use a number 14 wire.

Salineville Area News

Miss Myrtle Strabley 679-2266

SALINEVILLE — Miss Debi Felton was installed as honored queen of Job's Daughters, Bethel 68, at the Masonic Temple here.

Preceding the installation, the rose ceremony was held honoring the retiring queen, Miss Jan Blackburn. Following the ritual of signing the Bible, she presented her officers with white rosebuds.

A reception was held in the temple dining room. The social committee included Mrs. James Hogue and Mrs. Felton. Assisting were Miss Kris Wilson, Marsha Pisarsky and Pat Felton.

Aid To South Viet's Army Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern, a leading critic of U.S. Vietnam policy, has attacked a multimillion-dollar appropriation to pay for modernizing South Vietnam's armed forces.

The $308 million appropriation proposal, up for Senate consideration today, would help pay to train and equip South Vietnamese soldiers to take over an increasing share of combat operations now conducted by U.S. forces.

President Nixon cited the need for more and better trained South Vietnamese troops in announcing the withdrawal of 25,000 American fighting men later this summer.

But McGovern, the South Dakota Democrat who failed in a bid for his party's presidential nomination last year, challenged the program.

"We could spend $60 billion and still be no better off without a strong political base," he said. "Half of it will probably wind up in the hands of the Viet Cong."

The modernization item is part of a $4.45 billion catch-all appropriations bill to cover administration requests for the current bookkeeping year, which ends June 30.

All told, the budget for South Vietnamese modernization during that period totaled $526 million.

Oaths Given Officers At Boys State

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Supreme Court Justice C. William O'Neill administered the oath of office Sunday to Buckeye Boys State Governor Stan P. Silverstein, 17, of Findlay.

O'Neill also swore in Lt. Gov. Levern Crosby, 17, of Sandusky; Secretary of State Gary G. Fee of Vermillion; Treasurer Larry H. James of Elyria; Auditor Thomas L. Smathers of Columbus; and Atty. Gen. Jeff C. Barefoot of Toledo.

In non - partisan voting by citizens of the American Legion self - government workshop at Ohio University here, John T Unger, 17, of Canton, was elected chief justice of the Boys State Supreme Court.

Associate justices elected were: Steven Glenn, 16, of Georgetown; Martin White, 16, of Warren; John Weidemann, 16, of Norwlak; Geo. Rosenberg, 16, of Athens; Bruce Kostic, 17, of Rossford; and Donald Hare, 16, of Lorain.

Gov. Silverstein will call the state legislature to order today. He will confer tonight with Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes when Rhodes addresses the Boys State convention.

Vise Proves A Virtue If Given Proper Care

The item is seldom included on lists of basic tools, but a vise is as important a part of the basement or garage workshop as any other tool.

It can be even more important because many tools are almost useless without the aid of a vise.

FIRST OF all, play it safe. Remember that even a small vise can exert hundreds of pounds of pressure between its jaws. So keep your fingers out of the way when closing the jaws.

The amount of pressure a particular vise exerts is what it was designed for. Don't try to increase it. Do not extend the vise handle with a pipe to increase leverage. The vise you have was designed to handle only as much pressure as you can apply by hand on the handle.

Work as close to the vise jaws as you can. Allowing the material to stick out too far will cause vibration or even more extreme movement. This in turn could cause a tool to slip.

Many materials can be marred by placing them between the jaws of a vise with no protection. Both wood and metal can be damaged by the pressure, which may cause crushing or marring.

SANDWICH the material between blocks of scrap wood. Use pieces of plywood or other larger boards to distribute the pressure over a larger area. Sometimes delicate work can be protected by facing the jaws with aluminum or copper.

Most vises are equipped with pipe jaws so that pipe can be held securely and without crushing. These are half - rounded jaws that fit around the pipe.

Time Saved By 'Built-Ins'

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Several years ago, one of the leading hotel chains furnished a few rooms with built - in beds, bureaus, desks and chests of drawers. With the exception of the chairs, every piece of furniture was fixed in place.

After several weeks, during which a close check was kept of the time consumed in making up a vacated room, it was established that the built-in furniture enabled the maid to make up the room in exactly 30 per cent of the time required when the furniture was movable.

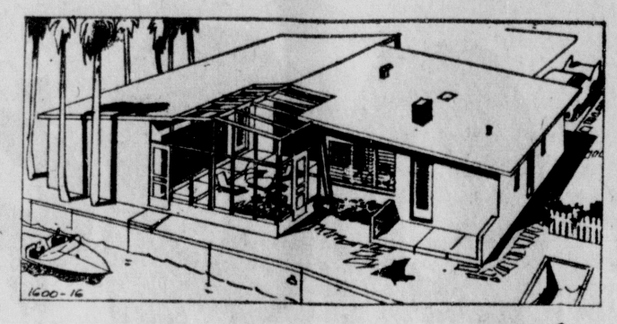

While this may seem impossible, the more one considers the matter, the more probable it seems. With fixed furniture there is no necessity of moving heavy pieces to sweep beneath them, thus reducing the floor area greatly. Occupants cannot move furniture around to suit themselves and the making - up chore is confined to a minimum.

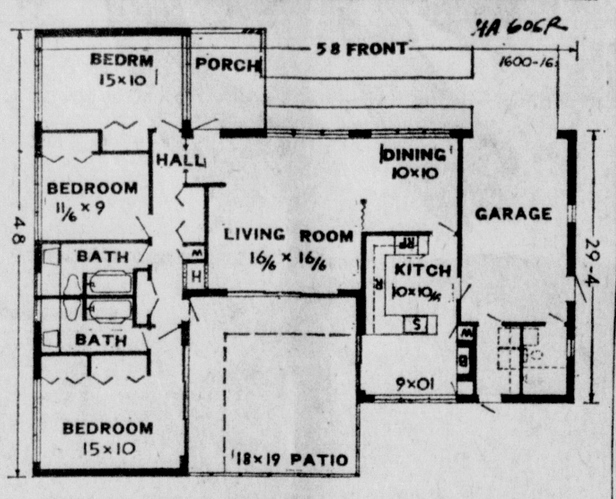

The same basic idea applies to the average house, particularly with children's room. The built - in idea will enable any housewife to make short work of the average bedroom. And one must not overlook the important point that a room furnished with built - ins is practically at 100 per cent good order at all times. There may be litter and light disorder, but there is none of the usual disarrangement of the furniture.

There is an excellent line of built - in room furnishings which can be incorporated in the average home. There is also a world of information and hints available in the better home magazines and the pages of newspapers.

For a marked decrease in the amount of work required to keep a house in order, there is nothing which contributes more than the built-in furniture. If you are limited in space, built-in furniture is ideal.

INDOOR-OUTDOOR LIVING. This all-masonry house with terrazzo or cork floors on concrete slabs, is particularly suitable for a waterfront location, and is designed for warm-climate areas. All major rooms have sliding glass doors. The extended "U" plan is centered around the living-dining area and a screened patio. The kitchen has its own informal dining area with a barbeque (B), laundry room and possible third bathroom. The one-car garage may easily be converted to house two or three autos. There's electric ceiling heat thermostatically controlled in each room, and central air conditioning with the equipment hung from the garage ceiling. Plan HA605R, with 1,600 square feet of living space, was designed by Jan Reiner, 1000 52nd St. North, St. Petersburg 10, Fla.

Solution Offered To Problem With Closet Shelves

Q. — I placed some shelves on the inside of a closet door about six months ago. Each shelf has a lip on the edge of it so bottles and other things won't slide off. Now the door has started to sag slightly and it won't close without much effort. I suspect the extra weight has caused the trouble. How can I correct it without removing the shelves?

A. — Your suspicions are probably correct. Check the screws in the hinges and see whether any are loose. If so, withdraw the screw, fill the hole with wood putty or plastic wood and, after it has hardened, reset the screw. While this is being done, place something under the door to keep it from sagging even more. You probably can prevent future trouble by installing a third hinge midway between the other two. One other thing: if there are extra - heavy items on any of the shelves, why not find another place for them?

Q. — THE paint keeps blistering and peeling at the rear of our house where the bathroom is located. The rest of the paint on that part of the house is in good condition. Is the bathroom the cause of the trouble?

A. — Yes. It is likely that the excessive moisture in the bathroom has no other place to escape except through the outside wall. It is going through the wall and then forcing its way out through the paint. Provide a way for the moisture to escape. Keep the window open whenever possible, but especially after someone has run the hot water in the sink, shower or bathtub. Better yet, get an exhaust fan for that room.

Playhouse Needs Proper Support

AP Newsfeatures

Q. — A couple of years ago, I saw a picture in a newspaper of a playhouse a man built for his children. There was a sandbox at the bottom, with posts in the four corners stretching up about 5 feet, then the playhouse. Could you tell me how big the posts would have to be to support the house, which seemed to be about a 10-foot square?

A. — Since a playhouse might be crowded with half a dozen or more children at the same time, it is best to lean to the side of extra safety. Use 4-by-4 posts, but don't rest the playhouse on them. Instead, use posts long enough so that they run right up to the roof, thus acting not only as supports but as part of the house.

The most important part of this construction is the solidity with which the posts are set into the ground. They must be at least 3 feet below the surface, completely enclosed by concrete and absolutely square and plumb. Also, after the concrete has started to set, keep it moistened periodically for several days. Then, and only then, proceed with the rest of the construction. Attach 2-by-6s to the outsides of the posts at ground level. These will also serve as the outside of the sandbox.

Program Can Cut Mishaps

By ANDY LANG
APNewsfeatures

Safety programs conducted by industry have been so successful that less than one - fifth of all accidents take place in plants.

Twice as many accidents occur in the home, or nearly 40 per cent of all accidents.

Some accidents cannot be avoided. Most can. Stairs are hazardous. Since we must have stairs, they should be well protected by railings, should avoid turns and should be well lighted or marked.

Also, don't place odds and ends on basement stairs temporarily with the intent of putting them away later. Many accidents occur during these "temporary" periods.

One of the strongest defenses against accidents in the home is neatness. Harriet Bishop Howe, who lectures on this subject to civic, fraternal, religious and social groups, places the blame for accidents primarily on parents even as is so often the case, when children's toys are responsible.

By providing hand locations ear-marked especially for toys and by insisting that children place them there parents can eliminate many such accidents. This applies to toys left around driveways, walks and garages as well as in the home.

Bathrooms and kitchens are high - incident accident areas. Proper handbars for tubs and showers; slip - proofing for tubs, shower stalls and bathroom floors, and no scatter rugs on slippery floors can keep accidents to a minimum.

Water and electricity spell trouble. Be particularly careful of electrial appliances in the bathroom. In the kitchen, the use of gloves will prevent many burns.

Industry tests have shown that the use of white or light paint in normally dark areas can reduce accidents.

Don't make an "octopus" out of an electrical outlet by plugging in several things at the same time. When a fuse blows out, try to find out what caused the trouble before putting in a new fuse. And never, never substitute a copper penny or anything else for a fuse, since it destroys the safety factor.

Saws and clippers will cut fingers as quickly as wood and hedges. Be sure there are no children playing in the area when using a power lawn mower.

Heavy lifting should be done with the legs and not the back. Don't run up and down stairs—even to answer an insistent phone. Don't walk away from running faucets or from any running equipment even for a minute. One minute can stretch to 15 or longer.

Sweeth Took Tooth

LONDON (AP) — Sweet news for Britain's ailing trade figures — the confectionery industry boosted its exports last year by a record 23 per cent to just over 30 million pounds ($72 million). Exports to dollar-area markets accounted for well over a third of sales at 11.7 million pounds ($28.1 million).

Columbus believed that his name, Christopher, "the Christ bearer," was a symbol and that he was destined to carry the Christian faith to untaught lands.

Q. — I HAVE an electric saw marked 9 amps. I want to get an extension cord for it. I know that it is important to get the proper-size wire, but I'm confused by wire sizes. Someone suggested that I use a number 14 wire. Is this correct?

A. — Wire sizes are confusing because the larger the number, the smaller the size of the wire. Thus, a number 12 wire is much larger than, say, a number 18. Which size you take depends on the amperage, whether it will be used on a 120 or 240- volt system and on the size of the extension cord. Assuming that the saw is being used on a 120-volt circuit and that the cord is 25 feet long, a number 16 wire size would be all right. If the cord is 50 feet long, use a number 14 wire.

Happiness For Jimmie

A Winter Show in Summertime

The title is "Carol Burnett Presents the Jimmie Rodgers Show."

But, as Carol would be the first to say, she should share billing with a brilliant brain surgeon, the neurological laboratories at St. Vincent's Hospital, several assorted medical miracles and even a lime popsicle.

Cecil Smith

"When they rolled me out of the operating room after the most critical brain surgery, my brother was waiting for me," said Jimmie. "He says I said to him 'happiness is a lime popsicle' and when I said that he knew I was going to make it."

-:-

THE TALL, lean, dark-haired folk singer seems on this sunny afternoon the picture of health. Half his skull is steel plate, medication is a daily ritual and will ever be, but he is a quick, laughing lad, talking easily of his return from the threshold of death. He says he's getting stronger all the time. Even his golf game (he was once a 4-handicap player) is coming back.

But the really important thing to Jimmie is that he's performing again.

His summer show replacing the Burnett bash Monday night and introduced by Carol's husband, Joe Hamilton, is, both Jimmie and Joe insist, a winter show in the summertime. That is, it's not one of the cheap, throwaway musical hours offered in the hot weather but a program prepared with all the care and quality of a prime-time fall entry.

WAYNE NEWTON and Dana Valery are guests on the opening session; Vikki Lawrence and Lyle Waggoner of Carol's show will appear weekly, as will the comedy team of Nancy Austin and Bill Fanning, following their smash hit apperance in Las Vegas. And Jimmie is enthusiastic about a young singing group, the Burgundy Street Singers.

It's no secret CBS is grooming the show for a possible mid-season entry next year, hoping for the same success the network has with Glen Campbell.

Glen and Jimmie are old friends. Campbell played guitar on most of Rodgers' records. But Jimmie sings folk, not country-Western. The difference, he says, is both in vocal and musical inflection.

"I COULD SHOW YOU in a minute on a guitar," he said. "I love country-Western. It stays popular because it's so honest. But folk music is more philosopical, more sophisticated. The two overlap but they're very different."

"I can do country, but it's not natural to me like it is to Glen. He's a country boy, he's from down there. I'm from the northwest, a little town in Washington; Glen grew up on country, I grew up on pretty ballads."

Rodgers is an articulate and graceful human with his own wry sense of humor ("It's getting so kids would rather go to Vietnam than go to college and fight.") But there are no jokes about the nightmare that ocurred to him. It made headlines across the country.

IT WAS the Christmas season of 1967. Jimmie had been Christmas shopping for his wife, Colleen, and their children, Michelle, 9, and Michael, 5. He'd stopped at a couple of parties, though he swears he's not much of a drinker. He and a friend in separate cars started toward his suburban home in Granada Hills.

The friend arrived first and, after a long wait, retraced the drive to look for Jimmie. He found him in his undamaged car, skull crushed, wrist broken. But police were involved, including an off-duty officer with a record of brutality.

Jimmie still can remember nothing that happened. He is pressing his $11 million suit against the city of Los Angeles — "not to persecute anybody but this is the only way to find out what really happened. I want to know, I have to know!

THE CASE caused a volatile stench in Los Angeles. The involvements of police, the explanation Jimmie must have fallen, the mild punishment (temporary suspensions) given officers for not following procedure — all this seemed so minor in a case where police apparently left an injured, possibly dying man beside a road without help.

What Jimmie remembers is the long series of brain operations, a terrible dryness of his mouth that could be quenched only by lime popsicles which his broher fed him. He has undying gratitude to Joey Bishop, whom he scarcely knew, but who kept Jimmie and the Rodgers case before the public on his nightly show.

There is a sense in Rodgers of having a second chance at life and a consequent care he is taking with his work more than he ever did before—particularly his composing and writing. He has written a number of new songs he will use on the show; he's finishing a book of poems. And beginning a novel.

Rockefeller Off Again On Latin Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller leaves today on the third leg of his trouble-plagued presidential mission to Latin America. Demonstrators have promised him a hot reception in Brazil and Uruguay.

The New York governor was to depart from Kennedy Airport at 8 a.m. on a nine-hour nonstop flight to Brasilia, Brazil's modern, backwoods capital.

His three-day visit to Brazil, Latin America's largest and most populous country, will be his longest stay in any one nation on this tour.

Since Rockefeller began his fact-finding mission for President Nixon in Mexico City May 11, his tour has aroused protest demonstrations and violence that left at least three dead and scores wounded.

Peru, Venezuela and Chile asked him to postpone or cancel his stop there. Because of threatened violence, his call on Bolivia was reduced to a two-hour airport stop.

The value of a "blitz-type" tour and the wisdom of continuing it amid such hostility has been questioned by leading businessmen and newspapers in many Latin American countries and also in the United States.

Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) described the mission last week as a "farce" that should be ended.

But Rockefeller defends it as useful. He has said that to stop the mission now "would be a victory for the enemies of the people of Latin America."

Anglers Checksd

LONDON (AP) — The Trent River Authority reports up to 1,500 anglers are "hooked" each year on fishing without licenses in the river in the English midlands.

He's Bone Artist

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — Wayne K. Patterson, warden of the Colorado Penitentiary, uses acrylic paints to turn bleached bones of animals into cartoon figures. Patterson said he and his wife, Mary, were hunting arrowheads one day and he sat down to take a breather "when this old white bone caught my eye and started staring back."

THE 10 MINUTE STOP LIGHT

Not really 10 minutes, maybe, but it seems like it. The seat's so hot it burns. Your shirt is stuck to your back, and you've just about had it! Sound familiar? OK, let's talk about a Thermo King air conditioner for your car.

Take a smooth and quiet Custom 500 model, for instance. It cools faster and more efficiently than even the far-more-expensive factory systems. And it dehumidifies, and filters out dust, dirt and pollen at the same time. You can install it in just a few hours and switch it to your next car when you trade. Easy payment terms available.

Preceding the installation, the rose ceremony was held honoring the retiring queen, Miss Jan Blackburn. Following the ritual of signing the Bible, she presented her officers with white rosebuds.

A reception was held in the temple dining room. The social committee included Mrs. James Hogue and Mrs. Felton. Assisting were Miss Kris Wilson, Marsha Pisarsky and Pat Felton.

Aid To South Viet's Army Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern, a leading critic of U.S. Vietnam policy, has attacked a multimillion-dollar appropriation to pay for modernizing South Vietnam's armed forces.

The $308 million appropriation proposal, up for Senate consideration today, would help pay to train and equip South Vietnamese soldiers to take over an increasing share of combat operations now conducted by U.S. forces.

President Nixon cited the need for more and better trained South Vietnamese troops in announcing the withdrawal of 25,000 American fighting men later this summer.

But McGovern, the South Dakota Democrat who failed in a bid for his party's presidential nomination last year, challenged the program.

"We could spend $60 billion and still be no better off without a strong political base," he said. "Half of it will probably wind up in the hands of the Viet Cong."

The modernization item is part of a $4.45 billion catch-all appropriations bill to cover administration requests for the current bookkeeping year, which ends June 30.

All told, the budget for South Vietnamese modernization during that period totaled $526 million.

Oaths Given Officers At Boys State

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Supreme Court Justice C. William O'Neill administered the oath of office Sunday to Buckeye Boys State Governor Stan P. Silverstein, 17, of Findlay.

O'Neill also swore in Lt. Gov. Levern Crosby, 17, of Sandusky; Secretary of State Gary G. Fee of Vermillion; Treasurer Larry H. James of Elyria; Auditor Thomas L. Smathers of Columbus; and Atty. Gen. Jeff C. Barefoot of Toledo.

In non - partisan voting by citizens of the American Legion self - government workshop at Ohio University here, John T Unger, 17, of Canton, was elected chief justice of the Boys State Supreme Court.

Associate justices elected were: Steven Glenn, 16, of Georgetown; Martin White, 16, of Warren; John Weidemann, 16, of Norwlak; Geo. Rosenberg, 16, of Athens; Bruce Kostic, 17, of Rossford; and Donald Hare, 16, of Lorain.

Gov. Silverstein will call the state legislature to order today. He will confer tonight with Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes when Rhodes addresses the Boys State convention.

Legislators Set To Study Ohio Education Proposal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio legislators return to the Statehouse today with prospects they will soon face an education-tax package again pushed by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Earlier this year, Rhodes initated a sweeping program of education reform and new taxes to finance it, but then dropped the package in April. It was reported at the time that he felt Ohioans were opposed to new taxes.

The governor met secretly with House and Senate Republican leaders last Thursday and indications are he will back the proposal again.

"The governor is going to reassert a positive role," a source said. "After he backed off, things were in a muddle for a long time. It looks like things are going to get moving again."

Returning House members face a bill to prohibit "medical quackery" when they return to the floor tonight.

The Senate - originated bill provides $500 to $1,000 fines and a year in jail for first offenders and up to $5,000 and five years in jail for second offenses.

Existing law, sponsors said, makes it a criminal offense to masquerade as a physician but does not specify others who hold themselves out as medical experts.

Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, prime sponsor of the bill in the Senate, said medical quacks annually bilk the public of $2 billion to $3 billion.

Persons could be charged under the bill if there is substantial evidence to show drugs or cures they recommended are "not effective as represented."

The House also will be awaiting anxiously to see if the Sunday liquor sales bill, which passed 50 to 45 last Wednesday, comes back for reconsideration.

Rumors circulated Thursday the bill would be brought back on a motion from a representative who voted against it earlier.

Under House rules, the action would have to be taken before today's session is adjourned. If such a move isn't forthcoming, the bill moves to the Senate for consideration.

The measure would permit local option elections to determine if Sunday liquor sales should be permitted. Hotel interests in Cincinnati and Cleveland are prime backers of the measure.

Hancock Sets 'Head Start' Registration

Registration for the Hancock County "Head Start" summer program is now under way.

Parents may enroll children by contacing the Pupil Service Office in Weirton, the New Manchester School or the Chester Primary School, Ray O. Stevens, director, has announced.

Stevens said the program is scheduled to begin June 30 and end Aug. 8. Approximately 60 will be enrolled.

Pupils will be given breakfast and lunch and transportation will be furnished to and from school. To be eligible for the program, the child must be from a low - income family, Stevens pointed out.

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I improvise a pressing cloth when I don't have the real thing at hand:

A. — Try using some brown wrapping paper or newspaper when pressing suits, skirts, or dresses. Go over the paper with a damp cloth, place it on the garment, and press with a moderately hot iron. This usually does a real neat job.

Q. — How can I do a good cleaning job on enameled woodwork?

A. — You can do this very nicely with a mixture of one cup kerosene, one cup vinegar, and a half - cup water, all shaken up in a bottle, applying to the woodwork with a soft cloth, then followed up with a dry-cloth polishing.

Q. — How can I improve the appearance of black suede shoes?

Personalities In The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's wife and daughters have given him a surfboard for Father's Day, but he's going to reserve it for guest use.

"I'll never ride that," the President vowed when his daughters handed him a replica of the surfboard in the Rose Garden of the White House Sunday. The real thing will be delivered later to his new home at San Clemente, Calif.

Tricia Nixon suggested that her father, who is 56, could at least paddle around on the board. He said that might work out, but for actual stand-up riding on the Pacific swells he will lend the board to members of the White House press corps.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Rudy Vallee, 67-year-old crooner-actor, was pulled from the churning waters of the Salt river Sunday but lost his swim trunks.

Vallee, who does not swim, was floating down the river on an inner tube when the accident occurred.

Vallee's inner tube, tied to seven others, capsied when they floated into rapids.

Car dealer Julian Pegler, who was riding one of the other tubes, swam after Vallee and brought him safely to shore. The trunks were not found.

TOKYO (AP) — The newspaper Yomiuri said today Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia is script writer, producer, director and an actor in a film depicting Japan as his country's liberator from the French.

The movie, "Rose of Bokor," costars his wife, Princess Monik, as a Cambodian girl who falls in love with a Japanese colonel, played by the prince.

The Japanese army suppressed the French administration in Indochina during World War II and Sihanouk, then king of Cambodia, proclaimed his country's independence. French authority was restored after the war ended, but Cambodia became independent again in 1953.

CHETEK, Wis. (AP) — John Laird, son of Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, has been married to Miss Nancy Huset, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Huset of chetek.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman has been discharged from a hospital where he underwent an operation for glaucoma, an eye disease.

Doctors said Sunday the operation on Rahman, who is 67, was a complete success, but that he had been advised to convalesce for a month before resuming his duties.

Ralph Drake Resigns As Game Protector

Ralph Drake has resigned as Columbiana County game protector to accept an appointment as a county deputy sheriff.

Drake, a resident of 436 W. Maple St., Lisbon, has served in the county four years, moving here from Wayne County.

His resignation will become effective June 30. He is married and has two sons and a daughter.

In announcing the change, Drake thanked the sportsmen and other residents who have aided him in his enforcement of state game laws.

Mayor No Exception

CHESTERFIELD, England (AP) — Mayor Evelyn Rees thought the yellow no - parking lines painted on the street outside the town hall weren't meant for her so she parked there twice to go shopping and have a hair-do. She got two tickets. Mrs. Rees didn't understand the regulations, her attorney explained to a magistrate, but the mayor was fined 4 pounds ($9.60) anyway.

Restoration Set

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Cape Town's Malay quarter, housing the descendants of slaves shipped from the old Dutch East Indies, will be reconstructed as a historical relic. The City Council was told the government would pay about half of the Rands 677,000 ($947,800) costs of restoring some of the white - washed colonial-style cottages.

Festival Association Will Meet At Lisbon

LISBON — The Lisbon Festival Association will meet at 8 tonight in Village Hall to hear reports of committees planning for the second annual Johnny Appleseed Festival Sept. 18-20.

Filmed in color by Kenneth Finnin of Canfield, it featured the first festival last September and included pictures of other attractions in Columbiana County and the operations of businessmen who sponsored the film.

Happiness For Jimmie

The title is "Carol Burnett Presents the Jimmie Rodgers Show."

But, as Carol would be the first to say, she should share billing with a brilliant brain surgeon, the neurological laboratories at St. Vincent's Hospital, several assorted medical miracles and even a lime popsicle.

Cecil Smith

"When they rolled me out of the operating room after the most critical brain surgery, my brother was waiting for me," said Jimmie. "He says I said to him 'happiness is a lime popsicle' and when I said that he knew I was going to make it."

-:-

THE TALL, lean, dark-haired folk singer seems on this sunny afternoon the picture of health. Half his skull is steel plate, medication is a daily ritual and will ever be, but he is a quick, laughing lad, talking easily of his return from the threshold of death. He says he's getting stronger all the time. Even his golf game (he was once a 4-handicap player) is coming back.

But the really important thing to Jimmie is that he's performing again.

His summer show replacing the Burnett bash Monday night and introduced by Carol's husband, Joe Hamilton, is, both Jimmie and Joe insist, a winter show in the summertime. That is, it's not one of the cheap, throwaway musical hours offered in the hot weather but a program prepared with all the care and quality of a prime-time fall entry.

WAYNE NEWTON and Dana Valery are guests on the opening session; Vikki Lawrence and Lyle Waggoner of Carol's show will appear weekly, as will the comedy team of Nancy Austin and Bill Fanning, following their smash hit apperance in Las Vegas. And Jimmie is enthusiastic about a young singing group, the Burgundy Street Singers.

It's no secret CBS is grooming the show for a possible mid-season entry next year, hoping for the same success the network has with Glen Campbell.

Glen and Jimmie are old friends. Campbell played guitar on most of Rodgers' records. But Jimmie sings folk, not country-Western. The difference, he says, is both in vocal and musical inflection.

"I COULD SHOW YOU in a minute on a guitar," he said. "I love country-Western. It stays popular because it's so honest. But folk music is more philosopical, more sophisticated. The two overlap but they're very different."

"I can do country, but it's not natural to me like it is to Glen. He's a country boy, he's from down there. I'm from the northwest, a little town in Washington; Glen grew up on country, I grew up on pretty ballads."

Rodgers is an articulate and graceful human with his own wry sense of humor ("It's getting so kids would rather go to Vietnam than go to college and fight.") But there are no jokes about the nightmare that ocurred to him. It made headlines across the country.

IT WAS the Christmas season of 1967. Jimmie had been Christmas shopping for his wife, Colleen, and their children, Michelle, 9, and Michael, 5. He'd stopped at a couple of parties, though he swears he's not much of a drinker. He and a friend in separate cars started toward his suburban home in Granada Hills.

The friend arrived first and, after a long wait, retraced the drive to look for Jimmie. He found him in his undamaged car, skull crushed, wrist broken. But police were involved, including an off-duty officer with a record of brutality.

Jimmie still can remember nothing that happened. He is pressing his $11 million suit against the city of Los Angeles — "not to persecute anybody but this is the only way to find out what really happened. I want to know, I have to know!

THE CASE caused a volatile stench in Los Angeles. The involvements of police, the explanation Jimmie must have fallen, the mild punishment (temporary suspensions) given officers for not following procedure — all this seemed so minor in a case where police apparently left an injured, possibly dying man beside a road without help.

What Jimmie remembers is the long series of brain operations, a terrible dryness of his mouth that could be quenched only by lime popsicles which his broher fed him. He has undying gratitude to Joey Bishop, whom he scarcely knew, but who kept Jimmie and the Rodgers case before the public on his nightly show.

There is a sense in Rodgers of having a second chance at life and a consequent care he is taking with his work more than he ever did before—particularly his composing and writing. He has written a number of new songs he will use on the show; he's finishing a book of poems. And beginning a novel.

Rockefeller Off Again On Latin Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller leaves today on the third leg of his trouble-plagued presidential mission to Latin America. Demonstrators have promised him a hot reception in Brazil and Uruguay.

The New York governor was to depart from Kennedy Airport at 8 a.m. on a nine-hour nonstop flight to Brasilia, Brazil's modern, backwoods capital.

His three-day visit to Brazil, Latin America's largest and most populous country, will be his longest stay in any one nation on this tour.

Since Rockefeller began his fact-finding mission for President Nixon in Mexico City May 11, his tour has aroused protest demonstrations and violence that left at least three dead and scores wounded.

Peru, Venezuela and Chile asked him to postpone or cancel his stop there. Because of threatened violence, his call on Bolivia was reduced to a two-hour airport stop.

The value of a "blitz-type" tour and the wisdom of continuing it amid such hostility has been questioned by leading businessmen and newspapers in many Latin American countries and also in the United States.

Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) described the mission last week as a "farce" that should be ended.

But Rockefeller defends it as useful. He has said that to stop the mission now "would be a victory for the enemies of the people of Latin America."

Anglers Checksd

LONDON (AP) — The Trent River Authority reports up to 1,500 anglers are "hooked" each year on fishing without licenses in the river in the English midlands.

He's Bone Artist

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — Wayne K. Patterson, warden of the Colorado Penitentiary, uses acrylic paints to turn bleached bones of animals into cartoon figures. Patterson said he and his wife, Mary, were hunting arrowheads one day and he sat down to take a breather "when this old white bone caught my eye and started staring back."

THE 10 MINUTE STOP LIGHT

Not really 10 minutes, maybe, but it seems like it. The seat's so hot it burns. Your shirt is stuck to your back, and you've just about had it! Sound familiar? OK, let's talk about a Thermo King air conditioner for your car.

Take a smooth and quiet Custom 500 model, for instance. It cools faster and more efficiently than even the far-more-expensive factory systems. And it dehumidifies, and filters out dust, dirt and pollen at the same time. You can install it in just a few hours and switch it to your next car when you trade. Easy payment terms available.

Pushed By Rhodes

Legislators Set To Study Ohio Education Proposal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio legislators return to the Statehouse today with prospects they will soon face an education-tax package again pushed by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Earlier this year, Rhodes initated a sweeping program of education reform and new taxes to finance it, but then dropped the package in April. It was reported at the time that he felt Ohioans were opposed to new taxes.

The governor met secretly with House and Senate Republican leaders last Thursday and indications are he will back the proposal again.

"The governor is going to reassert a positive role," a source said. "After he backed off, things were in a muddle for a long time. It looks like things are going to get moving again."

Returning House members face a bill to prohibit "medical quackery" when they return to the floor tonight.

The Senate - originated bill provides $500 to $1,000 fines and a year in jail for first offenders and up to $5,000 and five years in jail for second offenses.

Existing law, sponsors said, makes it a criminal offense to masquerade as a physician but does not specify others who hold themselves out as medical experts.

Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, prime sponsor of the bill in the Senate, said medical quacks annually bilk the public of $2 billion to $3 billion.

Persons could be charged under the bill if there is substantial evidence to show drugs or cures they recommended are "not effective as represented."

The House also will be awaiting anxiously to see if the Sunday liquor sales bill, which passed 50 to 45 last Wednesday, comes back for reconsideration.

Rumors circulated Thursday the bill would be brought back on a motion from a representative who voted against it earlier.

Under House rules, the action would have to be taken before today's session is adjourned. If such a move isn't forthcoming, the bill moves to the Senate for consideration.

The measure would permit local option elections to determine if Sunday liquor sales should be permitted. Hotel interests in Cincinnati and Cleveland are prime backers of the measure.

Hancock Sets 'Head Start' Registration

Registration for the Hancock County "Head Start" summer program is now under way.

Parents may enroll children by contacing the Pupil Service Office in Weirton, the New Manchester School or the Chester Primary School, Ray O. Stevens, director, has announced.

Stevens said the program is scheduled to begin June 30 and end Aug. 8. Approximately 60 will be enrolled.

Pupils will be given breakfast and lunch and transportation will be furnished to and from school. To be eligible for the program, the child must be from a low - income family, Stevens pointed out.

Animal At Aztec

AZTEC, N. M. (AP) — Mrs. Jerry Wells had a different excuse when she called the school principal recently to say she would be late to teach her class at Park Avenue Elementary school. Mrs. Wells said there was a bear in her garage.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I improvise a pressing cloth when I don't have the real thing at hand:

A. — Try using some brown wrapping paper or newspaper when pressing suits, skirts, or dresses. Go over the paper with a damp cloth, place it on the garment, and press with a moderately hot iron. This usually does a real neat job.

Q. — How can I do a good cleaning job on enameled woodwork?

A. — You can do this very nicely with a mixture of one cup kerosene, one cup vinegar, and a half - cup water, all shaken up in a bottle, applying to the woodwork with a soft cloth, then followed up with a dry-cloth polishing.

Q. — How can I improve the appearance of black suede shoes?

Personalities In The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's wife and daughters have given him a surfboard for Father's Day, but he's going to reserve it for guest use.

"I'll never ride that," the President vowed when his daughters handed him a replica of the surfboard in the Rose Garden of the White House Sunday. The real thing will be delivered later to his new home at San Clemente, Calif.

Tricia Nixon suggested that her father, who is 56, could at least paddle around on the board. He said that might work out, but for actual stand-up riding on the Pacific swells he will lend the board to members of the White House press corps.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Rudy Vallee, 67-year-old crooner-actor, was pulled from the churning waters of the Salt river Sunday but lost his swim trunks.

Vallee, who does not swim, was floating down the river on an inner tube when the accident occurred.

Vallee's inner tube, tied to seven others, capsied when they floated into rapids.

Car dealer Julian Pegler, who was riding one of the other tubes, swam after Vallee and brought him safely to shore. The trunks were not found.

TOKYO (AP) — The newspaper Yomiuri said today Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia is script writer, producer, director and an actor in a film depicting Japan as his country's liberator from the French.

The movie, "Rose of Bokor," costars his wife, Princess Monik, as a Cambodian girl who falls in love with a Japanese colonel, played by the prince.

The Japanese army suppressed the French administration in Indochina during World War II and Sihanouk, then king of Cambodia, proclaimed his country's independence. French authority was restored after the war ended, but Cambodia became independent again in 1953.

CHETEK, Wis. (AP) — John Laird, son of Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, has been married to Miss Nancy Huset, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Huset of chetek.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman has been discharged from a hospital where he underwent an operation for glaucoma, an eye disease.

Doctors said Sunday the operation on Rahman, who is 67, was a complete success, but that he had been advised to convalesce for a month before resuming his duties.

Ralph Drake Resigns As Game Protector

Ralph Drake has resigned as Columbiana County game protector to accept an appointment as a county deputy sheriff.

Drake, a resident of 436 W. Maple St., Lisbon, has served in the county four years, moving here from Wayne County.

His resignation will become effective June 30. He is married and has two sons and a daughter.

In announcing the change, Drake thanked the sportsmen and other residents who have aided him in his enforcement of state game laws.

Mayor No Exception

CHESTERFIELD, England (AP) — Mayor Evelyn Rees thought the yellow no - parking lines painted on the street outside the town hall weren't meant for her so she parked there twice to go shopping and have a hair-do. She got two tickets. Mrs. Rees didn't understand the regulations, her attorney explained to a magistrate, but the mayor was fined 4 pounds ($9.60) anyway.

Restoration Set

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Cape Town's Malay quarter, housing the descendants of slaves shipped from the old Dutch East Indies, will be reconstructed as a historical relic. The City Council was told the government would pay about half of the Rands 677,000 ($947,800) costs of restoring some of the white - washed colonial-style cottages.

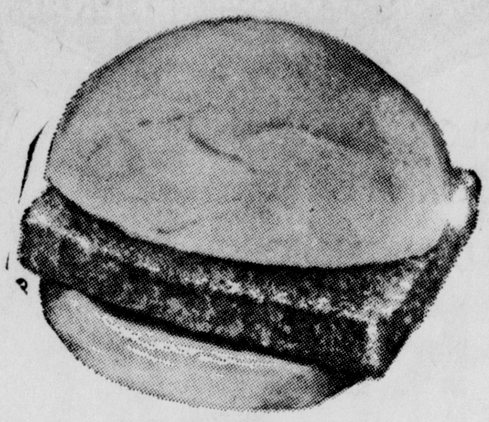

Festival Association Will Meet At Lisbon

LISBON — The Lisbon Festival Association will meet at 8 tonight in Village Hall to hear reports of committees planning for the second annual Johnny Appleseed Festival Sept. 18-20.

Filmed in color by Kenneth Finnin of Canfield, it featured the first festival last September and included pictures of other attractions in Columbiana County and the operations of businessmen who sponsored the film.

THE 1969 U.S. OPEN champ, Orville J. Moo dy of Killeen, Texas, kisses the trophy he won after scoring a one-over-par 281 to win the tit le by one stroke in the 69th championship Sunday at Houston. Moody collected $30,000 first pl ace money for his win. (UPI Telephoto)

Non-Winner Moody Wins Open

★ ★ ★ Claims 1-Stroke Victory ★ ★ ★

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Orville Moody, an off-the-board longshot, has to be the most unlikely, unorthodox U.S. Open golf champion of all time.

Besides being a one-quarter Choctaw Indian and a 14-year Army veteran, he's a cross-handed putter, never practices, corrects presidents and—believe it or not—didn't know his own name.

Moody, 35, a nonwinner on the tour, received a telephone call from President Nixon Sunday after he had won the 69th U.S. Open with a 72-hole score of 281.

"He said it was a fine thing that someone not of the elite class, the middle class, to win this championship," Moody said.

"He said it isn't often that somebody comes out of the Army after 14 years and wins the U.S. Open.

"I told him it's the first time."

Moody shot a final-round 72 on the 6,967-yard, par 70 Cypress Creek course at Champions Golf Club and won by one stroke. Tied for second at 282 were thin Al Geiberger, who had a final-round 70, Bob Rosburg, 71, and little Deane Beman, 72.

Bob Murphy was alone in fifth at 283. Third-round leader Miller Barber collapsed with a 78 and finished at 284, tied at that figure with Arnold Palmer, 72, and Bruce Crampton, 71. Jack Nicklaus had a 73 for 289.

"I had no dream I could win it, Moody said. "I didn't know I was good tnough to win it. I came here playing good and planning to try and win it, but I didn't know I could."

Playing in the last twosome, he came to the last hole, needing only to par it to win.

"That's the first time I started thinking about it. I thought, 'Well, get up there and let her fly.' I did," he said.

He drove the fairway, started to use a seven iron and went to an eight instead.

"I thought, 'I don't want to back up now,' " he said. "So I went to the eight iron. I figured if I was a little tight, I'd probably hit an eight better than I would a seven."

He put it on the green, about 13 feet from the pin, and missed the putt by 14 inches. He walked up to it quickly and tapped it in without lining it up.

"It was a long 14 inches for a million dollars," he said. "I didn't want to think about it, didn't want to let myself think about it. That's why I hit it so quick."

Moody left the Army—most of his time was spent running golf courses—after 14 years of service when he found three sponsors to back him on the tour.

"I met them playing golf at Killeen, Tex.," he said. "I was playing with them every day, taking their money. I guess they figured it was cheaper to put me on the tour than keep on playing."

He graduated from the PGA players sschool in 1967, played in the final 1967 event, the Cajun Classic, and has been on the tour steadily since then.

He took a week off before the Open.

"I was a little tired. So I took a week just to rest. Didn't touch a club all week. I never practice," the stocky, ruddy-faced guy said.

About the cross-handed putting?

"I'm a very loosey, goosey putter the regular way. Too much wrist action. This cross-hand makes me hit the ball more firmly. It's good for a guy with the yips."

His future plans?

"I'm going to play in the Kemper at Charlotte next week," he said. "And I just got an invitation to play in the British Open. I'm going to play in a lot of tournaments."

Moody, a greenskeepers son who was born in Chickasha, Okla., is a self-made golfer who said "I've never taken a lesson in my life.

He explained about the name.

"For 33 years I went by the name Orville James Moody," he said. "Then two years ago my first wife was getting her citizenship and she needed my birth certificate.

"I got it, looked at it and it said Orville Cleve Moody. So that's my name."

But he still signs his checks Orville James Moody.

He picked up $30,000 for his first tour victory, pushing his earnings to $67,921 for the year.

He almost didn't make it. In regional qualifying, it took a score of 150 to make it. He had a 149, chipping in from a trap on the 35th hole. And in the sectional qualifying, it took a 141. He had 140.

Orioles Sweep White Sox

Jackson's 15 RBI's Wreck Boston

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The powers-that-be in Massachusetts can't decide whether or not Boston needs a new stadium, but Oakland's Reggie Jackson may have helped matters along with his weekend wrecking job on cozy old Fenway Park.

Jackson's unsealed bid included four home runs, a triple, two doubles and two singles in 14 official at-bats and 15 runs batted in—10 on Saturday and four more Sunday—as the A's thrashed the Red Sox 4-1, 21-7 and 13-5 in their weekend series.

"I'm going good right now," the 23-year-old outfielder admitted in a magnificent understatement, "but you never know what tomorrow will bring. I'm a streak hitter. The super-stars—guys like Carl Yastrzemski—keep going good most of the time."

Manager Dick Williams and Boston's battered pitchers are ready to concede Jackson super-star status. "From what I saw of him here, he looks like a super-star right now," said Williams. "He's strong as an ox and he's got all the equipment."

The Baltimore Orioles were Sunday's other big news with a 9-0, 13-2 sweep of the Chicago White Sox, which gave them a 6½-game lead over Boston in the American League East. Elsewhere, Minnesota edged Cleveland 3-2, Detroit routed Kansas City 7-0 and the New York Yankees stopped Seattle 4-0 in a rain-shortened five-inning game which ended in a rhubarb and a Seattle protest over a wet tarpaulin.

California's game at Washington was rained out.

Jackson's 10 RBI Saturday was one short of the American League record and his 14 in two games missed the major league mark by one. Both records were set by Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees in 1936.

In Sunday's 13-5 romp, Jackson unloaded a double, triple and his 23rd homer, tops in the majors. He got his final RBI when he was hit on the wrist by a high inside pitch with the bases loaded.

One questioner wanted to know if Jackson thought the Red Sox were throwing at him.

"With the bases loaded? No, I think they were just pitching me high and tight," he replied. "I was expecting to get knocked down, though.

Jackson, a multi-sport star in high school, described Saturday as "the best day I've ever had in anything—football, basketball, baseball, track and field, anything." But he still couldn't please manager Hank Bauer.

"This was the best day of my life, but I caught more hell from the manager than when I struck out five times in a row," he said. "I caught hell for making a useless throw home, allowing the base runners to advance, and I really caught it for not making that last single into a double. I almost got fined for not getting to second on that ball, but I think he gave me a break."

The other members of Oakland's Arizona State brigade also helped polish off the Red Sox Sunday. Rick Monday drove in three runs with a homer and an infield out while Sal Bando slammed a grand slam homer. Home runs by Dick Schofield, Reggie Smith and George Scott accounted for all the Boston tallies.

Paul Blair and Brooks Robinson each hit two homers and Boog Powell hammered one to back tight Baltimore pitching against Chicago by Dave McNally and Tom Phoebus.

McNally, 9-0, boosted his record to 23-2 since the 1968 All-Star Game with a four-hitter in the opener. Phoebus, 7-1, was coasting with a three-hitter and a 12-0 lead in the nightcap until Carlos May hit a two-run pinch homer.

Graig Nettles squeezed home the winning run with a two-out seventh-inning bunt single as Minnesota and Dave Boswell edged Cleveland and snapped a three-game losing streak. The victory enabled the Twins to stay in a virtual tie with Oakland for the lead in the AL West.

Earl Wilson limited Kansas City to two hits and the Tigers exploded for all seven runs in the fifth inning. Dick McAuliffe hit a bases-loaded triple and Jim Northrup capped the outburst with a three-run homer.

Jimmie Hall slammed two-out, two-run triples in the first and fifth innings to power the Yankees and Stan Bahnsen past Seattle. The game was called with the Pilots at bat in the top of the sixth.

When a heavy rain started for the second time, hundreds of youngsters from a Bat Day crowd of 58.733 raced onto the field and the Pilots claimed they prevented the ground crew from getting the tarpaulin on.

But the umpires agreed with the Yankees that the first downpour had soaked the tarp so badly that it became unmanageable.

Hall Loses One-Hitter

Blair-Morse Splits Pair With Little Pirate Nine

Blair-Morse split a pair of extra inning exhibition games with the Little Pirates of Pittsburgh Sunday at Colt Field.

The Little Pirates, sponsored by the Natinal League Pittsburgh Pirates, won the opening game 1-0 in eight innings but Blair-Morse bounced back to win the nightcap, 4-3 in nine innings.

Dan Cunningham's three-run homer in the sixth inning was the big blow in the second game with the Blair-Morse scoring the winning run in the last on the ninth on a single by Cecil Barker which sent Rex Campbell home with the deciding run.

Post 374 Blanked, 2-0, On 2-Hitter By Weirton

Post 374 was blanked on two hits by Weirton McNeely and dropped a 2-0 decision in the opening of the OVAC Legion League Sunday at Weirton.

Only Vic Reed and Jim Musuraca, the losing pitcher, were able to solve McNeely's pitches as they singled for Post 374's only hits.

Weirton came up with nine hits and scored single runs in the first and fifth innings. Weirton scored its first run on three hits in the opening frame.

Midland Nine Handed 15-1 Loss By Hopewell

Hopewell picked up three unearned tallies in the first frame to settle the issue. Joe Pillar, Midland's starting hurler, struck out three men in the first inning but a pair of errors, the first of which was a dropped third strike on the first batter, a base on balls, a fielder's choice, with all runners safe and a ground out accounted for all the runs.

Hopewell scored four times in the second, all on solid hits. With one out, Stoken banged out a single. Greg Wilhelm followed with a single and Glenn Gratta doubled to score Stoken. Lou Polight unloaded a home run to deep right field, scoring behind Wilhelm and Gratta. The next two batters went down in order but the game to all intents was out of reach for the Midland Legion.

Midland broke up Stoken's no-hit bid and it was their only threat, in the fifth. One was out when Scotty Newtz was safe on an error by Jim Popovich. Newtz continued to second on the overthrow. Mark Braund singled sharply to right field to break up the no hitter and the shutout, as Newtz scored. Ross Ranelli singled up the middle. The threat ended as Ranelli was out unassisted at second by Popovich and Larry Anderson, given life on a dropped third strike, was forced at second.

Paul Francis garnered the other Midland hit to lead off the final inning. He was left stranded as the next three batters went down in order, the final two on strikeouts.

Stoken, besides giving up the lone run on three hits, walked three and struckout six and hit one batter. Until he weakened, Stoken had faced just 16 batters in the four and a third innings of hitless ball. He gave up his three walks in that period, one was erased on a double play, and hit a batter.

Clendenon Goes To Mets Before Trade Deadline

By The Associated Press

Baseball trades were light during the final 48 hours before the trading deadline in the major leagues. The deadline was Sunday night, local time, and only three top-flight deals and a sprinkling of trades of lesser importance marked the weekend.

The New York Yankees parted with shortstop Tom Tresh in a Saturday trade, sending him to the Detroit Tigers in exchange for rookie out-fielder Ron Woods.

St. Louis sent pitcher Dennis Ribant to Cincinnati's farm club at Indianapolis for pitcher Aurelio Monteagudo, who was assigned to the Cardinals' farm team at Tulsa.

The other deals saw Atlanta trade catcher Walt Briniak and two minor leaguers to San Diego for outfielder Tony Gonzalez, and the Chicago White Sox traded pitcher Sammy Ellis to the Cleveland Indians for pitcher Jack Hamilton.

The Mets optioned outfielder Amos Otis to Tidewater to make room on the roster for Clendenon. Clendenon is 33 and will be platoooned with Ed Kranepool at first base.

Azcue, 29, left the Boston team last week because he was not playing regularly. Boston officials said he had asked to be traded and told them he would not play for the Red Sox again. He was hitting .240.

Two Ohioans Place In Kentucky Meet

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Two Ohioans placed Saturday in events of the United States Track and Field Federation championships here.

Sid Sink of Bowling Green was second in the 3-mile run with a time of 13:47.7, just .2 second behind winner Dave Ellis of Eastern Michigan. Malan Tiff from Miami of Ohio was second in the triple jump at 50-0, behind Perti Pousi of Brigham Young with 51-9.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Reggie Jackson, Athletics, doubled, tripled, hit his 23rd home run and drove in four runs—after knocking in 10 Saturday—as Oakland trampled the Boston Red Sox 13-5.

PITCHING—Earl Wilson, Tigers, hurled a two-hitter, walking one and striking out seven in pitching Detroit to a 7-0 victory over Kansas City.

Drysdale Wins In Comeback

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

How do you stop the Chicago Cubs? Simple, just (1) come up with some last inning heroics, and (2) take an early evening plane ride.

The Reds used a one-out ninth inning single by Bobby Tolan to clip the National League's East Division leaders 7-6 in the opener of a doubleheader.

Then, after the Cubs grabbed a 5-4 lead after seven innings of the nightcap, the game was suspended so the Reds could catch a plane for San Francisco, where they are scheduled to play this afternoon.

That little bit of maneuvering will prevent the Cubs from chalking up that nightcap victory—or defeat—for at least 2½ months.

In other National League activity, Don Drysdale made a successful pitching comeback as Los Angeles nipped the New York Mets 3-2; San Francisco swept a doubleheader from Montreal 7-4 and 6-1.

Philadelphia checked San Diego 5-4 on fill-in Terry Harmon's 10th inning single; St. Louis defeated Houston 5-3, and Atlanta slipped past Pittsburgh 6-4.

That second game bit of indecision was disappointing for the Cubs in more ways than one—Don Kessinger had his newly-established major league record of errorless ball by shortstops snapped at 54.

He set the record in the opener, but booted a grounder in the seventh inning of the second game.

The old mark of 53 was set in 1951 by Chico Carrasquel of the Chicago White Sox, while Buddy Kerr of the New York Giants set the previous National League mark of 52 in 1946.

The Reds, who blew an early 3-0 lead, came back for a 5-4 advantage in the sixth on Tony Perez' two-run homer, his 12th. But Ron Santo's 12th homer keyed a two-run Cub rally in the seventh, before Cincinnati tied it in the bottom of the inning on Alex Johnson's RBI single.

Newly acquired Paul Popovice staked Chicago to a 2-0 lead in the third inning of the nightcap with is first homer of the year, and helped build the lead to 5-1 with an RBI single in the sixth.

The Reds cut the gap to 5-4 with three in the seventh, including two on Tolan's homer.

Drysdale, taking his first turn on the mound since April 22 when he was sidelined with a sore shoulder, checked the Mets on seven hits for 5 2-3 innings before yielding to Jim Brewer, who gave up only one hit the rest of the way.

The Big D, picking up his first victory since opening day, struck out three and didn't walk a man. He said after the stint that he expects to take his next turn on the mound in Cincinnati Friday night.

Andy Kosko's 11th homer in the second gave Drysdale an early lead, and the Dodgers added two more in the fourth on Ted Sizemore's sacrifice fly and when Manny Mota scored from third on Met rookie Jack DiLauro's wild pitch.

Drysdale's only serious trouble came in the third when New York mixed singles by Bud Harrelson, Tommie Agee and Cleon Jones with Wayne Garrett's sacrifice for two runs.

A three-run homer by Ken Henderson gave San Francisco victory in the opener, and blasts by Bobby Bonds and Dick Dietz helped complete the sweep as the Giants moved into a second - place tie with Los Angeles in the West Division, one game behind Atlanta.

Willie McCovey boosted his lead with a two-run shot in the first inning of the opener, but Bobby Wine knocked in three runs with a pair of singles and Rusty Staub had a solo homer as Montreal took a 4-3 lead going into the final innning.

However, singles by Ron Hunt, Willie Mays and Jim Davenport tied it for the Giants in the ninth, setting the stage for Henderson's third homer of the season.

Coco Laboy homered for Montreal in the nightcap.

Bob Didier capped a two-run second with an RBI single, then touched off a three-run fourth with another run-producing single as Atlanta stopped Pittsburgh.

Cal Poly Wins NCAA Crown

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — It will be hard for about 95 college track teams to forget a school with a name that's easy to forget — California Poly at San Luis Obispo.

It was ungainly-sounding Cal Poly which gracefully romped to its second straight NCAA college division track and field championship at Ashland College Saturday.

The Mustangs rolled up 76 points with victories in three events and scored in seven others. The nearest competitors was Occidental with 43 points. C. W. Post followed with 28 points; then Morgan State, Portland State and Howard with 24 each and Humboldt State with 21.

Rain and winds hampered the two-day meet but Cal Polly will managed to improve on its 1968 winning total of 63 points. The Dick Purcell - coached team registered its victories in the 100-yard dash and the 440 and 800 - yard relays. Ruben Smith was the winner of the century with a 9.9 clocking.

Records were set in two events. Gary Tuttle of Humboldt defended his title in the steeplechase with an 8:54.9 performance, bettering the 9:10.4 mark he set last year.

Non-Winner Moody Wins Open

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Orville Moody, an off-the-board longshot, has to be the most unlikely, unorthodox U.S. Open golf champion of all time.

Besides being a one-quarter Choctaw Indian and a 14-year Army veteran, he's a cross-handed putter, never practices, corrects presidents and—believe it or not—didn't know his own name.

Moody, 35, a nonwinner on the tour, received a telephone call from President Nixon Sunday after he had won the 69th U.S. Open with a 72-hole score of 281.

"He said it was a fine thing that someone not of the elite class, the middle class, to win this championship," Moody said.

"He said it isn't often that somebody comes out of the Army after 14 years and wins the U.S. Open.

"I told him it's the first time."

Moody shot a final-round 72 on the 6,967-yard, par 70 Cypress Creek course at Champions Golf Club and won by one stroke. Tied for second at 282 were thin Al Geiberger, who had a final-round 70, Bob Rosburg, 71, and little Deane Beman, 72.

Bob Murphy was alone in fifth at 283. Third-round leader Miller Barber collapsed with a 78 and finished at 284, tied at that figure with Arnold Palmer, 72, and Bruce Crampton, 71. Jack Nicklaus had a 73 for 289.

"I had no dream I could win it, Moody said. "I didn't know I was good tnough to win it. I came here playing good and planning to try and win it, but I didn't know I could."

Playing in the last twosome, he came to the last hole, needing only to par it to win.

"That's the first time I started thinking about it. I thought, 'Well, get up there and let her fly.' I did," he said.

He drove the fairway, started to use a seven iron and went to an eight instead.

"I thought, 'I don't want to back up now,'" he said. "So I went to the eight iron. I figured if I was a little tight, I'd probably hit an eight better than I would a seven."

He put it on the green, about 13 feet from the pin, and missed the putt by 14 inches. He walked up to it quickly and tapped it in without lining it up.

"It was a long 14 inches for a million dollars," he said. "I didn't want to think about it, didn't want to let myself think about it. That's why I hit it so quick."

Moody left the Army—most of his time was spent running golf courses—after 14 years of service when he found three sponsors to back him on the tour.

"I met them playing golf at Killeen, Tex.," he said. "I was playing with them every day, taking their money. I guess they figured it was cheaper to put me on the tour than keep on playing."

He graduated from the PGA players sschool in 1967, played in the final 1967 event, the Cajun Classic, and has been on the tour steadily since then.

"I was a little tired. So I took a week just to rest. Didn't touch a club all week. I never practice," the stocky, ruddy-faced guy said.

About the cross-handed putting?

"I'm a very loosey, goosey putter the regular way. Too much wrist action. This cross-hand makes me hit the ball more firmly. It's good for a guy with the yips."

His future plans?

"I'm going to play in the Kemper at Charlotte next week," he said. "And I just got an invitation to play in the British Open. I'm going to play in a lot of tournaments."

Moody, a greenskeepers son who was born in Chickasha, Okla., is a self-made golfer who said "I've never taken a lesson in my life.

He explained about the name.

"For 33 years I went by the name Orville James Moody," he said. "Then two years ago my first wife was getting her citizenship and she needed my birth certificate.

"I got it, looked at it and it said Orville Cleve Moody. So that's my name."

But he still signs his checks Orville James Moody.

He picked up $30,000 for his first tour victory, pushing his earnings to $67,921 for the year.

He almost didn't make it. In regional qualifying, it took a score of 150 to make it. He had a 149, chipping in from a trap on the 35th hole. And in the sectional qualifying, it took a 141. He had 140.

Orioles Sweep White Sox

Jackson's 15 RBI's Wreck Boston

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The powers-that-be in Massachusetts can't decide whether or not Boston needs a new stadium, but Oakland's Reggie Jackson may have helped matters along with his weekend wrecking job on cozy old Fenway Park.

Jackson's unsealed bid included four home runs, a triple, two doubles and two singles in 14 official at-bats and 15 runs batted in—10 on Saturday and four more Sunday—as the A's thrashed the Red Sox 4-1, 21-7 and 13-5 in their weekend series.

"I'm going good right now," the 23-year-old outfielder admitted in a magnificent understatement, "but you never know what tomorrow will bring. I'm a streak hitter. The super-stars—guys like Carl Yastrzemski—keep going good most of the time."

Manager Dick Williams and Boston's battered pitchers are ready to concede Jackson super-star status. "From what I saw of him here, he looks like a super-star right now," said Williams. "He's strong as an ox and he's got all the equipment."

The Baltimore Orioles were Sunday's other big news with a 9-0, 13-2 sweep of the Chicago White Sox, which gave them a 6½-game lead over Boston in the American League East. Elsewhere, Minnesota edged Cleveland 3-2, Detroit routed Kansas City 7-0 and the New York Yankees stopped Seattle 4-0 in a rain-shortened five-inning game which ended in a rhubarb and a Seattle protest over a wet tarpaulin.

Jackson's 10 RBI Saturday was one short of the American League record and his 14 in two games missed the major league mark by one. Both records were set by Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees in 1936.

In Sunday's 13-5 romp, Jackson unloaded a double, triple and his 23rd homer, tops in the majors. He got his final RBI when he was hit on the wrist by a high inside pitch with the bases loaded.

One questioner wanted to know if Jackson thought the Red Sox were throwing at him.

"With the bases loaded? No, I think they were just pitching me high and tight," he replied. "I was expecting to get knocked down, though.

Jackson, a multi-sport star in high school, described Saturday as "the best day I've ever had in anything—football, basketball, baseball, track and field, anything." But he still couldn't please manager Hank Bauer.

"This was the best day of my life, but I caught more hell from the manager than when I struck out five times in a row," he said. "I caught hell for making a useless throw home, allowing the base runners to advance, and I really caught it for not making that last single into a double. I almost got fined for not getting to second on that ball, but I think he gave me a break."

The other members of Oakland's Arizona State brigade also helped polish off the Red Sox Sunday. Rick Monday drove in three runs with a homer and an infield out while Sal Bando slammed a grand slam homer. Home runs by Dick Schofield, Reggie Smith and George Scott accounted for all the Boston tallies.

Paul Blair and Brooks Robinson each hit two homers and Boog Powell hammered one to back tight Baltimore pitching against Chicago by Dave McNally and Tom Phoebus.

McNally, 9-0, boosted his record to 23-2 since the 1968 All-Star Game with a four-hitter in the opener. Phoebus, 7-1, was coasting with a three-hitter and a 12-0 lead in the nightcap until Carlos May hit a two-run pinch homer.

Graig Nettles squeezed home the winning run with a two-out seventh-inning bunt single as Minnesota and Dave Boswell edged Cleveland and snapped a three-game losing streak. The victory enabled the Twins to stay in a virtual tie with Oakland for the lead in the AL West.

Earl Wilson limited Kansas City to two hits and the Tigers exploded for all seven runs in the fifth inning. Dick McAuliffe hit a bases-loaded triple and Jim Northrup capped the outburst with a three-run homer.

Jimmie Hall slammed two-out, two-run triples in the first and fifth innings to power the Yankees and Stan Bahnsen past Seattle. The game was called with the Pilots at bat in the top of the sixth.

When a heavy rain started for the second time, hundreds of youngsters from a Bat Day crowd of 58,733 raced onto the field and the Pilots claimed they prevented the ground crew from getting the tarpaulin on.

But the umpires agreed with the Yankees that the first downpour had soaked the tarp so badly that it became unmanageable.

Hall Loses One-Hitter

Blair-Morse Splits Pair With Little Pirate Nine

Blair-Morse split a pair of extra inning exhibition games with the Little Pirates of Pittsburgh Sunday at Colt Field.

The Little Pirates, sponsored by the Natinal League Pittsburgh Pirates, won the opening game 1-0 in eight innings but Blair-Morse bounced back to win the nightcap, 4-3 in nine innings.

Dan Cunningham's three-run homer in the sixth inning was the big blow in the second game with the Blair-Morse scoring the winning run in the last on the ninth on a single by Cecil Barker which sent Rex Campbell home with the deciding run.

In the second game Bill Montgomery was the winning pitcher in relief. Dave Taylor had started the game and pitched 6 1-3 innings.

In the opening game, Jeff Hall lost a tough 1-0 decision and only gave up one hit. Hall was near perfect not allowing a walk and striking out 11 batters but two errors proved costly.

Lang and Sylanski for the Little Pirates combined to allow Blair-Morse only two hits.

Post 374 Blanked, 2-0, On 2-Hitter By Weirton

Post 374 was blanked on two hits by Weirton McNeely and dropped a 2-0 decision in the opening of the OVAC Legion League Sunday at Weirton.

Only Vic Reed and Jim Musuraca, the losing pitcher, were able to solve McNeely's pitches as they singled for Post 374's only hits.

Weirton came up with nine hits and scored single runs in the first and fifth innings. Weirton scored its first run on three hits in the opening frame.

Post 374 threatened only once and that was in the seventh inning when Bob Flint walked and Reed singled but McNeely went on to retire the side.

Midland Nine Handed 15-1 Loss By Hopewell

The Midland Legion was handed a drubbing by the Hopewell Legion, 15-1, at the Midland diamond Saturday. The game was called at the end of six innings because of darkness.

Hopewell picked up three unearned tallies in the first frame to settle the issue. Joe Pillar, Midland's starting hurler, struck out three men in the first inning but a pair of errors, the first of which was a dropped third strike on the first batter, a base on balls, a fielder's choice, with all runners safe and a ground out accounted for all the runs.

Hopewell scored four times in the second, all on solid hits. With one out, Stoken banged out a single. Greg Wilhelm followed with a single and Glenn Gratta doubled to score Stoken. Lou Polight unloaded a home run to deep right field, scoring behind Wilhelm and Gratta. The next two batters went down in order but the game to all intents was out of reach for the Midland Legion.

Midland broke up Stoken's no-hit bid and it was their only threat, in the fifth. One was out when Scotty Newtz was safe on an error by Jim Popovich. Newtz continued to second on the overthrow. Mark Braund singled sharply to right field to break up the no hitter and the shutout, as Newtz scored. Ross Ranelli singled up the middle. The threat ended as Ranelli was out unassisted at second by Popovich and Larry Anderson, given life on a dropped third strike, was forced at second.

Paul Francis garnered the other Midland hit to lead off the final inning. He was left stranded as the next three batters went down in order, the final two on strikeouts.

Stoken, besides giving up the lone run on three hits, walked three and struckout six and hit one batter. Until he weakened, Stoken had faced just 16 batters in the four and a third innings of hitless ball. He gave up his three walks in that period, one was erased on a double play, and hit a batter.

Midland meets Monaca tonight at Monaca.

Lawyers Top Salem, 8-2, In Colt Loop

The Lawyers exploded for five runs in the third inning and went on to defeat Salem, 8-2, Sunday in a Colt League contest at Salem.

The Lawyers collected 11 hits with Tipton have a 3-for-4 day at the plate while Sheppard had two hits and drove in two runs. Tipton and Sheppard shared the pitching duties for the Lawyers with Tipton allowing no hits for three innings but had to be pulled because of the pitching rule.

After scoring five runs in the third, the Lawyers posted three more in the seventh.

Clendenon Goes To Mets Before Trade Deadline

By The Associated Press

Baseball trades were light during the final 48 hours before the trading deadline in the major leagues. The deadline was Sunday night, local time, and only three top-flight deals and a sprinkling of trades of lesser importance marked the weekend.

The New York Yankees parted with shortstop Tom Tresh in a Saturday trade, sending him to the Detroit Tigers in exchange for rookie out-fielder Ron Woods.

St. Louis sent pitcher Dennis Ribant to Cincinnati's farm club at Indianapolis for pitcher Aurelio Monteagudo, who was assigned to the Cardinals' farm team at Tulsa.

The other deals saw Atlanta trade catcher Walt Briniak and two minor leaguers to San Diego for outfielder Tony Gonzalez, and the Chicago White Sox traded pitcher Sammy Ellis to the Cleveland Indians for pitcher Jack Hamilton.

The four minor leaguers traded by the Mets to Montreal for Clendenon included Kevin Collins, an outfielder, and the only one with major league experience; right-handed pitchers Steve Renko, Jay Carden and Dave Colon.

The Mets optioned outfielder Amos Otis to Tidewater to make room on the roster for Clendenon. Clendenon is 33 and will be platoooned with Ed Kranepool at first base.

Azcue, 29, left the Boston team last week because he was not playing regularly. Boston officials said he had asked to be traded and told them he would not play for the Red Sox again. He was hitting .240.

Two Ohioans Place In Kentucky Meet

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Two Ohioans placed Saturday in events of the United States Track and Field Federation championships here.

Sid Sink of Bowling Green was second in the 3-mile run with a time of 13:47.7, just .2 second behind winner Dave Ellis of Eastern Michigan. Malan Tiff from Miami of Ohio was second in the triple jump at 50-0, behind Perti Pousi of Brigham Young with 51-9.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Reggie Jackson, Athletics, doubled, tripled, hit his 23rd home run and drove in four runs—after knocking in 10 Saturday—as Oakland trampled the Boston Red Sox 13-5.

PITCHING—Earl Wilson, Tigers, hurled a two-hitter, walking one and striking out seven in pitching Detroit to a 7-0 victory over Kansas City.

Drysdale Wins In Comeback

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

How do you stop the Chicago Cubs? Simple, just (1) come up with some last inning heroics, and (2) take an early evening plane ride.

It worked for the Cincinnati Reds Sunday—although the latter solution may be only temporary.

The Reds used a one-out ninth inning single by Bobby Tolan to clip the National League's East Division leaders 7-6 in the opener of a doubleheader.

Then, after the Cubs grabbed a 5-4 lead after seven innings of the nightcap, the game was suspended so the Reds could catch a plane for San Francisco, where they are scheduled to play this afternoon.

That little bit of maneuvering will prevent the Cubs from chalking up that nightcap victory—or defeat—for at least 2½ months.

The game will be resumed from the point of interruption—but not until early September, when the Cubs make their next trip to Cincinnati.

In other National League activity, Don Drysdale made a successful pitching comeback as Los Angeles nipped the New York Mets 3-2; San Francisco swept a doubleheader from Montreal 7-4 and 6-1.

Philadelphia checked San Diego 5-4 on fill-in Terry Harmon's 10th inning single; St. Louis defeated Houston 5-3, and Atlanta slipped past Pittsburgh 6-4.

That second game bit of indecision was disappointing for the Cubs in more ways than one—Don Kessinger had his newly-established major league record of errorless ball by shortstops snapped at 54.

He set the record in the opener, but booted a grounder in the seventh inning of the second game.

The old mark of 53 was set in 1951 by Chico Carrasquel of the Chicago White Sox, while Buddy Kerr of the New York Giants set the previous National League mark of 52 in 1946.

The Reds, who blew an early 3-0 lead, came back for a 5-4 advantage in the sixth on Tony Perez' two-run homer, his 12th. But Ron Santo's 12th homer keyed a two-run Cub rally in the seventh, before Cincinnati tied it in the bottom of the inning on Alex Johnson's RBI single.

Newly acquired Paul Popovice staked Chicago to a 2-0 lead in the third inning of the nightcap with is first homer of the year, and helped build the lead to 5-1 with an RBI single in the sixth.

The Reds cut the gap to 5-4 with three in the seventh, including two on Tolan's homer.

Drysdale, taking his first turn on the mound since April 22 when he was sidelined with a sore shoulder, checked the Mets on seven hits for 5 2-3 innings before yielding to Jim Brewer, who gave up only one hit the rest of the way.

The Big D, picking up his first victory since opening day, struck out three and didn't walk a man. He said after the stint that he expects to take his next turn on the mound in Cincinnati Friday night.

Andy Kosko's 11th homer in the second gave Drysdale an early lead, and the Dodgers added two more in the fourth on Ted Sizemore's sacrifice fly and when Manny Mota scored from third on Met rookie Jack DiLauro's wild pitch.

Drysdale's only serious trouble came in the third when New York mixed singles by Bud Harrelson, Tommie Agee and Cleon Jones with Wayne Garrett's sacrifice for two runs.

A three-run homer by Ken Henderson gave San Francisco victory in the opener, and blasts by Bobby Bonds and Dick Dietz helped complete the sweep as the Giants moved into a second - place tie with Los Angeles in the West Division, one game behind Atlanta.

Willie McCovey boosted his lead with a two-run shot in the first inning of the opener, but Bobby Wine knocked in three runs with a pair of singles and Rusty Staub had a solo homer as Montreal took a 4-3 lead going into the final innning.

However, singles by Ron Hunt, Willie Mays and Jim Davenport tied it for the Giants in the ninth, setting the stage for Henderson's third homer of the season.

Coco Laboy homered for Montreal in the nightcap.

Bob Didier capped a two-run second with an RBI single, then touched off a three-run fourth with another run-producing single as Atlanta stopped Pittsburgh.

Cal Poly Wins NCAA Crown

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — It will be hard for about 95 college track teams to forget a school with a name that's easy to forget — California Poly at San Luis Obispo.

It was ungainly-sounding Cal Poly which gracefully romped to its second straight NCAA college division track and field championship at Ashland College Saturday.

The Mustangs rolled up 76 points with victories in three events and scored in seven others. The nearest competitors was Occidental with 43 points. C. W. Post followed with 28 points; then Morgan State, Portland State and Howard with 24 each and Humboldt State with 21.

Rain and winds hampered the two-day meet but Cal Polly will managed to improve on its 1968 winning total of 63 points. The Dick Purcell - coached team registered its victories in the 100-yard dash and the 440 and 800 - yard relays. Ruben Smith was the winner of the century with a 9.9 clocking.

Records were set in two events. Gary Tuttle of Humboldt defended his title in the steeplechase with an 8:54.9 performance, bettering the 9:10.4 mark he set last year.

THE 1969 U.S. OPEN champ, Orville J. Moo dy of Killeen, Texas, kisses the trophy he won after scoring a one-over-par 281 to win the tit le by one stroke in the 69th championship Sunday at Houston. Moody collected $30,000 first pl ace money for his win. (UPI Telephoto)

Non-Winner Moody Wins Open

Claims 1-Stroke Victory

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Orville Moody, an off-the-board longshot, has to be the most unlikely, unorthodox U.S. Open golf champion of all time.

Besides being a one-quarter Choctaw Indian and a 14-year Army veteran, he's a cross-handed putter, never practices, corrects presidents and—believe it or not—didn't know his own name.

Moody, 35, a nonwinner on the tour, received a telephone call from President Nixon Sunday after he had won the 69th U.S. Open with a 72-hole score of 281.

"He said it was a fine thing that someone not of the elite class, the middle class, to win this championship," Moody said.

"He said it isn't often that somebody comes out of the Army after 14 years and wins the U.S. Open.

"I told him it's the first time."

Moody shot a final-round 72 on the 6,967-yard, par 70 Cypress Creek course at Champions Golf Club and won by one stroke. Tied for second at 282 were thin Al Geiberger, who had a final-round 70, Bob Rosburg, 71, and little Deane Beman, 72.

Bob Murphy was alone in fifth at 283. Third-round leader Miller Barber collapsed with a 78 and finished at 284, tied at that figure with Arnold Palmer, 72, and Bruce Crampton, 71. Jack Nicklaus had a 73 for 289.

"I had no dream I could win it, Moody said. "I didn't know I was good tnough to win it. I came here playing good and planning to try and win it, but I didn't know I could."

Playing in the last twosome, he came to the last hole, needing only to par it to win.

"That's the first time I started thinking about it. I thought, 'Well, get up there and let her fly.' I did," he said.

He drove the fairway, started to use a seven iron and went to an eight instead.

"I thought, 'I don't want to back up now,' " he said. "So I went to the eight iron. I figured if I was a little tight, I'd probably hit an eight better than I would a seven."

He put it on the green, about 13 feet from the pin, and missed the putt by 14 inches. He walked up to it quickly and tapped it in without lining it up.

"It was a long 14 inches for a million dollars," he said. "I didn't want to think about it, didn't want to let myself think about it. That's why I hit it so quick."

Moody left the Army—most of his time was spent running golf courses—after 14 years of service when he found three sponsors to back him on the tour.

"I met them playing golf at Killeen, Tex.," he said. "I was playing with them every day, taking their money. I guess they figured it was cheaper to put me on the tour than keep on playing."

He graduated from the PGA players sschool in 1967, played in the final 1967 event, the Cajun Classic, and has been on the tour steadily since then.

He took a week off before the Open.

"I was a little tired. So I took a week just to rest. Didn't touch a club all week. I never practice," the stocky, ruddy-faced guy said.

About the cross-handed putting?

"I'm a very loosey, goosey putter the regular way. Too much wrist action. This cross-hand makes me hit the ball more firmly. It's good for a guy with the yips."

His future plans?

"I'm going to play in the Kemper at Charlotte next week," he said. "And I just got an invitation to play in the British Open. I'm going to play in a lot of tournaments."

Moody, a greenskeepers son who was born in Chickasha, Okla., is a self-made golfer who said "I've never taken a lesson in my life.

He explained about the name.

"For 33 years I went by the name Orville James Moody," he said. "Then two years ago my first wife was getting her citizenship and she needed my birth certificate.

"I got it, looked at it and it said Orville Cleve Moody. So that's my name."

But he still signs his checks Orville James Moody.

He picked up $30,000 for his first tour victory, pushing his earnings to $67,921 for the year.

He almost didn't make it. In regional qualifying, it took a score of 150 to make it. He had a 149, chipping in from a trap on the 35th hole. And in the sectional qualifying, it took a 141. He had 140.

Orioles Sweep White Sox

Jackson's 15 RBI's Wreck Boston

The Review Sports
MONDAY, JUNE 16, 1969 PAGE 24

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The powers-that-be in Massachusetts can't decide whether or not Boston needs a new stadium, but Oakland's Reggie Jackson may have helped matters along with his weekend wrecking job on cozy old Fenway Park.

Jackson's unsealed bid included four home runs, a triple, two doubles and two singles in 14 official at-bats and 15 runs batted in—10 on Saturday and four more Sunday—as the A's thrashed the Red Sox 4-1, 21-7 and 13-5 in their weekend series.

"I'm going good right now," the 23-year-old outfielder admitted in a magnificent understatement, "but you never know what tomorrow will bring. I'm a streak hitter. The super-stars—guys like Carl Yastrzemski—keep going good most of the time."

Manager Dick Williams and Boston's battered pitchers are ready to concede Jackson super-star status. "From what I saw of him here, he looks like a super-star right now," said Williams. "He's strong as an ox and he's got all the equipment."

The Baltimore Orioles were Sunday's other big news with a 9-0, 13-2 sweep of the Chicago White Sox, which gave them a 6½-game lead over Boston in the American League East. Elsewhere, Minnesota edged Cleveland 3-2, Detroit routed Kansas City 7-0 and the New York Yankees stopped Seattle 4-0 in a rain-shortened five-inning game which ended in a rhubarb and a Seattle protest over a wet tarpaulin.

California's game at Washington was rained out.

Jackson's 10 RBI Saturday was one short of the American League record and his 14 in two games missed the major league mark by one. Both records were set by Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees in 1936.

In Sunday's 13-5 romp, Jackson unloaded a double, triple and his 23rd homer, tops in the majors. He got his final RBI when he was hit on the wrist by a high inside pitch with the bases loaded.

One questioner wanted to know if Jackson thought the Red Sox were throwing at him.

"With the bases loaded? No, I think they were just pitching me high and tight," he replied. "I was expecting to get knocked down, though.

Jackson, a multi-sport star in high school, described Saturday as "the best day I've ever had in anything—football, basketball, baseball, track and field, anything." But he still couldn't please manager Hank Bauer.

"This was the best day of my life, but I caught more hell from the manager than when I struck out five times in a row," he said. "I caught hell for making a useless throw home, allowing the base runners to advance, and I really caught it for not making that last single into a double. I almost got fined for not getting to second on that ball, but I think he gave me a break."

The other members of Oakland's Arizona State brigade also helped polish off the Red Sox Sunday. Rick Monday drove in three runs with a homer and an infield out while Sal Bando slammed a grand slam homer. Home runs by Dick Schofield, Reggie Smith and George Scott accounted for all the Boston tallies.

Paul Blair and Brooks Robinson each hit two homers and Boog Powell hammered one to back tight Baltimore pitching against Chicago by Dave McNally and Tom Phoebus.

McNally, 9-0, boosted his record to 23-2 since the 1968 All-Star Game with a four-hitter in the opener. Phoebus, 7-1, was coasting with a three-hitter and a 12-0 lead in the nightcap until Carlos May hit a two-run pinch homer.

Graig Nettles squeezed home the winning run with a two-out seventh-inning bunt single as Minnesota and Dave Boswell edged Cleveland and snapped a three-game losing streak. The victory enabled the Twins to stay in a virtual tie with Oakland for the lead in the AL West.

Earl Wilson limited Kansas City to two hits and the Tigers exploded for all seven runs in the fifth inning. Dick McAuliffe hit a bases-loaded triple and Jim Northrup capped the outburst with a three-run homer.

Jimmie Hall slammed two-out, two-run triples in the first and fifth innings to power the Yankees and Stan Bahnsen past Seattle. The game was called with the Pilots at bat in the top of the sixth.

When a heavy rain started for the second time, hundreds of youngsters from a Bat Day crowd of 58.733 raced onto the field and the Pilots claimed they prevented the ground crew from getting the tarpaulin on.

But the umpires agreed with the Yankees that the first downpour had soaked the tarp so badly that it became unmanageable.

Blair-Morse Splits Pair With Little Pirate Nine

Blair-Morse split a pair of extra inning exhibition games with the Little Pirates of Pittsburgh Sunday at Colt Field.

The Little Pirates, sponsored by the Natinal League Pittsburgh Pirates, won the opening game 1-0 in eight innings but Blair-Morse bounced back to win the nightcap, 4-3 in nine innings.

Dan Cunningham's three-run homer in the sixth inning was the big blow in the second game with the Blair-Morse scoring the winning run in the last on the ninth on a single by Cecil Barker which sent Rex Campbell home with the deciding run.

In the second game Bill Montgomery was the winning pitcher in relief. Dave Taylor had started the game and pitched 6 1-3 innings.

In the opening game, Jeff Hall lost a tough 1-0 decision and only gave up one hit. Hall was near perfect not allowing a walk and striking out 11 batters but two errors proved costly.

Lang and Sylanski for the Little Pirates combined to allow Blair-Morse only two hits.

Post 374 Blanked, 2-0, On 2-Hitter By Weirton

Post 374 was blanked on two hits by Weirton McNeely and dropped a 2-0 decision in the opening of the OVAC Legion League Sunday at Weirton.

Only Vic Reed and Jim Musuraca, the losing pitcher, were able to solve McNeely's pitches as they singled for Post 374's only hits.

Weirton came up with nine hits and scored single runs in the first and fifth innings. Weirton scored its first run on three hits in the opening frame.

Post 374 threatened only once and that was in the seventh inning when Bob Flint walked and Reed singled but McNeely went on to retire the side.

Midland Nine Handed 15-1 Loss By Hopewell

The Midland Legion was handed a drubbing by the Hopewell Legion, 15-1, at the Midland diamond Saturday. The game was called at the end of six innings because of darkness.

Hopewell picked up three unearned tallies in the first frame to settle the issue. Joe Pillar, Midland's starting hurler, struck out three men in the first inning but a pair of errors, the first of which was a dropped third strike on the first batter, a base on balls, a fielder's choice, with all runners safe and a ground out accounted for all the runs.

Hopewell scored four times in the second, all on solid hits. With one out, Stoken banged out a single. Greg Wilhelm followed with a single and Glenn Gratta doubled to score Stoken. Lou Polight unloaded a home run to deep right field, scoring behind Wilhelm and Gratta. The next two batters went down in order but the game to all intents was out of reach for the Midland Legion.

Midland broke up Stoken's no-hit bid and it was their only threat, in the fifth. One was out when Scotty Newtz was safe on an error by Jim Popovich. Newtz continued to second on the overthrow. Mark Braund singled sharply to right field to break up the no hitter and the shutout, as Newtz scored. Ross Ranelli singled up the middle. The threat ended as Ranelli was out unassisted at second by Popovich and Larry Anderson, given life on a dropped third strike, was forced at second.

Paul Francis garnered the other Midland hit to lead off the final inning. He was left stranded as the next three batters went down in order, the final two on strikeouts.

Stoken, besides giving up the lone run on three hits, walked three and struckout six and hit one batter. Until he weakened, Stoken had faced just 16 batters in the four and a third innings of hitless ball. He gave up his three walks in that period, one was erased on a double play, and hit a batter.

Midland meets Monaca tonight at Monaca.

Lawyers Top Salem, 8-2, In Colt Loop

The Lawyers exploded for five runs in the third inning and went on to defeat Salem, 8-2, Sunday in a Colt League contest at Salem.

The Lawyers collected 11 hits with Tipton have a 3-for-4 day at the plate while Sheppard had two hits and drove in two runs. Tipton and Sheppard shared the pitching duties for the Lawyers with Tipton allowing no hits for three innings but had to be pulled because of the pitching rule.

After scoring five runs in the third, the Lawyers posted three more in the seventh.

Clendenon Goes To Mets Before Trade Deadline

By The Associated Press

Baseball trades were light during the final 48 hours before the trading deadline in the major leagues. The deadline was Sunday night, local time, and only three top-flight deals and a sprinkling of trades of lesser importance marked the weekend.

The New York Yankees parted with shortstop Tom Tresh in a Saturday trade, sending him to the Detroit Tigers in exchange for rookie out-fielder Ron Woods.

St. Louis sent pitcher Dennis Ribant to Cincinnati's farm club at Indianapolis for pitcher Aurelio Monteagudo, who was assigned to the Cardinals' farm team at Tulsa.

The other deals saw Atlanta trade catcher Walt Briniak and two minor leaguers to San Diego for outfielder Tony Gonzalez, and the Chicago White Sox traded pitcher Sammy Ellis to the Cleveland Indians for pitcher Jack Hamilton.

The four minor leaguers traded by the Mets to Montreal for Clendenon included Kevin Collins, an outfielder, and the only one with major league experience; right-handed pitchers Steve Renko, Jay Carden and Dave Colon.

The Mets optioned outfielder Amos Otis to Tidewater to make room on the roster for Clendenon. Clendenon is 33 and will be platoooned with Ed Kranepool at first base.

Azcue, 29, left the Boston team last week because he was not playing regularly. Boston officials said he had asked to be traded and told them he would not play for the Red Sox again. He was hitting .240.

Two Ohioans Place In Kentucky Meet

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Two Ohioans placed Saturday in events of the United States Track and Field Federation championships here.

Sid Sink of Bowling Green was second in the 3-mile run with a time of 13:47.7, just .2 second behind winner Dave Ellis of Eastern Michigan. Malan Tiff from Miami of Ohio was second in the triple jump at 50-0, behind Perti Pousi of Brigham Young with 51-9.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Reggie Jackson, Athletics, doubled, tripled, hit his 23rd home run and drove in four runs—after knocking in 10 Saturday—as Oakland trampled the Boston Red Sox 13-5.

PITCHING—Earl Wilson, Tigers, hurled a two-hitter, walking one and striking out seven in pitching Detroit to a 7-0 victory over Kansas City.

Drysdale Wins In Comeback

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

How do you stop the Chicago Cubs? Simple, just (1) come up with some last inning heroics, and (2) take an early evening plane ride.

It worked for the Cincinnati Reds Sunday—although the latter solution may be only temporary.

The Reds used a one-out ninth inning single by Bobby Tolan to clip the National League's East Division leaders 7-6 in the opener of a doubleheader.

Then, after the Cubs grabbed a 5-4 lead after seven innings of the nightcap, the game was suspended so the Reds could catch a plane for San Francisco, where they are scheduled to play this afternoon.

That little bit of maneuvering will prevent the Cubs from chalking up that nightcap victory—or defeat—for at least 2½ months.

The game will be resumed from the point of interruption—but not until early September, when the Cubs make their next trip to Cincinnati.

In other National League activity, Don Drysdale made a successful pitching comeback as Los Angeles nipped the New York Mets 3-2; San Francisco swept a doubleheader from Montreal 7-4 and 6-1.

Philadelphia checked San Diego 5-4 on fill-in Terry Harmon's 10th inning single; St. Louis defeated Houston 5-3, and Atlanta slipped past Pittsburgh 6-4.

That second game bit of indecision was disappointing for the Cubs in more ways than one—Don Kessinger had his newly-established major league record of errorless ball by shortstops snapped at 54.

He set the record in the opener, but booted a grounder in the seventh inning of the second game.

The old mark of 53 was set in 1951 by Chico Carrasquel of the Chicago White Sox, while Buddy Kerr of the New York Giants set the previous National League mark of 52 in 1946.

The Reds, who blew an early 3-0 lead, came back for a 5-4 advantage in the sixth on Tony Perez' two-run homer, his 12th. But Ron Santo's 12th homer keyed a two-run Cub rally in the seventh, before Cincinnati tied it in the bottom of the inning on Alex Johnson's RBI single.

Newly acquired Paul Popovice staked Chicago to a 2-0 lead in the third inning of the nightcap with is first homer of the year, and helped build the lead to 5-1 with an RBI single in the sixth.

The Reds cut the gap to 5-4 with three in the seventh, including two on Tolan's homer.

Drysdale, taking his first turn on the mound since April 22 when he was sidelined with a sore shoulder, checked the Mets on seven hits for 5 2-3 innings before yielding to Jim Brewer, who gave up only one hit the rest of the way.

The Big D, picking up his first victory since opening day, struck out three and didn't walk a man. He said after the stint that he expects to take his next turn on the mound in Cincinnati Friday night.

Andy Kosko's 11th homer in the second gave Drysdale an early lead, and the Dodgers added two more in the fourth on Ted Sizemore's sacrifice fly and when Manny Mota scored from third on Met rookie Jack DiLauro's wild pitch.

Drysdale's only serious trouble came in the third when New York mixed singles by Bud Harrelson, Tommie Agee and Cleon Jones with Wayne Garrett's sacrifice for two runs.

A three-run homer by Ken Henderson gave San Francisco victory in the opener, and blasts by Bobby Bonds and Dick Dietz helped complete the sweep as the Giants moved into a second - place tie with Los Angeles in the West Division, one game behind Atlanta.

Willie McCovey boosted his lead with a two-run shot in the first inning of the opener, but Bobby Wine knocked in three runs with a pair of singles and Rusty Staub had a solo homer as Montreal took a 4-3 lead going into the final innning.

However, singles by Ron Hunt, Willie Mays and Jim Davenport tied it for the Giants in the ninth, setting the stage for Henderson's third homer of the season.

Coco Laboy homered for Montreal in the nightcap.

Bob Didier capped a two-run second with an RBI single, then touched off a three-run fourth with another run-producing single as Atlanta stopped Pittsburgh.

Cal Poly Wins NCAA Crown

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — It will be hard for about 95 college track teams to forget a school with a name that's easy to forget — California Poly at San Luis Obispo.

It was ungainly-sounding Cal Poly which gracefully romped to its second straight NCAA college division track and field championship at Ashland College Saturday.

The Mustangs rolled up 76 points with victories in three events and scored in seven others. The nearest competitors was Occidental with 43 points. C. W. Post followed with 28 points; then Morgan State, Portland State and Howard with 24 each and Humboldt State with 21.

Rain and winds hampered the two-day meet but Cal Polly will managed to improve on its 1968 winning total of 63 points. The Dick Purcell - coached team registered its victories in the 100-yard dash and the 440 and 800 - yard relays. Ruben Smith was the winner of the century with a 9.9 clocking.

Records were set in two events. Gary Tuttle of Humboldt defended his title in the steeplechase with an 8:54.9 performance, bettering the 9:10.4 mark he set last year.

A Junior Editors Quiz About TREES

QUESTION: Why do trees need wood?

* * *

ANSWER: Wood is not only found in trees. Many shrubs have woody branches. But a tree has a different growth from a shrub. Instead of many stems growing from the ground, a tree usually has one erect stem or trunk, 10 feet high or more. Why do trees insist on lifting their heavy load of foliage and branches so high into the air? They are holding their leaves above the other plants, so these leaves can get sunlight to help them in the vital process of manufacturing plant food. Here is where the value of the wood comes in. Wood is a strong fibrous substance. The inner heartwood of the tree (left) is used as a powerful structure to hold the weight of the tree up in the air. The heartwood does not carry the sap — this is the job of the outer sapwood. Wood in the branches holds them strongly as they fan out from the tree trunk. It stiffens the twigs so they can hold their leaves far out. Imagine what would happen if all the wood suddenly turned as soft as maple syrup! The whole thing would collapse.

(Linda D'Aprile of Forestville, Conn., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I protect my dresses or blouses from pin holes when I am wearing heavy brooches or clips?

A.—Slip a small piece of felt inside the fabric and run the pin through this added thickness. It will keep the weight of the pin from tearing your garment.

Q.—How can I treat mustard stains on fabrics?

A.—With warm water and soap. Then make a paste of linseed oil and powdered pumice, rub this into the surface, and finally rewax or repolish the table. Another effective treatment is rubbing with camphorated oil.

A Junior Editors Quiz About TREES

* * *

ANSWER: Wood is not only found in trees. Many shrubs have woody branches. But a tree has a different growth from a shrub. Instead of many stems growing from the ground, a tree usually has one erect stem or trunk, 10 feet high or more. Why do trees insist on lifting their heavy load of foliage and branches so high into the air? They are holding their leaves above the other plants, so these leaves can get sunlight to help them in the vital process of manufacturing plant food. Here is where the value of the wood comes in. Wood is a strong fibrous substance. The inner heartwood of the tree (left) is used as a powerful structure to hold the weight of the tree up in the air. The heartwood does not carry the sap — this is the job of the outer sapwood. Wood in the branches holds them strongly as they fan out from the tree trunk. It stiffens the twigs so they can hold their leaves far out. Imagine what would happen if all the wood suddenly turned as soft as maple syrup! The whole thing would collapse.

(Linda D'Aprile of Forestville, Conn., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I protect my dresses or blouses from pin holes when I am wearing heavy brooches or clips?

A.—Slip a small piece of felt inside the fabric and run the pin through this added thickness. It will keep the weight of the pin from tearing your garment.

Q.—How can I treat mustard stains on fabrics?

A.—With warm water and soap. Then make a paste of linseed oil and powdered pumice, rub this into the surface, and finally rewax or repolish the table. Another effective treatment is rubbing with camphorated oil.
